OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, SUNDAY, MARCH 28, 1920

YOU know, my dear, I may seem worldly, but really, you know, at rock bottom I'm most awfully religious. Oh, this service this morning was simply too beautiful! I felt it quite keenly.

By the way, the Pattersons were there, and the Dickie Weatherbys, the Bradburys and the Pendletons, and oh, yes, the two Merton girls with the much-talked-about Thekla Willing; she's staying with them, you know.

I was wondering—in fact, I'm still wondering—who dressed that girl. My dear, she was simply superb this morning. Her costume positively intrigued me from the back. Come to think of it, I owe the Merton folk a call. Perhaps I'll learn something about Thekla Willing's dressmaker. You might call, too, my dear, and between us—

Too bad I didn't quite "get" the front of her costume. I lingered purposely, too, but the Dowager walked down directly ahead of her, simply eclipsing everything. I'm afraid I wasn't as graceful as I would have been otherwise when she bowed. Oh, isn't she the obtrusive personality?

But there's one thing that I definitely promised myself this morning, and that is to attend service regularly. Truly, it's amazing what an effect it had on me. I just adore going apart and thinking of higher and better things, anyway.

Moods of the Mode

"That's not like Miss Diana, sir," ventured Grace, hesitantly. "She never forgets anything."

"Another cup of tea, Margaret, and look sharp!" interposed Mr. May.

"Mrs. May sighed, and poured hot water into the tea-pot. Then she addressed Grace in a low tone.

"Ask the kitchen-maid just what Miss Diana said."

Grace retired, and returned again quickly.

"Miss Diana came down at about six this morning," she said. "And leaving the kitchen-maid was the only one of us up. She was cleaning the doorsteps, and moved her wall for Miss Diana to pass. Miss Diana had on her navy blue serge and black straw sailor hat, and she carried what Jenny thought were her bathing things hanging over her arm. She was very bright and said: 'Good-morning, Jenny. I'm going for a dip in the sea before the sun gets too hot. And so she went.'"

"And so she went—Amen!" said Mr. May, biting a hard bit of toast noisily. "And so she went—Amen!"

on the rocks, just as she always puts down out of the way when she is going to bathe," said Grace. "And her shoes and stockings. But Miss Diana's gown!"

"Oh, dear, oh dear!" moaned Mrs. May. "What a dreadful, dreadful thing you are saying! What are we in for? Oh, I feel so ill! My sweet Diana, my only, only, precious child! Oh, James, James!"

And with her face suddenly working up into all sorts of lines and creases as though it were an individual muck pulled from behind, she began to weep slowly and tricklingly, like a cat with a soap-suds on its head.

"What a queer thing!" she said. "You never see Mr. May with all this sniveling!—and I won't be un-nerved! I'm going myself to the coast to-morrow!"

required, to wait upon James Polydore with all that deferential docility which chooses to call a command for a suitable salary. That would be one way of "getting over" it quite pleasantly—but in reply to his wife's melancholy admiration, he judged it wiser to be silent.

She went on, dreamily: "Fortunately I have one black dress, it belonged to my poor sister's."

But as she married again and went to Australia within the year, it's really as good as new, and she sold it to me for a pound. And Grace can alter my mother's black dress into a pink flower—I must get a black poppy instead, and black gloves—Oh, James!—and you were white-throats this morning!—I'm glad you're so ready to change."

Mr. May had certainly changed!—partly out of conviction that such change was necessary, and partly because the butterfly had had most urgently suggested it. And he was now attired in his "regulation" Sunday suit, which gave him a proper appearance of a respectable man in his own house. All day he had practiced an air of pious resignation and reserved sadness—it was difficult to keep it up because his nature was bubbling and boiling, especially when things happened that were opposed to his personal convenience and comfort. His efforts to look what he was not gave him the aspect of a Methodist minister disappointed in the silver collection.

But perhaps on the whole, his wife was a greater blessing than he was. She was one of those curious "housewife" characters who imagine themselves to be "full of feeling" when they have no feeling at all. Nobody could "gush" with more lamentable pathos than she over a calamity occurring to any of her friends or acquaintances, but to trouble had ever witnessed her appetite, or deprived her of sleep, but one said in the house that she was conventionally correct—to seem religious, when she was not, to seem sorry, when she was not, to seem glad, when she was not, to seem weeping, when she was not, to seem affectionate, when she was not. Her only passions were avarice, turtling and gluttony—these were the fundamental chords of her nature. Nobody gave thought to the strange mask of her flesh which presented itself as a woman to the world. There are thousands like her, who, unfortunately, represent a section of the matronhood of Britain.

The news of Diana's sudden and sad and soon spread among the old and new friends and neighbors of the Polydore May, drawing language and comment here and there such as: "Poor woman! But, after all, there wasn't much for her in life—she was quite the old maid. Or—as at Mr. May's club—'that thing' she could have happened for old Polydore!—he can't trot her round any more, and he'll be able to play the man-about-town more successfully."

Nobody gave thought to the quiet virtues of the industrious, unaffected daughter who had devoted herself to the duty of caring for and attending upon her father's selfish passions and certain money."

Remembered that her spinsterhood was the result of a too lofty and faithful conception of love, or that her nature was in very truth an exceptionally sweet and gracious one, and her intelligence of a much higher order than is granted to the average female. In that particular section of human beings among whom she had lived and moved, her career was considered useless because she had failed to secure a mate and settle down to bear the burden and brunt of his passions and his will. And so as she had never displayed any striking talent, or thrust herself forward in any capacity, or shown any marked characteristics, and as the world is over full of women who are merely one of the superfluous, who, not being missed, was soon forgotten.

Chapter V

On that same eminently tragic afternoon when Mr. Polydore May found it necessary to put on his white flannel as soon after putting them on, and his wife had to think seriously of a crane poppy for his bonnet, two ladies sat in the charmingly arranged drawing-room, particularly charming flat in Mayfair enjoying their afternoon tea. One was a graceful little woman arrayed in a captivating tea-gown; the other, a stout, middle-aged woman, creature with a pale face and bright hair tucked closely away under a not very becoming felt hat garbed in a severely plain coat of dark navy blue, with a buttoned-up collar and a small jewel box that always stood on the dressing table, and recognized everything in it, even to the article which Diana uttered as she went to her room. Diana, apparently, there was nothing missing. For one moment a fadden thought had entered her mind, but she was quickly reassured by the absurdity of such an idea.

"How stupid of me!" she said. "She had no cause to fret away."

She looked round once again, sadly and hopelessly—then went on and closed the door softly behind her. She felt there was a something mysterious and suggestive in that empty room.

Towards dinner time Mrs. May struggled out of bed and sat up in an uncomfortable, scowled in a volubly nervous dressing-room.

"What a nuisance!" she said. "I'm so tired, I can't get up."

Cinema to Supplant Textbooks

That the cinema soon will cast the printed text into the scrap heap is but one of the startling declarations of Dr. Gilbert Ellis Bailey, professor of geology at the University of Southern California, whose pronouncements have stirred educators throughout the country.

At Los Angeles a few days ago Dr. Bailey added to his earlier predictions of revolution in educational methods.

"Almost every school from the country school to the university is complaining of lack of class room," said Dr. Bailey. "America has boasted that 'Education is America's chief industry,' yet every school in the country is turning away pupils because they have no room to accommodate them. This condition is called a great problem, but I call it why not call it a great opportunity."

"The solution of this is to build great lecture halls, or cinema class rooms equipped with up-to-date projection machines and capable of seating from five hundred to three thousand students. Present day class rooms accommodate from fifty to one hundred. Why not educate the many instead of the few? Why not make education safe for democracy?"

ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY.
"These cinema class rooms would mean a larger attendance and education. There is danger in giving instruction only to the few who have the money. That is one thing that is the matter with Mexico today. Cinema class rooms would mean many things. They would mean economy in the number of buildings constructed and economy in space used on the campus. They would mean that funds would go farther. They would mean better paid professors and a complete revolution in methods of education."

"The National Education society declares that 100,000 high grade teachers are wanted at once to meet present demands. Laying aside the printed text books, which is as many years behind the times, and resorting to the motion picture, which can be so quickly and so cheaply amended that it would allow the use of the school room to put the eternal kibosh on snug complacencies and incompetence, and educational institutions using it actually make money."

SPEED IN EDUCATION.
"The film that would make for greater saving of time to the student, would enable him to graduate from the universities from three to five years earlier, and would add that many years to the economic value of his life. Cinema lecture rooms would make history, geology, botany, chemistry, physics, and other subjects of the curriculum, live and breathe."

"There is no question that the appeal to the eye gets quicker and better results than the student of the film text books, which is as many years behind the times, and resorting to the motion picture, which can be so quickly and so cheaply amended that it would allow the use of the school room to put the eternal kibosh on snug complacencies and incompetence, and educational institutions using it actually make money."

"There would be a charge of admission to the class rooms, say from five to fifteen cents to entered class members, according to the location of the university, with the exception of visitors. Details of this kind could be easily worked out."

DIRECTORS AS TEACHERS.
"The head professors in the cinema universities will be the motion picture directors, and their studios will be the laboratories of the universities, the broad open country and, when large sets are required, the motion picture studios."

"A distribution system may be easily worked out by which the various universities may exchange films and this would secure uniformity, economy and no duplicates. If this idea is backed up by universities, co-located with as much enthusiasm as was accorded the first suggestion of the Historical Film Corporation of America, which will build in Los Angeles a great studio laboratory which will be a factory for the production of educational films to be used in the schools, which films will be made under supervision of the best professors in the country. Such films would be permanent for years, and have a steady, constant interest in producing films that will last only a few months. The films could keep up with new discoveries by 'cutting out and adding.'"

"Cinema halls would furnish a market for the present studios, which would rush to enter it. The only ones who will smile at this are the members of the 'university' like the man who smiled at Edison and Bell and Wright, and like the man who prophesied a few years ago that the film could lick the world."

Dr. Bailey is busy five days of the week at the university of Southern California but manages to put in two or three hours a day giving scientific advice to the Historical Film Corporation of America, whose task just now is filming the Bible.

Why They Are What They Are
Can you imagine Theda Bara stopping a ripe custard pie with one of her 'million-dollar eyes'?

Elsie Ferguson a snappy looking girl?

Frank Keenan smushing dishes across Pauline Frederick's head?

Robert Warwick being forcibly escorted to a fight, snatching a stein cannon from the hands of a gang and deposited in an incoming garbage wagon?

ON THE FENCE.
"Moving picture producers are going to stay on the fence in the liquor-prohibition fight," is the announcement made by R. H. Cochran, vice-president of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, and one of the leading figures in the film world. "Moving picture men are determined that their products will not be used as vehicles for propaganda, either for or against prohibition."

COWBOY BREAKS LEG.
Art Acord, Universal cowboy star, who recently suffered a broken leg when his horse fell in a footing on a steep canon path, is now sitting in a University City crutches. In three weeks, according to his physicians, Art will be able to resume the filming of the picture on which he was engaged when the accident occurred.

She's Harold Lloyd's Leading Lady

Alice Joyce Was Once 'Hello Girl'

Motion picture stars come from all walks of life. Alice Joyce, one of the most popular players of the screen, earned her first dollar as an operator in the Gramercy Telephone Exchange in New York City. Her first week's wages was a check for six dollars. She still has one of these first dollars, to remind her of that happy episode in her life.

Miss Joyce was born in Kansas City, Mo., October 1, 1890. She was educated at Annandale, Va., and then removed to New York where she secured her first position. After leaving the employment of the telephone company Miss Joyce posed as a model for a number of artists famous today. She also wrote several sketches used in vaudeville.

One of her scenarios, "In Double Harness," was produced by Tom Moore, whom, by the way, she married at Jacksonville, Fla., on May 11, 1914, and later divorced.

After her success as an actress, Miss Joyce is a business woman of some ability. Her real estate holdings, including the Hotel Joyce in New York, are valued at several hundred thousand.

Miss Joyce has been a screen favorite from the time that the names of players commenced to appear on the screen. She began her career with the Kalem company. Camera man F. E. Taylor discovered her ability and was instrumental in bringing it to the attention of the Kalem company. He was sure that the screen would be a great success. Alice Joyce was given a small part in a railroad story. Her rise was rapid and she has appeared in many special productions earning a way home with each venture.

She became identified with Vitagraph May 15, 1916, after a year of trial. Since that time she has come into her own both as an emotional actress and as a comedienne. Miss Joyce was only recently married to a New York hotel man.

Douglas Fairbanks' new leading lady for his picture, "The Markings," will be Ruth Baranoff, who has made most of her reputation on the stage as an ingenue. Work on the production has begun.

Charles Ray is starting his experience in equipping his new studio in Los Angeles with down-to-the-minute appliances. He has just installed a photographic system for taking "still" pictures of people in motion. The system is an independent production that is described as marvelous for completeness.

Moore's picture in San Francisco afforded C. R. Sanchison, the British film producer, a series of colorful scenes for "Her Story," a forthcoming production in which Madeleine Richmonds, C. M. Hallard, and Campbell Gullan are to be featured. Bandy-legged old fishermen with complexions like a red herring, fat old fish-wives in Dutch caps, and the non-descript assortment of sea-faring folk who frequent the cosmopolitan San Francisco waterfront, walked naturally through the scenes, unaware that a camera, concealed in a moving van, recorded their actions.

The Golden Gate at San Francisco recently was turned into the English Channel for the purpose of making a picture work by Sidney O'Beck. Campbell Gullan are to be featured. "Illiterate Digest"

By WILL ROGERS

Have't read the papers this morning, but suppose two or more of our readers have landed in Mexico.

We have one consolation—it can't last much longer. The Government only has four more planes.

See where Padecrew got sore at the Allen took a hatch and smashed his piano. I heard him play once, and he did the same thing, only he didn't use a hatch.

If only prove a man can handle a twenty-man team, but he can't handle a woman.

Headline in the paper says "5 acres held up." Didn't state whether it was hands of a garage.

Value of the English pound dropping 30 per cent caused our newspapers twice the worry that the American dollar dropping 10 per cent has.

Disturbing the peace and small crimes have diminished 50 per cent since prohibition. Murders have increased 50 per cent.

Mildred Davis Featured in the Latest Productions of Noted Comedian.

Harold Lloyd at last has trotted out his new leading lady, the successor to Bebe Daniels. She is little Mildred Davis, a few months ago but a tyro in pictures but now the envy of hundreds of her less fortunate sisters. For some time she supported Lloyd in Kolin comedies and when the two-reel $100,000 production was decided on Miss Davis was picked for the role. She is a Philadelphia girl just now she is engaged in strenuous comedy portraiture at the Los Angeles studios.

Miss Davis is the only bachelor member of his famous family. However, if Matt hasn't joined Owen, Tom and Joe in the Benevolent Order of Benedict before the end of the year, he will have no one to blame but himself. Leap year is not very old but to date he has received less than ten proposals of marriage from his many admirers throughout the country.

Roy Stewart is able to be out for the first "shooting" of the Zane Grey story, "The Lone Ranger," at the studio after having "licked" the "film" following an illness of more than a week.

Paley De Forest, a musical comedy favorite, has returned to the screen after an absence of two years spent on the spoken stage. She will be leading lady for Montagu, who is in their Vitaphone comedies appearing in their next comedy as a Spanish senorita.

Another spectacular picture may be expected from the hand of Frank Lloyd, whose filming of "The Tale of Two Cities" and "Les Miserables" have made him a name. Lloyd is now seen again, having purchased "Madame X," the most brilliant of all the plays of Alexander Dumas. The Goldenwyn company has turned it over to Lloyd with instructions to beat his own record. Pauline Frederick will play the title role.

Sid Franklin has started the filming of "Albion," one of the most novel of the Robert W. Chambers novels. The picture was adapted by a considerable troupe with his adaptation and was finally compelled to run the sexiest part of the story through a septic tank to make it filmable. The chief roles are being played by Conrad Nagel and Sylvia Breamer.

Alice Lake has finished the filming of her first production as a full-fledged star. It was "Shore Acres," adapted from James A. Herne's famous novel and the picture was adapted by the second starring actress. Alice Lake is the daughter of the author of her first one, while the adapter of the second story was her husband, the "Outsider," by Julie Herne. Her father was James A. Herne of "Shore Acres" fame. Louis Zellner of the Aladdin studio is writing the script for "The Outsider." Arthur Zellner scenarized "Shore Acres."

Nazimova completed her latest picture, "The Heart of a Child," in forty working days. The actress was ill three days after working all night long in extremely cold weather. The picture was adapted from a Frank Danby story. Charles Bryant was her leading man. It is a Metro.

Supporting Douglas MacLean and Doris May in "Lucid Intervals," the Decker MacLean story which this week went into production. Thomas H. Ince Studios in Culver City, California, is a case of musical excellence. Prominent among many screen favorites were Frank Currier, Wallace Beery, Aggie Herring, and Mollie McConnell.

Maxwell Karger will be anchored in New York for at least nine months making pictures, the first of which will be "Polly With a Past." Ida Claire played the stage role.

"Yes or No," the popular Broadway success, will be Norma Talmaidge's third First National picture. The picture was adapted by the author of "The Woman in Green," by Owen Johnson, while Constance Talmaidge's latest picture is "In Search of a Father," by Charlotte Thompson. For the first time Hadcliffe fellows will be seen as Constance's leading man.

Charles Ray's second independent production, "The Lone Ranger," is being made at the Goldenwyn studios. The picture was adapted by the author of "The Lone Ranger," by George M. Cohan's famous stage success.

Mabel Normand has completed "The Slim Princess." It has been a trying part for in some scenes Miss Normand wore a rubber suit inflated with air, three hundred cubic inches of air. One day she fainted because of the pressure.

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation announced its acquisition of the screen rights of "The Truth," by Clyde Bruckner. This corporation has also purchased one of the most famous and successful work, will be "Forty Stripes," by "Benny" Hollis the Stripes.

It is reported that Ben Hur is at last to reach the screen. Kluge & Bruckner, the owners, have been holding out for the sum of $500,000 for the film privileges. Now it is I try to make it so. Yes, Ben Hur is a real girl.

Every time the camera stopped "shooting," she would present me with one of her heart-warming smiles, as if to say, "If it isn't me, it's you." Yes, Ben Hur is a real girl.

Cinema Close-ups

Adele Rowland, star of legitimate and vaudeville, is now a permanent member of the film colony at Hollywood and a constant visitor at the Clara Lee studio. Her husband, her husband being Conway Tearle, who is being starred there by Harry Garson in Equity productions and is under a long term contract with Clara Lee. Adele is endeavoring to prevail upon the attractive actress to appear with her husband in his next play.

Mary Miller, Miss Lloyd's happy time in the new home she has rented in Los Angeles, California. It is the famous Matthews house and was formerly Mary Pickford's. With its spacious grounds, garage, tennis court, swimming pool and stables, it is by far the loveliest place for miles around.

Bull Montana, former star of the pugilistic world, and the most sought after player for roles of the cowboy type in motion pictures, has been engaged for a part in a coming Universal production.

Peggy Hyland was born in Harborne, England. She began her dramatic work in "Infelice," a G. B. Samuelson production. After several successful seasons on the speaking stage and phenomenal success as a screen star, she has returned to the Samuelson organization at Universal City.

Probably, no leading woman on the screen has so many ardent admirers as the delightful Vivian Rich, who plays opposite Buck Jones in his first Fox feature, "The Last Straw." Miss Rich is decidedly popular, for her work has been exceptionally good in all of the screen productions in which she has appeared.

Mat Moore is the only bachelor member of his famous family. REAL THEME IS NEED OF PLAY; VILLAIN'S FALL FROM CLIFF NO LONGER EXCITES THE AUDIENCE

CHAPTER V.

"The Theme."

By JOHN EMERSON and ANITA LOOS.

Today the play which is built on a theme or idea is the most sought after of all motion picture material. The daily newspapers are a mine for such ideas. There are innumerable other sources.

So always try to hit a theme to your story. It has.

But do not make the theme too pronounced or your story will be a mere piece of propaganda.

If you treat your theme lightly, your story will surely sell. In the old days all that was required of a motion picture was action—physical action such as the clash of railroad trains or the fall of a villain from a cliff.

But today it takes something far more subtle to make a photoplay successful.

To the writers of scenarios, we would say: Wherever possible build your story about a theme and make your climax the outcome of some great universal truth. The older truths, of course, are pretty well worn, but every day of our civilization finds a new truth born, that the searching and thinking mind may discover if it will take the time and patience to hunt it down.

What is a theme? It sounds suspiciously like the old high school English class. "And where can we find one?"

THE ENGINE IN THE CAR.
"Themes" is the second great technical term which the playwrights must understand. It is the chief trick of the trade. A theme is a great universal truth, such as "Honesty is the best policy," or "Don't tell Masonic secrets to a woman." It is not absolutely essential to a good story; but it makes the writing of a plot many times easier by effecting a definite objective. Never miss a chance to employ a theme. You can sell the hero theme itself to a scenario editor if it is sufficiently original. The scenario editor will be outlining the better with the editor, who will grasp his theme and its possibilities.

A splendid example of a theme well used occurred in "Skinner's Cat." The theme was that people take up their own religion, and if you put in a good bluff you are pretty sure to get by with it. With a theme as universal and timeless as this the story almost develops itself.

THE CENTRAL IDEA.
In "The Social Secretary," played by Norma Talmaidge, we tried to explode the theory that the girl who comes to New York to make her name has to sell herself in order to succeed.

In "A Temperamental Wife," our recent production for Constance Talmaidge, the theme illustrates the unreasoning nature of some women who have toward the women with whom their husbands must come in contact if they are to carry on ordinary business.

Almost any unusual experience in every day life has the germ of a theme—"more speed, less haste." It pays to advertise, "if you must fight, don't choose a prize fighter's wife." are illustrated at home and in the office almost daily.

In addition, books of fables, philosophical works, epigrammatical essays, or oratorical treatises are full of brand new themes.

SATIRE A CERTAIN SUCCESS.
Do not make the theme too pronounced or your story will become a mere piece of propaganda. There is no demand for purely propaganda pictures which purport to show the virtues of drink, or the virtues of socialism.

And do not think that a plot with a theme need necessarily be a deadly-in-fact story or tragedy. You may treat the theme satirically, with a sense of humor, your story will surely sell. We are convinced that satirical stories are more in demand than any other type, provided, of course, the story is human and interesting.

For example in "In Again—Out Again," we used a humorous theme to the effect that it is easy enough to get into trouble when you don't want to, but when you do want to, it is an altogether different matter. Another satirical theme which we used successfully was "Wild and Woolly," which was based on the idea in the text that the west is still a barbarous wilderness of cowboys and dance halls.

MAKE THEMES BROAD.
Last of all, make your theme of wide universal interest—a truth which everyone has experienced and consequently can appreciate when weaving it into story form. Our first story for Douglas Fairbanks, "His Picture at the Palace," was founded on the great American love of publicity. We knew that almost every one is thrilled at the prospect of seeing his or her name in print, while themes connected with aviation or foreign trade or a painter's career would appeal to comparatively few people.

Found your story on an original truth of such universal interest that when your climax comes, everybody will be shouting from the rooftops: "Yes, that's just the way it would have come out in real life, if I had the same experience myself."

The importance of "Star Synopses" in the preparation of photoplays is emphasized by John Emerson and Anita Loos in the next installment of the series to appear next Sunday. If a story should be planned so that the star will be in seventy-five per cent of the scenes is explained. They also tell the sort of motives a star character should have.

BOYS' DEN!

Stanley Donaldson's Search Light

Gracious — one needs ears like little Daniel Donkey or John Henry Jack Rabbit to be able to hear a word in the Pirates' Cave today. You see they're all talking about that last Boy Party and turning up some saucy all over the furniture. It surely was SOME PARTY, wasn't it? Well, we're having more fun with each other every day and if you don't believe it just read some of these letters.

THE ELECTRIC SPARK MYSTERY

Brother Pierius—

Here goes with a pirate caveat! Throw on some more wood and let's have another spark. I'm sure you'll see it. We need an EMBLEM AND A COUNTERSIGN. How's this for a motto—"Grins, pirate stories, and more grins." Counter-sign—L. M. A. GINGER. I'll be the grinning skull with two crossbones which was on our page the other Sunday would make a dandy emblem. EASY LUNGEY! can get busy and draw the emblem. Be sure and get the skull good and griny, Carl.

Here's some "juice" for our electricity. If the "spark" calls. Try these experiments—they have been used and proven. Bring a flame near the spark and it will draw the spark out of its course. Blacken the electrodes with the flame and put them very close together. The spark will be white and the soot will glow with a white light at the place where the spark is from it.

DONALD MCNEEL—AHOY! I want to write to you and ask you something. Will you send your address to B. G. 1830 Tenth Ave., Oakland.

Brother Pierius—

Here goes with a pirate caveat! Throw on some more wood and let's have another spark. I'm sure you'll see it. We need an EMBLEM AND A COUNTERSIGN. How's this for a motto—"Grins, pirate stories, and more grins." Counter-sign—L. M. A. GINGER. I'll be the grinning skull with two crossbones which was on our page the other Sunday would make a dandy emblem. EASY LUNGEY! can get busy and draw the emblem. Be sure and get the skull good and griny, Carl.

Here's some "juice" for our electricity. If the "spark" calls. Try these experiments—they have been used and proven. Bring a flame near the spark and it will draw the spark out of its course. Blacken the electrodes with the flame and put them very close together. The spark will be white and the soot will glow with a white light at the place where the spark is from it.

DONALD MCNEEL—AHOY! I want to write to you and ask you something. Will you send your address to B. G. 1830 Tenth Ave., Oakland.

Brother Pierius—

elers away from their camps. So Tom, Ned, Eradicate and three other men decided to solve the mystery. They hid behind a large stone and waited for the ghost to appear.

Promptly at twelve he came! There was a fierce struggle for a few minutes but Tom and his friends finally captured him. The ghost dropped from him and there stood a man! He told them that he was hired to play ghost by some men who called themselves "The Diamond Makers." They had a cave in the mountains where they hid big electrical machines which really made diamonds. He took them to the mountain and they saw a large cave, it had openings on each side of the mountain. Their guide warned them that if the Diamond Makers caught them they would tie them up and throw them into a small cave that was used for that purpose and that would be the end of them. To save them he hid them in a little cave that none of them knew about. He then let them and came back after awhile with food and water.

At that moment the Diamond Makers began making diamonds. Thinking that they would not be heard above the whirring of the machinery, the boys began to talk loudly. The Diamond Makers heard them and they saw that the boys were up there and they tied them up and threw them into the cave.

They were just beginning to lose all hope of being freed when one of their guides came to them and cut their ropes. He said that there was a fierce storm raging which had destroyed the diamond-making machinery. One of the Diamond Makers had predicted that the whole mountain would slide upon them and this so frightened them that they had all fled.

They got a double pocketfull of diamonds and they divided them up—each one taking thirty-five. Then they went home. Tom took his diamonds to the jeweler who said that these came from the best that could be had. They had them cut and polished and became wealthy.

THE SNOW PLANT

The Snow Plant.

The Snow Plant (Sarcodes Sanguinea) is almost wholly confined to the high altitudes of the Sierra Nevada mountains in California. It is sometimes found in the mountains of southern Oregon and a portion of Nevada; and has been discovered as far south as the San Jacinto Mountains in Southern California. It grows in an altitude of from four thousand to nine thousand feet. This weirdly beautiful and interesting plant has gained world renown, and tourists actually come from all over the world to seek for it growing in its native surroundings.

In the Yosemite Valley, where it was more frequently found, it was discovered that visitors (with that morbid curiosity characterizing people whose interest in flowers is but momentary) were yanking it up by the roots or breaking it to the better to examine it, and as the flower was being exterminated a heavy fine was imposed for gathering the snow plant. It is now considered a misdemeanor to pluck one in the Yosemite National Park. A fine of $25 or imprisonment may be imposed for such an offense.

So much has been written about this strange flower and so diverse are the opinions of botanists and writers regarding it that it has seemed best to quote from a few of our well-known California writers of authority. I have been greatly interested by their various statements.

JOHN MUIR'S TRIBUTE

John Muir, great naturalist, says: "The Snow Plant is more admired by tourists than any other in California. It is red, fleshy and watery, and looks like a gigantic asparagus shoot. Soon after the snow is off the ground it rises through the dead needles and humus in the pine and fir woods like a pillar of fire. In a week or so it grows to eight or twelve inches with a diameter of an inch and a half or two inches; then its long-fringed bracts curl aside, allowing the twenty or thirty bell-shaped flowers to open and look straight out from the axis. It is said to grow up through the snow; on the contrary, it always waits until the ground is warm, though with other early flowers it is occasionally buried or half buried for a day or two by spring storms. The entire plant—flowers, bracts, stems, scales, and roots—is a fiery red. Its color should appeal to one's blood. Nevertheless it is a singularly cold, unsympathetic plant. Everybody admires it as a wonderful curiosity, nobody loves it as lilies, violets, roses and daisies are loved. Without fragrance, it is sterile, cold, and as lonely and silent, as if unacquainted with any other plant in the world; never moving in the wildest storm, rigid as if lifeless, but covered with beautiful rosy flowers."

LIKE A WATERMELON

Edwin Markham, poet, says: "On higher levels of the mountains the Snow Plant pushes up like a sturdy mushroom through the carpet of snow. It is like a watermelon, with its brown skin and its green stripes, and its seeds are like the seeds of the earth and the deep green of the shadows this uncouth shape sucks its bright scarlet from the ground along the edges of the snow. It is like a watermelon, and its consistency is like some insistent rankee had whittled it out of the heart of a watermelon. Mary Elizabeth Carson writes: "I have seen it in the snow, the snow plant standing in the sun."

THE SNOW PLANT

black mold in a sheltered nook in the wood. A single ray of strong sunlight shone upon it, leaving the wood around it dark so that it stood out like a single figure in a tableau vivant. There was something so personal, so glowing, and so life-like about it that I almost fancied I could see the warm life blood coursing through it. * * *

Charles Francis Saunders, the well known naturalist of Southern California, says that it is a "parasitic" plant, with the mountains as its host. He says the plant is a parasite on the Sierra Nevada mountains and that he has frequently seen it planted in the soil of the mountains. He says it is a parasite on the mountains, and that he has frequently seen it planted in the soil of the mountains.

It seems a pity that this flower, which has puzzled scientists and interested travelers and writers during the last century, could not be better protected in California, its native habitat, and that the law enacted to protect it might not be extended throughout the state, thus making it a "quest" to visitors and thereby increasing its interest to them, inasmuch as we value its attractive presence within our borders. OF THE HEATH FAMILY The snow plant is a member of the famous Heath family, which claims many of our finest plants, including the azalea, rhododendron, huckleberry, manzanita and madrone. It was long thought to be a parasite, but is now considered akin to the fungi and most evidently it has made some strange compact with bacteria, growing for their mutual help, for its blood red tissues lack all trace of that green coloring matter supplied by the magician chlorophyll for transmuting or combining the elements necessary for the food of plants who earn their own living. Its very long root is not connected with that of any other plant. But whether they call it parasite, saprophyte, or aught else, matters but little to the average citizen, who is interested from quite a different viewpoint. Botanists will go on to the end of time sifting hairs over differentiations in plant life. A "snow plant" it will be called until the end of time. The people have so denied it.

I have never been so fortunate as to find the flower growing, but have had specimens sent to me for the collection to those who were privileged to see it I regretted always that it had been taken from its home in the wood, where it constituted a part of that mysterious charm supplied by beautiful growing things but rarely seen, and but little understood. A CALIFORNIA LEGEND A legend tells us that one of a band of brown robed friars first sent out by Spain to conquer the redmen of California, after marching weary miles over the Sierra Nevada mountains, saw suddenly a crimson glow through the snow. On nearer view, it proved to be this blood-red blossom. He gazed in silent awe, saying: "It is the flower of the Savior's precious blood, a sign that our labors will not be in vain." For here—

"For from Calvary's awful summit, Where His life was sacrificed, Shines the precious blood of Christ." One can not but wonder what is the real purpose—the true life history of this plant; something more than merely being beautiful to look upon. It is sure, although that, of itself, is quite an excuse for its being. Its only accredited economic value is that it furnished a toothache medicine for the Indian. After all, it was the aborigines who best understood nature's secrets, and with their common sense, it is more interesting than that which is written. Copyright, 1920, by Bertha M. Elin.

A Race For a Fortune

CHAPTER I. THE SECRET TABLE.

The late Mr. Horton's home and its furnishings were to be sold at auction to pay his debts.

One table had two secret drawers. There was supposed to be one drawer, but nobody had been able to discover it.

Two boys, Tom Fulton and Fred Summers, decided to find out all they could about that table, and possibly buy it.

They decided to "hang around" the house with eyes and ears open so that they might find out something about it.

Many people were moving about the house, the auction was to be held in a fortnight.

"Let's get some one to point out the table for us," suggested Fred, so the boys approached a man who was answering other people's questions, and asked him to show them the table with the secret drawers.

The man, whom people addressed as Mr. Gordon, looked them over with keen green-gray eyes and, assured that they were in earnest, led them to a plain table with a rough, weather-beaten surface.

"Can you show us the secret drawer?" ventured Tom.

"Certainly," said Tom, then he pressed this button, and the first one opens—empty as you see. To open the second drawer, press the button, without turning the knob."

This drawer was also empty. "We heard there was a third drawer," said Tom.

"Er—so I heard but I have not yet found it—I do not believe there is one," replied Mr. Gordon.

The boys thanked him and left. They wandered around the grounds until it was dark. On their way home they were startled by a sound of voices just ahead.

"If that knob was in that third drawer," said the first.

"If we knew how to open that drawer!" And the boys started as they recognized the voice as Mr. Gordon's.

The Red Cross

The Red Cross helps many needy families and is a very humane organization. Citizens show true patriotism when they back up every movement of the Red Cross.

People showed their appreciation of its work in the war by renewing their membership.

The Berkeley Chapter of Red Cross is going to install first aid kits on the most dangerous street corners in Berkeley in case of accident.

By breaking a glass door and unlocking a box, in the same way in which fire alarms are turned on, bandages, splints, disinfectant, and other material can be obtained.

This shows that the Red Cross is busy in times of peace as well as in times of war. The people will always be as willing to back it up.

High School a Paying Investment

Investment

It is absolutely necessary for every boy and girl to attend high school. Any boy or girl who expects to make a success in life must be a high school graduate.

If you still want to, or are able to, it is well to attend college.

Nowadays when a boy or girl applies for a position, about the first question asked is: "Are you a high school graduate?"

If you are a graduate you get the position in preference to the one who hasn't had an education.

There are five high schools in Oakland as follows: Fremont, Oakland, Technical, University and Vocational. All these high schools are more than crowded but they will try to accommodate all boys and girls who want a high school education.

The high schools are so complete in their courses of study that there isn't any kind of work or profession you cannot do yourself for. So it is up to all of us to get all we can out of high school, and have a good education.

Appreciation of Hawthorne

The S. B. class wishes to express its appreciation of Hawthorne school. We feel that what we have taught will help us in the future years. For this we must thank Mr. Spencer and the teachers.

No one can help but appreciate Hawthorne school because there is such a fine school spirit.

We, S. B.'s as well as all S. B.'s who have graduated from Hawthorne, will look back on the school days as real happy days.

Class Supports French Orphan

Orphan

The S. B. class has done many things in the years we have spent at Hawthorne, but the thing we are most proud of is the support of our French orphan, Marie Levis.

We adopted her two and a half years ago. Every Christmas and birthday we have sent her a package and a money order. A little while ago some of the girls in our class made a very pretty little comforter for her. It has been much pleasure to us to do this.

When the S. B. class comes upstairs we sincerely hope that they will continue the support of our orphan. We also hope that they will obtain much satisfaction from helping such a worthy cause.

As the years go by we hope that those who suffered most through the war will not be forgotten.

—STANLEY MASON, JR.

Our Ambition

All in the class of Hawthorne hope to do some good for the world. Our ambitions are high and varied. We all intend to go to high school and some intend to go to college to broaden their views and education.

There are ten in our class that are going to take a commercial course. Two boys are going to take engineering, including mechanical and civil. Two other boys intend to take mechanical drafting. One boy is going to take chemistry and another agriculture. One boy is going to study motion picture studio work. Some of the courses to be followed by girls are dressmaking and millinery, library, interior decorating, dramatics, music and literature.

—REGINALD STANDAL.

Our Music Director

Of stature small is Mr. Woods. In music he's on top with goods. He's full of pep and zip and zest. In singing we give him our very best.

Because we know he'll get what he wants. Be it by wit or be it by taunt.

The alto these loud voices raise: He tells them with astonishing praise:

Let's say they must go very soft. There's time enough to soar aloft; Sopranos are almost as bad. Bottoms if crooned cannot be had.

We soon get over our very bad spell. Then in praise his voice does swell.

III.

We all think Mr. Woods is fine; We find him good in every line. We see what often has been said. Large things may grow in a little head.

Now, readers, this will have to do—I've pictured Mr. Woods as you.

MILTON BRIDGE.

An Experience

Not very long ago my brother and I had retired and were just about to go to sleep when we felt something pull the covers. My brother told me to call father but I didn't dare make a noise, instead I got under the covers and held them securely.

My brother, braver than I, called "Father, father, come quick; there is a man under our bed." Father came up with gun in hand and mother followed with a broom. Father commanded in his deep voice, "Come out from under that bed!"

"What do you suppose happened?" "Oh, a burglar, or brother and I expected, but our big gray cat carrying a little mouse in its mouth."

What a Wild Duck Thinks

"Oh, dear me! I am thinking of a safe place to protect myself since this is duck season. My little swampy puddle is not safe any more. I think I have an idea where to fly. I will eat my dinner and fly to Lake Merritt. I was safe there last duck season. Now I will fill myself with worms and fly away."

"Oh, my! Oh, my! Is it duck season already?" It's lucky that bullet didn't go through me. I just wonder if I should go to Lake Merritt without being shot."

"Here I am safe and sound at Lake Merritt."

What Madge Faced When She Returned from Lillian's.

My relief at transferring the problem of the woman in the case to Lillian's capable hands was augmented by the knowledge, palpable to me inexperienced as I was, that my friend's undertaking of the work was a godsend to her.

She had brooded so long over the tangled web in which her life and those of Harry Underwood and Roy, and of Savaria were enmeshed that she sorely needed the stimulus of some outside and absorbing interest. This my father's problem gave her, because of her love and friendship for me.

I had no scruples about allowing her to expend her utmost effort in the matter, for I feared from the few words she had spoken concerning Robert Savaria, that she had been all her usual power and mental alertness in her judgment of him, and that if she were left to herself the consequences might be grave.

Since the artist's faltering words, I tried to bring you definite news of him, but when I reached the prison camp he had gone. I had been so far from him that I had no further doubt of his innocence of any attempt upon Harry Underwood's life. Lillian, however, I was sure, was still obsessed with the fear that there had been a tragic meeting between the two men.

It showed clearly in her emotion, her lined face, her haunted eyes, that she had been searching for my father's Nemesis would remove her far enough from her own affairs to enable her to see the situation with a sense to blow away the mental cobwebs which were unmistakably woven across her mentality.

The hope I had so dearly treasured by Lillian's parting words to me when I left her to return to Maria.

PARTING ADVICE.

"Now you're to stop worrying," she said, and I noted with joy that the old, capable ring was in her voice. The old light of interest in her eyes. I'll see to everything at this end, and will save your poor father's pocketbook and peace of mind in spite of himself. Now remember, you put that thing about the verminous, well, I'll see to it that you get the information concerning your father's dealings with the lady that comes to your door."

"You don't mean to open his letters?" I replied in horrified protest.

"Look here, child," she said impatiently. "You know my opinion. I trust you put that thing about other's letters ordinarily. But we're dealing with a particularly unpleasant variety of reptile. I would have no hesitations about opening the letter of hers that I would of crushing a cobra if it strayed across my path."

If by hook or crook you can get the lot of any trace of that woman's whereabouts, you put that thing about the verminous, well, I'll see to it that you get the information concerning your father's dealings with the lady that comes to your door."

"You don't mean to open his letters?" I replied in horrified protest.

"Look here, child," she said impatiently. "You know my opinion. I trust you put that thing about other's letters ordinarily. But we're dealing with a particularly unpleasant variety of reptile. I would have no hesitations about opening the letter of hers that I would of crushing a cobra if it strayed across my path."

MAXIMS OF MARCUS SECUNDUS.

If ever the neighbor offend thee Give time for time anger to cool. Who strives with the weak is a coward. Who strives with the strong is a fool.

If thou and thy friend love a woman. Son, give him thy blessing and go: Ten loves may be found in a twelve-month. But no friend for a decade or so.

What the heart most desires to have. Buy though it empty the till, But grudge not the pipe, my boy. And quibble not over the bill.

Pray the gods that thy work may be good. But ask not for honor or fame; Wert thou Caesar and Shakespeare in one. Tomorrow, thou'lt be a bent name.

All joys but a beautiful dream. Most trouble a nebulous wraith: Weigh thy woes in the just scales of fact. But happiness—take it on faith.

Whether maidens prove cruel or kind. My son, be content with the lot. Who takes him a wife—he shall rue it. And likewise the man who does not.

Despite not the getting of gold— 'Tis a cure for full many an ill: But even a beg gives place at the trough As soon as he's eaten his fill.

Beware of the limp in the ink pot. Who would fain steal thy freedom away: 'Tis he tempts thee to scribble "I love you." Or even, "I promise to pay."

Teach thy son not alone to gain wealth But likewise the means to employ it: What though he should gain the whole world And yet lack the art to enjoy it.

Shouldst thou chance on an angel with wings. In his care trust thy purse or thy life. But his honesty tempt not with these: An umbrella, a book or thy wife.

toward me, explicitly bent upon explaining matters.

"I suppose I'd better trace my tracks, footstep by footstep from one of the student's desks, and see if I can find out what he was doing."

MADGE'S DIPLOMACY.

"I don't know," I said hesitantly. "When there are so many interesting things to talk about, why waste time in explaining how you happened to run across one of my ex-acquaintances?" I made the correction deliberately.

I knew, as I had known Dean, that while I probably would have no cause to count her as an enemy, yet I could never call her friend.

"Miss Dean," I continued, "frequently goes into the city directly after school, and comes out again on the early evening train. It is the most natural thing in the world that you should meet her. Let me about that movie program at Cresthaven."

I was hurrying to get out there in time for the second run. We could take a taxi over and that I'll have. Then we'll have time for a cup of coffee if we wanted to after the performance."

I had about as much interest in a movie program at Cresthaven as I had in the ponderous discussion of the old theological concerning the number of angels who could dance on the point of a needle, but my instinct recognized a tendency in the mental atmosphere surrounding my husband and I which I would have taken almost any means to escape.

To my surprise, Dicky showed distinct signs of embarrassment.

DICKY'S REASONS.

"Why, I guess we've got well enough," he said. "But—well, you'll have to do the explaining to Miss Dean."

Allie Chosen Mascot of No. 11 Platoon

When I was four years old I went up to Winniepeg with my mother to see my aunt. This was the year the war broke out, and they were getting the soldiers trained. They used to pass our house every day to go to the barracks. After a while they used to look up at me and I would wave at them.

One evening one of the officers came to the door. He said "This little girl here?" My mother said "Yes."

Then he went downstairs and in a minute we heard a lot of noise. I looked out the window and the soldiers were all facing the house. Then they saluted me. A soldier came up to the door and handed me a big box. When I opened the box, there was a great big doll.

Another day a soldier came to the door with a great big buggy which I still have. They gave me a doll bureau, a desk and a chair, and a beautiful wrist watch. This was what was engraved on the back of the watch: "Presented to Allie May Johnson by members of the No. 11 Platoon, Alameda Cavalry, 25th Battalion, Nov. 18, 1914."

Then we came home. They heard we were going and when we were down at the depot we heard some singing and we looked and there were all the soldiers. We got on the train, and as we stood on the observation car, they all called out. Good-bye, our little mascot, good-bye.

Little Gene

Little Gene was a poor beggar child of the streets, and had hardly enough to keep himself alive. He wore rags and was all alone in the world with no parents to care for him.

He lived in the dirtiest part of New York and it was very hard with nobody to look after him. It was winter and with nothing but rags to wear he almost froze. Nobody wanted Gene for he was so small and thin and he couldn't work, but he was nearly ten years old.

One day a very rich man stepped out of a machine and walked up to Gene and said, "My lad, could you tell me the way to Fourth Avenue?"

"Yes, sir, I will go with you." As they were walking, Gene saw a man only a block, he asked Gene all he knew about himself.

But this was one man who did take pity on Gene. He asked him to dinner and later made room for Gene in his home.

For once he had more than he could enjoy. Now Gene cannot picture himself as a boy of the streets. He lives in happiness with the man he calls father.

UNCLE WIGGILY DID NOT WANT TO BE APRIL FOOLED. HE THOUGHT HE WOULD BE VERY CUTE. BUT ACCIDENTS HAPPEN—EVEN IN DRUG STORES. OH, DEAR!

Text by HOWARD R. GARIS

Author of the Famous UNCLE WIGGILY BEDTIME STORIES

"Where are you going with that sugar bowl, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she came in the breakfast room with a plate of hot cakes. "What are you going to do with my sweet sugar?" Uncle Wiggily laughed and twinkled his pink nose. "Ah ha!" he exclaimed. "You thought you'd catch me, but you can't! This is April Fool's day, and there is not sweet sugar, but sour salt, in this bowl. I'm going to empty it out on some snow near the front door. 'I wouldn't fool you! That isn't salt!' she said.

Uncle Wiggily emptied the sugar bowl in some snow near the front porch, but was surprised to see Sammie Littletail, the boy rabbit, and Johnnie and Billie Dushytail, the squirrel chaps, run over and begin to scoop up the snow in their paws. "Look out! That's April Fool salt which Nurse Jane put in the sugar bowl to play a joke on me," said the bunny gentleman. "It isn't salt—it's sweet sugar," said Sammie, "and it makes the snow taste like ice cream cones. Oh, boy! It's good!" Uncle Wiggily felt very queer.

After Uncle Wiggily had emptied the sugar out of the bowl, thinking it was salt, he went back to his breakfast. Nurse Jane gave him more sweetening for his carrot pancakes. "I wouldn't play an April Fool joke on you, Uncle Wiggily," she said. "No, but some one will, I'm sure." Then he started down the street. All of a sudden he met Jackie and Peetle Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys. "Look behind you, Uncle Wiggily!" cried Jackie. "Oh, ho!" laughed the bunny. "You want me to look, and then you'll say: 'April Fool!'"

All of a sudden along came the coaster wagon on which were riding Curly and Floppy Twistytail, the piggie boys. They were headed straight for Uncle Wiggily. "Look behind you! Look behind you!" Jackie and Peetle kept barking. "Oh, ho! You can't April Fool me!" said Uncle Wiggily. Then the coaster wagon bucked into the rabbit gentleman and upset him like never was. "Dear me!" thought Uncle Wiggily, as his tall silk hat bounced off. "I am being April Fooled whether I like it or not. But I'll not get caught again."

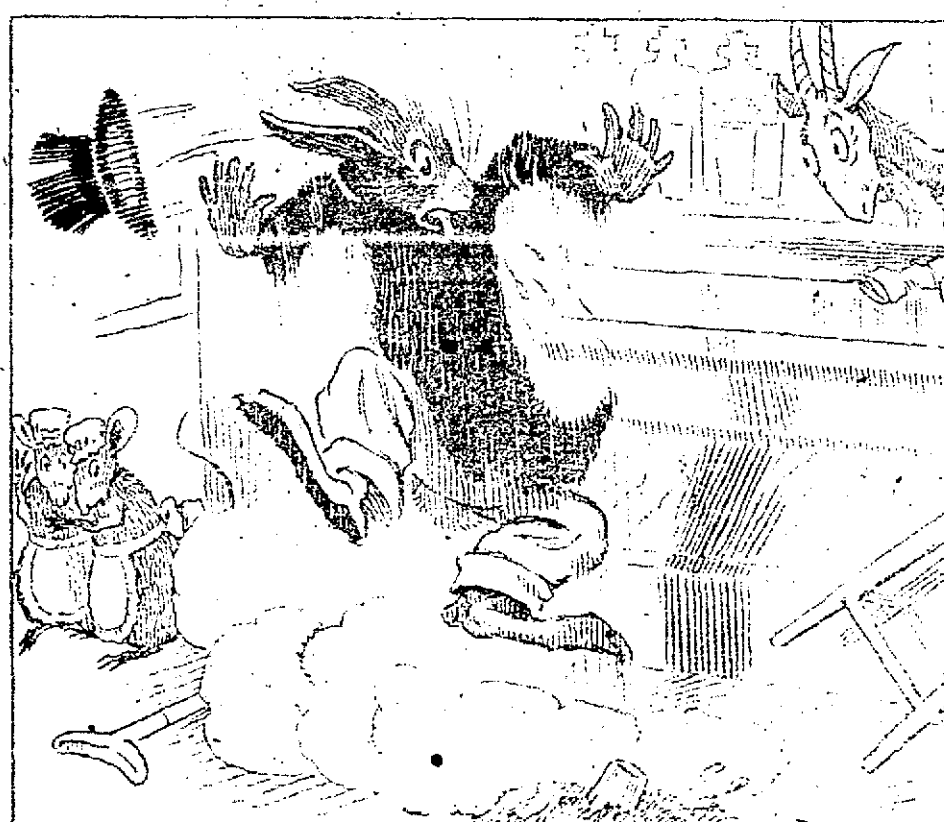

Uncle Wiggily got up and started down the street. Pretty soon he saw, on the sidewalk, a tall, silk hat. "Oh, ho!" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he spied Jimmie Whistlewobble, the duck, and Charley Crow, a rooster chap, peering out from the corner of a store. "Oh, ho! They think they're going to fool me a new way. There's a big brick, or stone, under that tall hat. They want me to kick it and stub my paw! Oh, no! I've been April Fooled that way before. I'm too old a rabbit to be caught again. I'll just pass right by!"

Just as Uncle Wiggily passed the tall silk hat on the sidewalk, along came Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman. He rushed over to the tall silk hat and picked it up. "Don't do that!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Why not?" asked Mr. Whitewash. "Because that is an April Fool hat!" laughed the bunny. "Some of the boys put it there with a brick under it, thinking I would be fooled!" Mr. White said: "This is mine. I bought it and was carrying it home, with my pocketbook, also, in the box. But the bottom dropped out!"

Uncle Wiggily felt rather strange when Mr. Whitewash told him about the tall silk hat. "Just to think," said the rabbit gentleman to himself, "that was his hat, with his pocketbook full of money in it! I passed right by it, never knowing! I thought it was April Fool. Uncle Wiggily went in a drug store kept by a goat gentleman, and asked for something to drink. "My two little mouse girl clerks seem very busy talking; I will wait on you myself," said the goat druggist. "And here is a glass of chocolate all drawn and ready."

"Oh, wow! Oh, double wow! Oh, hillo-bang!" cried Uncle Wiggily, after he had taken one sip of what he thought was chocolate soda. "Oh, trolley cars!" and he danced around, dropped the glass and knocked his tall, silk hat to the floor. The goat gentleman druggist didn't know what to think. The two little mouse girl clerks held fast to each other so they wouldn't faint. "Oh, dear!" squeaked one mouse girl, "did you give Uncle Wiggily that glass on the counter. It wasn't soda; it was April Fool red pepper soda!" she said.

"How in the world did you come to draw a glass of April Fool red pepper soda, and leave it where I would give it to Uncle Wiggily?" asked the goat gentleman druggist of the little mouse girl clerks. "Oh," answered one, "we thought the bad old Pipsiswah or the Skeezicks might come in, and we wanted to April Fool either, or both of them, with hot, red pepper. We are very sorry Uncle Wiggily drank the soda." Uncle Wiggily laughed. Then he took a drink of water to cool his mouth. "I was fooled after all," said he.

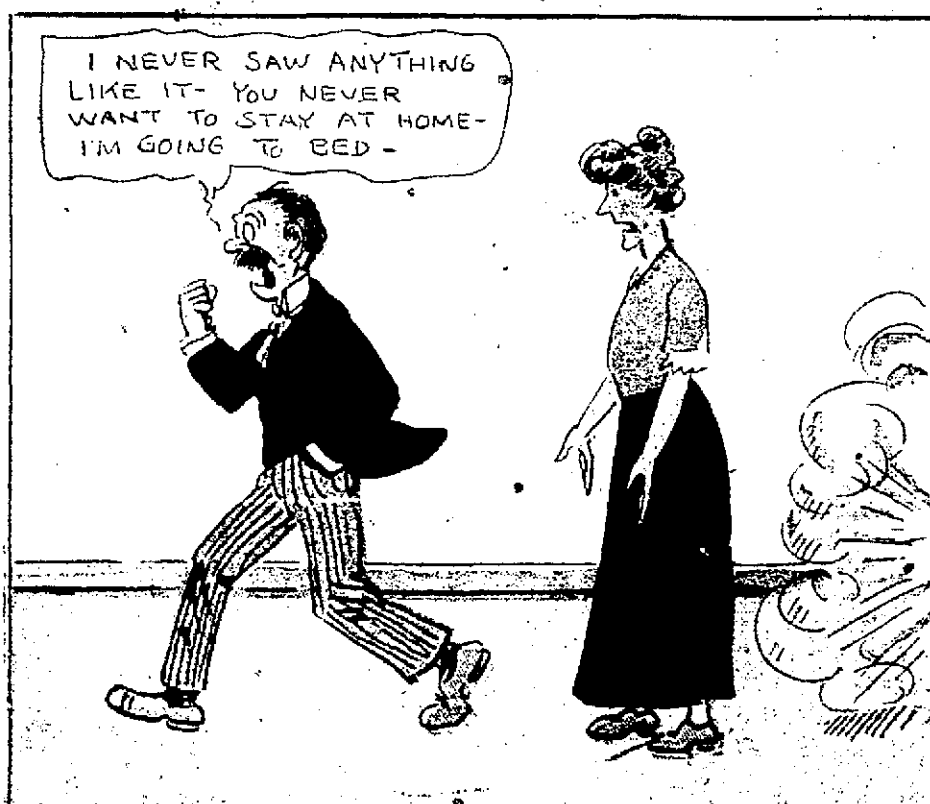

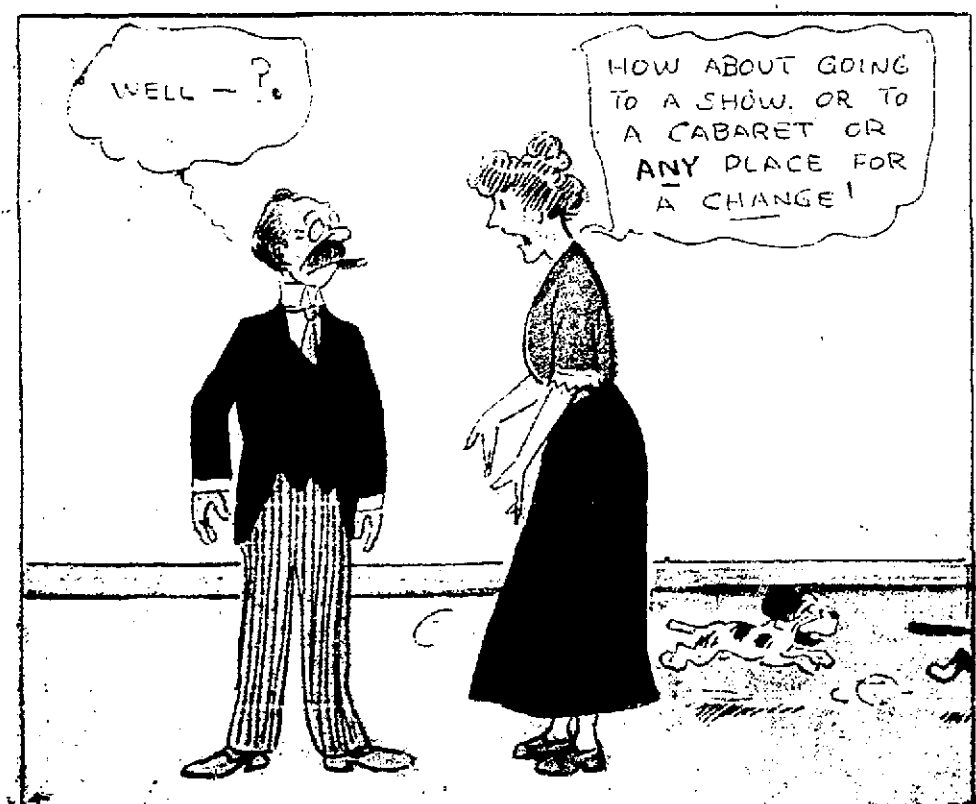

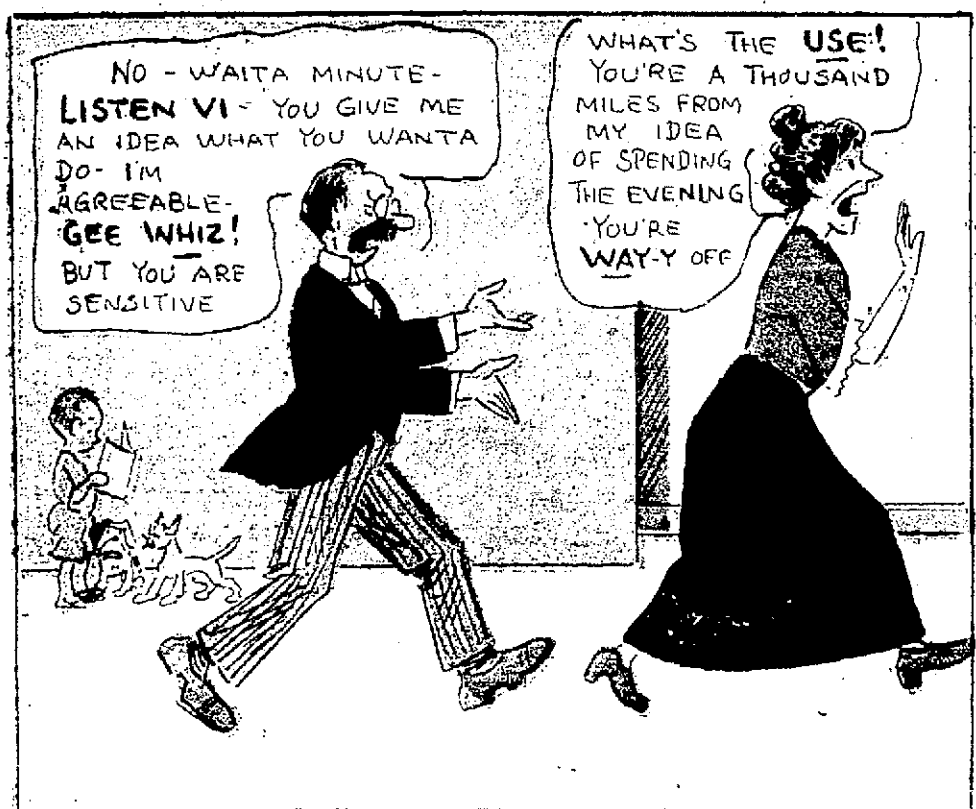

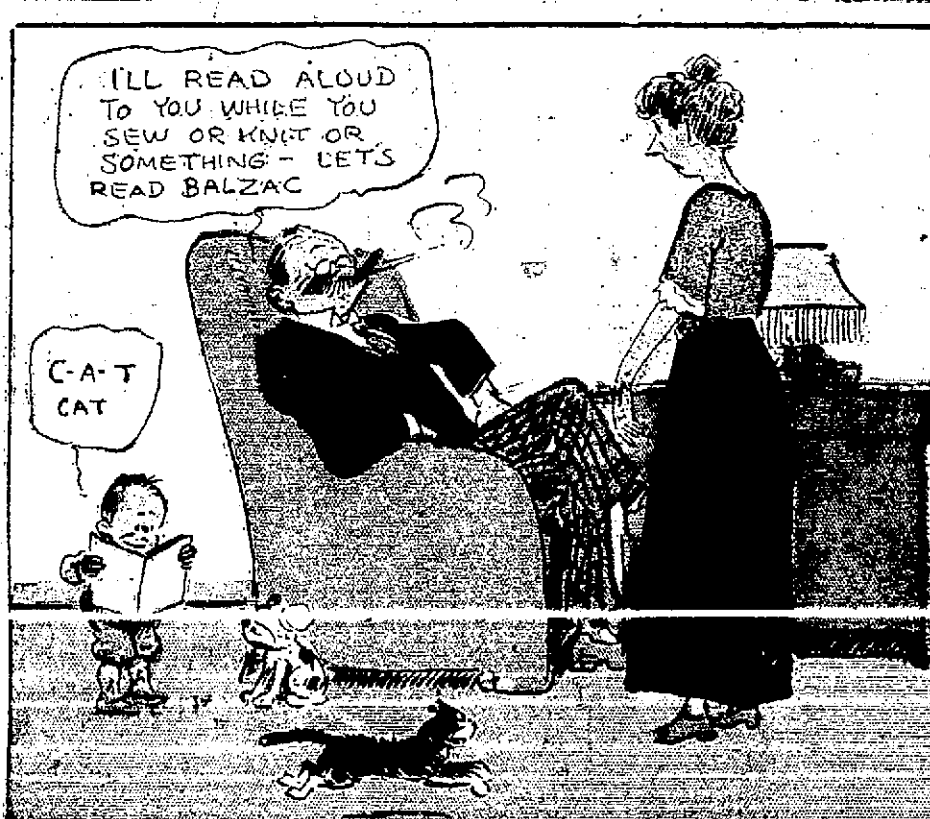

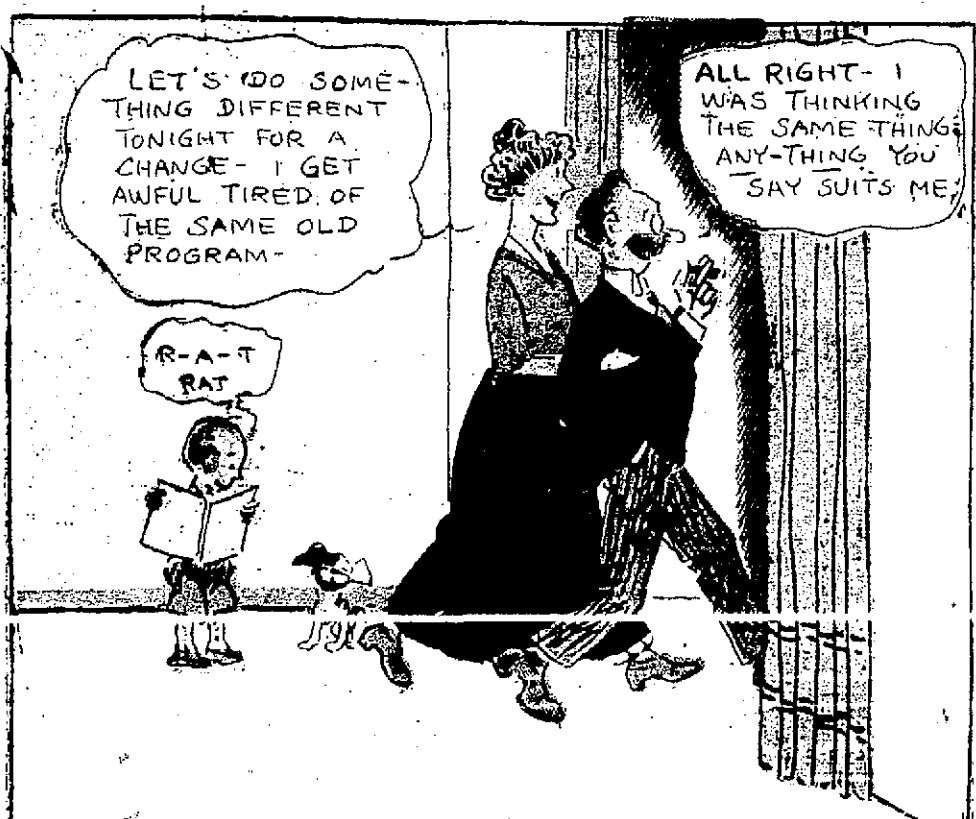

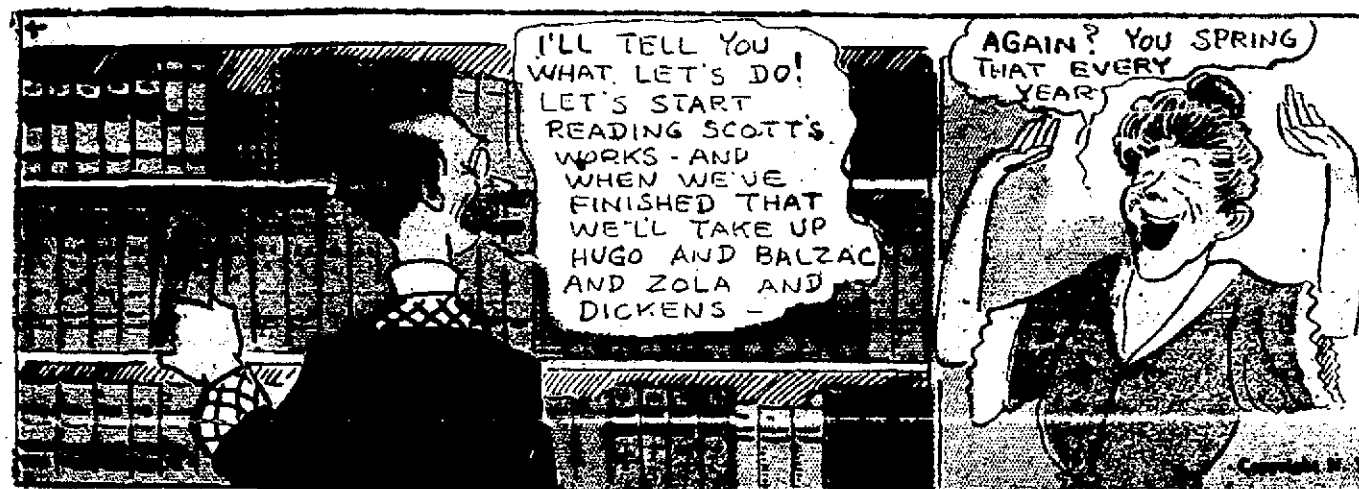

And if the pin cushion doesn't scratch a hole in the bird cage, and let the gold fish out to play tag with the rubber ball, the next pictures and story will be about almost identical phrases and arguments, the suspicion has become general that a carefully worked out propaganda is being launched against the existing military organizations of the country with a view to their complete demobilization as a means of clearing the path for the radicals to obtain control of the government without bloodshed by removing all military opposition.

UGLY FEELING WHERE TROOPS ARE QUARTERED

The greatest emphasis is laid on the fact that only where there are military forces have disorders been reported. There is also an ugly feeling in labor circles because of the attempt of the government to bring troops from South Germany for concentration in Westphalia. Labor leaders declare this is merely another violation of the agreement between the government and the trade unions for caking off the general strike.

Representatives of the two Socialist parties, the league of trades unions and representatives of 1000 radical working men's councils were held today. The conference appointed a committee which presented the following demands to President Ebert on behalf of the workers:

1. Immediate disarmament and demobilization of all counter-revolutionary troops; that is, all troops that fought against the working men or are now fighting against them.
2. The arrest of all officers of such troops and their trial before a court of working men.
3. Immediate seizure of all weapons in possession of the bourgeoisie and delivery of the same to the workingmen's councils.
4. Distribution of arms among the organized workers.

Creation of workingmen's armed defense formation, under direction of the workingmen's councils.

Immediate convening of a national congress of workers' councils.

A meeting of delegates from all the workingmen's councils held later in the day authorized the executive committee to take immediate steps for a renewal of the general strike.

The Indiana primary law requires that a candidate shall receive a majority of the votes cast before the delegation is instructed for him, but it is claimed by the Wood management, and generally conceded, that a plurality vote for Wood would be a moral victory of very potent influence. FLIERS ARE FORCED BACK BY BLIZZARD

Forced to return when they encountered a "100-mile snowstorm" in the high Sierras, R. C. "Cliff" Durant and Lieutenant C. V. Pickup in a 200-horsepower airplane came back to Oakland yesterday afternoon with the bag of mail which they were to carry to Reno. The severe storm in the mountains was an unusual one and although the fliers reached an altitude of 14,200 feet, the plane was unable to fly against the heavy winds.

Another aerial mail experiment from Oakland is planned for Tuesday when Durant and Pickup will take off from Durant field at noon for Los Angeles carrying with them a bag of mail from the Oakland post-office. They expect to make the flight to Los Angeles in three and a half hours.

OTHER FLIGHTS PLANNED.
Following the flight to Los Angeles a non-stop flight to Portland will be made, carrying mail, and after this a second attempt to make the Reno flight is planned. The flights are being made with a view to proving the practicability of establishing an airplane mail service. In yesterday's flight the fliers passed over Sacramento at an altitude of 9,000 feet, 59 minutes after taking off here. They reached an altitude of 12,000 feet in going over the foothills above Plumas county and on encountering the storm in the Sierras rose to 14,200 feet in trying to get above the winds.

GASOLINE DIMINISHES.
Facing a diminished supply of gas, the fliers turned back from the teeth of the storm in which they made but twenty miles progress in an hour. Had they landed at the place where they turned, they would have fallen to a mountainous region covered with some twenty feet of snow from which it would have been impossible to flight the plane. During much of the flight at the highest altitudes, the temperature was lower than 10 degrees below zero.

The fliers turned their plane toward Sacramento but heavy winds carried them 100 miles off their course where they finally landed at Merced. The landing at Merced was made at 11:45 and after a brief delay the return flight to Oakland was begun, the plane reaching Durant field at Eighty-third avenue in Elmhurst at 2:20 p. m.

During the entire flight Durant acted as pilot and Lieutenant Pickup as pilot-observer.

Mills College girls defeated the University of California rowing team in all four events in the regatta held yesterday afternoon on Lake Merritt. This was the annual class meet between the two schools and the Mills girls yesterday wiped out the stain upon their prowess which was placed there two years ago when the University of California girls took three of the four events.

The four races were between the seniors of both schools, juniors, sophomores and freshmen. The University of California girls did not finish close in any of the four events, the Mills college girls displaying much more skill and gave indications of a longer period of training.

Both sides were supported by large groups of rowers. The relatives of the four Mills college crews were taken upon the lake in a launch and followed the course of the race.

'Come Forward and Repent,' Pastor Challenges Slayer

"As society, as a city, we should rise and wield a sword of righteousness, so that we will not hear and endure things such as this."

Standing beside the bier of 19-year-old Ulla Carlson, brutally slain in Piedmont a fortnight ago, Rev. E. J. Colby, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, sent this challenge to more than 300 persons gathered to pay last tribute to the murdered girl.

With friends crowding the undertaking parlors of Deputy Coroner Frank Berg, in Berkeley yesterday, Rev. Colby issued a call to the murderer to "come forward and repent."

"If he is here among us and is standing close to this casket, if he can picture himself going to the old country to break the sad news of this tragedy to those old people over there; if a man who has done a deed like this is here—he must repent."

Only the sobs of mourners answered the minister's appeal as he paused to scan the faces of the audience in a dramatic moment in the services.

"It is our own indifference that has allowed a moral disease of this kind to work through the country," he continued.

"We cannot let such an event pass over without doing something. If the moral strength was greater in our cities as it should be things like this could not be done. There would be no dark corners, no dark alleys for de-spoilers of our homes to lurk."

GIRL IS PRAYED FOR
In our sorrow today we must grieve the grief of righteousness and resolve that something must be done to improve society. A shadow has fallen on our land. They are no longer sanctuaries where women and little children are safe."

Opening the services by reading the fifty-first psalm, Rev. Colby's sermon and a simple prayer for the departed soul marked the only features of the simple, impressive rites. Crowds which filled the two large rooms of the undertaking establishment and crowded the hallways and stairs stood in silence while the short services were being conducted. In the throng were schoolmates and teachers of the slain girl at the Durant bank and Technical schools, where she was enrolled in Americanization classes, friends from Swedish societies and from the church which she attended.

FLOWERS BEAR TRIBUTE.
These friends covered the casket and filled the room wherein it stood with floral offerings sent to bear tribute of love and friendship. Miss Christine Blomquist, aunt of the slain girl and her only relative in this country, wept silently through the services, controlling the emotions which she gave way to upon arriving in Berkeley this week to learn for the first time the details of her niece's tragic death.

Seated beside her were Mrs. C. O. Nelson, since her arrival here, and Miss Maria Carlson, a girl friend. Charles Nelson, fiancé of Ulla Carlson, and other of her close friends occupied places near the casket.

In the absence of Chief of Police B. F. Becker of Piedmont, Detective Sergeant Fred Heere and several members of the Piedmont force guarded entrance to the undertaking establishment and scanned the faces of persons who passed before the body.

The body was taken to the Oakland crematorium, from where the ashes will be carried to Sweden by Miss Blomquist to be interred in the home city of the Carlsons.

Chief B. F. Becker of Piedmont, is in Los Angeles today where he is investigating the murder of Mrs. Ruby Reed, found strangled to death with a linen handkerchief in her apartments in that city. Two men are held in custody by the southern authorities and are being questioned regarding the crime.

Germany Sells But Little U. S. Boose

BERLIN, March 27.—Efforts to dispose of surplus American whisky in Germany have proved fairly un-successful. This is due to the depressed state of the German currency which makes it impossible for most dealers to handle the American product. An American salesman, recently appeared here offering a number of hundred cases of bourbon, but found that the value imposed a stone wall against him.

THOUSANDS AT BLOSSOM CELEBRATION

SARATOGA, March 27.—For the twenty-first spring since the late Rev. Edwin Sidney Williams called the people of the state together in the Saratoga foothills for a festival of thanksgiving, the valley of Santa Clara is today celebrating the famous annual Saratoga blossom festival with the assistance of 10,000 guests. Throughout the day all roads into Saratoga were jammed with the machines of a dozen countries. At noon thousands picked up with a blossom-whitened landscape stretched out before them to the base of the snow-capped Mount Hamilton range, and this afternoon they are seated on a terraced hillside in the thrall of the music of a greta chorus, contributing to the day's celebration. The religious note running through today's program, in keeping with the spirit of the festival as originally planned by "Sunshine" Williams, will be dominant tomorrow, the concluding day of the fête.

CITY PEOPLE INVITED.
At this annual event the people of the Santa Clara valley invited the dwellers of the city to forget their business scramble and artificial pleasures and to come out into a blossoming world and enjoy a simple old-fashioned celebration in a little country village, astride a babbling stream, nestling amidst sycamores and oaks at the base of the Santa Cruz range.

The response of the bay city folk was tremendous and every kind of farm equipment from a fruit truck to the family auto, was at the station to greet the visitors.

The Saratoga people are as greatly delighted with the role of host as their visitors are with their reception. It is a custom which has survived the transition of the country, side from a land populated by a provincial, horse-driving, rural people, into a rich, motor-owning district peopled by a considerable number of millionaires and city dwellers, who themselves work in cities about the bay.

TODAY'S PROGRAM.
The great festival continues tomorrow and more thousands are expected to come out from the city. This is the singing chorus that is to be presented tomorrow at 3 p. m.: "Come, Thou Almighty King," audience joining; "Gloria," from the mass; Mozart, festival chorus; "Home Road," Carpenter, festival chorus; "Spring Song," Piusini, festival chorus; soprano solo, "Ave Maria," Gounod, Mrs. Frances Leroy; "America the Beautiful," chorus and audience; (a) "Love's Old Sweet Song," (b) "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," (c) "All Through the Night," festival chorus; "Inflammatus Est," (Shaker Meter), Rossini, Mrs. Frances Leroy; "The Heavens are Telling," Haydn, festival chorus; "America," Mayor Otis referred to congress as the bill factory.

$2,000,000 Wool Pool Is Formed Growers Will Seek a Fair Price

BERKELEY, March 27.—A $2,000,000 wool pool, representing practically half of the output of the State, was formed at the University of California this afternoon at a meeting of the California Wool Growers' Association.

Representing practically all of the smaller growers of the State and a number of the larger ones, the committee of the association voted today to levy a tax amounting to one-half a cent a pound on each county in the combine to defray expenses of shipping and selling. Advantageous offers from two Boston firms desirous of handling the California product are now being considered.

Formed to secure a "fair" price for the smaller grower, the California Wool Growers' Association organized several months ago at the State University, is undertaking the sale of the present season's crop as its first big work. General plans for marketing the wool represented in the association and of other growers desiring to enter the combine were referred for further action to a subcommittee.

Headed by Ellwood of Tehama county, who heads the Wool Growers' Association, while other members of the executive committee present at today's meeting were H. E. Frazer, Stanislaus county; O. N. Shaw, Imperial county; R. L. Morehead, Sutter county; J. A. Teagarden, Placer county. Meeting with the delegates were Professors J. A. Wilson and W. E. Hellman of the department of agriculture at the University of California.

Mrs. Mary E. Easton Dies in Berkeley

BERKELEY, March 27.—Mrs. Mary Esther Easton, widow of Rev. Giles A. Easton, former Episcopal minister, died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Warren R. Porter, wife of a former lieutenant governor of California, residing at Prospect street and Dwight way.

Mrs. Easton was born in Connecticut 66 years ago. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Porter, and three sons, Stanley, Robert and Kimball Easton.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been made as yet.

MAN ADMITS ROBBERY.
MARTINEZ, March 27.—Max Felix, arrested at Pinole on February 19 for holding up and robbing W. J. Ingersoll and who was captured after a hand-to-hand fight in which he was wounded in the leg, pleaded guilty today to robbery before Superior Judge J. B. McKenzie.

MARKET IS FAVORED BY HOUSEWIVES

BERKELEY, March 27.—While City Attorney Frank V. Cornish is delving into the city charter to ascertain whether or not a municipality may take the "risk" of purchasing perishable goods with official funds, both factions of the Housewives' League are joining in a campaign for a municipal market.

In the event Cornish decides the council cannot buy and sell foodstuffs with public money it is planned to follow the action of Fresno and other cities by creating a fund by private subscription, to be returned when the goods are sold. The Fresno plan of an open lot market has been found to be successful at very small cost to the city.

Further conferences between Cornish and members of the Housewives' League with Councilman Carl Bartlett, official sponsor of the marketing plan, were held today to consider an ordinance to meet the situation.

In the meantime, an active campaign to secure support of the plan is being carried out both by the original Housewives' League, headed by Mrs. Lester W. Bartlett and the newly organized Berkeley State Housewives' League, of which Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon is head.

A "curb market," where goods may be sold in the open street, as the University of California is prepared to get Molly's goat and with a goat of its own at that.

Tests conducted by the college of agriculture for the first goat breeders' association formed in the world on the college campus have produced some startling figures of milk and butter fat production which not only focus attention upon the present producing qualities of said goats but which are expected to lead to their improvement through breeding on the same basis as applied to dairy cattle.

Toggenburg goats are the special brand of nannies with which tests have been made from "Polly-Mac," one of the prize goats, in a period of 90 days was obtained 414 pounds of milk or approximately 184 quarts. This is at least two-thirds as much milk as a good dairy cow will produce, yet the average goat weighs but one-tenth as much as the common cow.

In "Polly-Mac's" average of 13.3 pounds of milk per day, there was a percentage of 3.20 of butter fat. Milk pounds from other Toggenburg goats for 24-hour periods show the following results: "Polly Anna," 10.3 and "Lassie Mac," 9.1.

Reports of the figures obtained in the tests will be made to the next meeting of the goat breeders at the state university with the expectation that a vigorous campaign will be carried out to increase the use of goat milk.

No new machinery will be installed, but the Times-Star new home is 50 by 141 feet and entirely new, except the editorial rooms in front, which have been remodeled and fitted out with new furniture.

MOLLY'S RIVAL IS DAVIS GOAT

BERKELEY, March 27.—Molly, prize bovine of the University of California farm, may be a record sprinter but she had best confine her attention to her milk-producing qualities if she is not to find herself tottling from her throne. For the college of agriculture at the University of California is prepared to get Molly's goat and with a goat of its own at that.

Tests conducted by the college of agriculture for the first goat breeders' association formed in the world on the college campus have produced some startling figures of milk and butter fat production which not only focus attention upon the present producing qualities of said goats but which are expected to lead to their improvement through breeding on the same basis as applied to dairy cattle.

HOW TO ATTRACT YOUTH TO FARMS

BERKELEY, March 27.—Farm life must be made more attractive to youth if the farmer of the future is to hold his own, says Professor H. E. Van Norman, dean of the University of California farm at Davis.

"If the present owners of ranches are ambitious to be succeeded by their sons and neighbors' sons as owners, conditions both of remuneration and environment must be made more attractive," Dean Van Norman says.

"Since our city populations are largely augmented by the influx of young men and women from the country to the city, our cities have a vital, selfish interest in the type of citizenship on our ranches, for as the country is depleted by the loss of city youth, the country will be peopled tomorrow."

To the young man who has desires to become a farm owner, Dean Van Norman says:

"If California young men desire to become the owners of California ranches when their elders get through with them, they will usually find it necessary to begin as workmen, then farmers, and finally owners. This is the normal natural process of attaining land ownership."

MOBILIZED WOMEN WILL HELP NEEDY

BERKELEY, March 27.—Attempting to help solve the problem of the unemployed in Berkeley, the Mobilized Women's organizations announce they will give work to needy men and women at their Americanization House in West Berkeley.

The women have also volunteered to furnish clothes free of charge to all persons sent them by the Charity Organization Society.

At the present time the Mobilized Women's building at Ninth street and University avenue is so crowded that the Americanization classes are taught in a tent in the yard. Miss Lena Guidery, the teacher of the foreigners, reports her work is growing in numbers and in enthusiasm.

The organization wishes to thank the public for the generous response to all its requests and hopes that through its various activities for the public welfare it may abundantly deserve the confidence which more and more is being placed in it.

IT TAKES THE JOY
Out of Life—In the Spring When Impure Blood, Lost Appetite, Lifeless, lassitude and that tired feeling pull down health to the low level that invites illness.

The knees become weak and life seems hardly worth living. In this condition Hood's Sarsaparilla has the real "human touch." It meets the necessity promptly and completely. It purifies the blood, creates an appetite, "makes food taste good" and aids digestion, thus naturally increasing strength and in a common-sense way building up the whole system. Then the bright days of spring find in you happy response, and the whole world smiles again.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla for your spring medicine—used as such for nearly 50 years by thousands. It "makes food taste good."

Keep on hand Hood's Pills as a gentle laxative or (in larger doses) as an active cathartic.—Advertisement.

Students Display Dressmaking Work
ALAMEDA, March 27.—Hats of modish design made at a cost within the reach of the average purse, dresses, smocks, waists, lingerie, and boys' suits were among the exhibits shown a large number of Alameda people last night by the millinery and dressmaking classes of the Alameda evening high school.

Sometimes a flower, sometimes a bouquet of ribbon or even braided from last season's bonnet were added or changed into place by the high school fighters. Mrs. Klopff and Mrs. Harbold, the instructors, explained how their pupils had utilized old garments and remodeled them into useful and pretty clothes.

LIBRARY AID TO MILLIONS BODY'S PLAN

DR. FRANK P. HILL, Brookline, N. Y., librarian, who will speak here.

Emphasizing Oakland's importance as an educational and literary center, Charles S. Greene, librarian of the Oakland Public Library, announced yesterday that this city has been chosen for the convention of the "Books for Everybody" movement of the American Library Association April 1.

Librarians and library trustees, representing the important public and university libraries of Northern California, Utah and Nevada, will meet at Hotel Oakland at 1:30 o'clock next Thursday afternoon to hear nationally noted library workers explain the purposes of the movement and to discuss among themselves methods of accomplishing these purposes through advancement of the American Library Association's enlarged program.

Milton J. Ferguson, California State librarian and regional director for the association, called the meeting. Greene, who is State director for California, was instrumental in securing Oakland's selection as convention city.

State directors of Utah and Nevada are Miss Mary L. Downey, department of public instruction, Salt Lake City, and Frank J. Payne, librarian of the Nevada State library. They will head the delegations from respective States.

Prominent among the speakers Thursday will be Dr. Frank P. Hill, librarian of the Brooklyn Public Library and chairman of the national committee on enlarged program. Dr. Hill, who played an important part in the American Library Association's work, and who is regarded as one of the foremost library officials in the United States, is crossing the continent especially to appear at this meeting.

Something of the aims and purposes of the "Books for Everybody" movement and how the association's enlarged program will further them were outlined briefly by Greene yesterday. More than 60,000,000 persons in the United States are without adequate opportunity for self-education through good books, he said, and the "Books for Everybody" movement is designed to overcome this condition.

Through expansion of the county library system, which has reached its greatest efficiency in California, but which even here is yet far from covering the field, we hope eventually to bring the best of reading matter within easy access of every man, woman and child in America," he said.

Encouragement of technical libraries in industries, greater and more flexible service to the merchant marine coast guard stations and lighthouses, financing of libraries and service to former ex-soldiers, sailors and marines in hospitals of the United States Public Health Service, translation of the best books into American into various foreign languages for the benefit of the 15,000,000 new Americans—these are a few of the other projects embraced in the enlarged program.

Closer acquaintance with the economic, social and industrial conditions of the country, better knowledge of American ideals, institutions and traditions will do much to quiet the spirit of unrest prevailing throughout the nation. Books and access to books are needed to bring about this closer acquaintance and better knowledge.

Following the meeting here Thursday, trustees of libraries in Southern California and the southern portion of the middle Pacific region will meet in Los Angeles April 1. The purpose of the southern meeting will be the same and Dr. Hill likewise will be the principal speaker.

The House ways and means committee will meet Monday to decide whether any legislation to aid the service men will be reported this session. Chairman Fordney, Michigan, said.

Mrs. Roberts to Tell Klamath Indian Tales

Mrs. Ruth Kellert Roberts will present interesting tales of the (Lower Lake) Klamath Indians at the meeting of the Mills Club of Alameda county, to be held at Mills College, Thursday, April 1, at 2:30 o'clock. The hostesses will be Miss Janet Haight, Miss Virginia Washington, Miss Louise Strong, Mrs. D. B. Gray, Mrs. Ora W. Perkins, Mrs. Gerald Whitley.

Christmas Seal Pennies Are Busy Money Spent Right Here at Home

What became of the pennies Oakland put into Red Cross Christmas seals last Christmas?

It's all being spent right here in Oakland.

The Tuberculosis Association didn't forget about the pennies and the $12,000 derived from the sale of the seals is being used to better the physical condition of Oakland school children.

The Tuberculosis Association, through the nutrition classes at Laker, Tompkins, Fremont and Technical High schools, is providing better food for the children who are 10 percent below normal. They are given two meals at school, breakfast and lunch, prepared by the home economics department. Milk, cereals and vegetables are the principal foods given them. Some of them dislike these foods, as they are used to eating heavier foods and drinking coffee, but the honor of wearing an arm band bearing the words "Food Scout" recompenses them for all the inconvenience of drinking milk and eating such things as mush. In some cases, however, it takes more than this to get them to eat these good foods, and they have to be given candy and picture books.

By building up the resistance of these children, the Tuberculosis Association is greatly lessening the danger of their susceptibility to disease of all sorts, chiefly tuberculosis.

Those little Christmas seal pennies are also playing a great part in the founding of a permanent camp, where sickly children can get plenty of sunshine and pure air. The site for this camp has not yet been purchased, but it will probably be in the hills near Niles. A committee has been appointed to select an ideal location for this camp. It is composed of Judge Charles E. Snook, Miss Annie F. Brown, Dr. Edward von Adelung, Dr. Alvin Powell, Dr. Chesley Bush, Dr. Edna Bailey and Mrs. Tait-Thompson. It is planned to buy several acres so that the children will have plenty of room to enjoy the great outdoors.

With other pennies it will be possible to furnish a dental chair and equipment, costing $1000, and $200 a month for its maintenance for the use of the children in the health centers. This chair will probably be put in Cole school so as to be accessible to the children in West Oakland. Another similar chair, furnished by the Red Cross shop, will be installed at Lockwood school for the use of the children in East Oakland. Two hundred tooth brushes have been bought by the Tuberculosis Association for the use of the children in the health centers. In this way they provide for both the prevention and the remedy of tooth troubles.

"Fire Prevention" to Be Subject of Chief

PIEDMONT, March 27.—Chief J. E. Stevens of the Pacific Coast Fire Prevention Bureau is to be the main speaker at a fire prevention meeting to be held in the Beach school on April 3. Motion pictures are to be shown and there will be a program of music.

HUME TO STAGE UNIQUE PAGEANT

BERKELEY, March 27.—Professor Samuel J. Hume of the University of California faculty will leave for Santa Barbara shortly to direct the pageant, "Primavera," to be staged on April 28 as part of a three-day celebration.

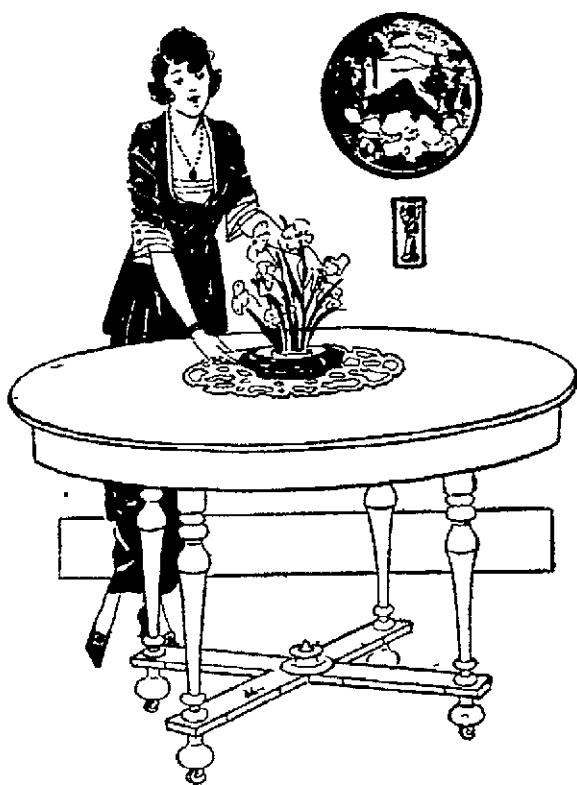

The pageant will include a representation of the historic marriage of Anita de la Guerra and the American, Alfredo Robinson. This scene has been graphically described in Dante's "Two Years Before the Mast." The pageant will include a number of dancing groups and large choruses.

It is a marvelous portrayal of the human body at its best. One beholds in its components details of true strength. It presents a picture of striking appearance in its erect carriage, clear skin, sparkling eyes, strong limbs, steady nerves and firm muscles, fairly vibrating in animation—keen, alert, fresh, and spirited, with an air of unbounded confidence and a face radiant in color and illumined with a glow of hope and cheerfulness.

Could Nature have taken you for her model? Suppose you study yourself in the mirror of the present and compare your looks, your general characteristics of this picture of the human body in perfect working order, all parts of which are sound, well-organized and disposed performing their functions freely, naturally. If you fail in any single point of resemblance, you are not the picture of health. It is imperative, then, that you look to a means to rebuild your strength, energy and vigor—bring your body up to a normal state of efficiency in all of its parts.

SURVEY OF ACTIVITIES BY COUNCIL

At the first meeting of the newly created advisory council of the Oakland conference of Americanization agencies, it was decided to make a survey of all the Americanization activities as a preliminary to formulating a plan for increasing the effectiveness of local Americanization efforts. The survey will be conducted mainly through a questionnaire to be submitted to each of the several agencies. They will be asked to indicate thereon as fully as possible the nature and scope of the work they are doing, the facilities, opportunities and requirements for extending their activities.

Miss Ethel Richardson, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, and in charge of immigrant education, addressed the council, pointing out that any plan adopted must be specially designed to meet local situations and peculiarities. She said that as a result of her inspection of Oakland conditions she had come to the conclusion that the city possessed the opportunity to set an example in citizenship work which every large community might be led to follow. That both public and private agencies in Oakland had taken a leading role among California cities in Americanization work.

The full membership of the advisory council is as follows: J. W. Harris, presiding judge of the Alameda county superior court, Fred M. Hunter, superintendent of Oakland public schools; Dr. Arthur H. Reinhardt, president of Mills college; Jay B. Nash, head of the public recreation department; Dr. Francis J. Van Horn, pastor of First Presbyterian church; Rev. J. H. P. J. Keane, dean of the Catholic clergymen; R. B. Harvey, Franklyn, J. W. Gathwaite, vice president Oakland chapter of the Red Cross; Jesse J. Dunn, attorney and president of the Sons and Daughters of Washington; A. G. Cushman, Young Men's Christian Association; Mrs. T. P. James, International Institute; J. W. C. A. Hubert, J. Quinn, grand knight of the Knights of Columbus; Miss Annie Florence Brown, director Oakland Health Center; Lewis B. Ayer, assistant superintendent of schools and in charge of Americanization work in the school department; Sam J. Donohue, business manager, Oakland Building Trades Council; Miss Elizabeth Sheels, executive secretary Associated Charities; George Ames, president Moore Shipbuilding company; Mrs. Daisy L. Short, member of board of education; Frederick Bauman, chairman, and Miss Ethel Swan, secretary.

Coal Wage Pact Is Forecast by Lewis
NEW YORK, March 27.—John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, who arrived here today to attend the bituminous coal operators' annual joint state committee meeting Monday, said today he looked for a satisfactory settlement in a comparatively short time without the necessity of a suspension of work on the part of the miners.

Lewis will direct the miners' efforts to obtain a new wage agreement in the bituminous field. He will also give some time to the anthracite conference which has been in session here since March 8, attempting to reach a new wage agreement for that field. Lewis said the anthracite conference had been "satisfactory."

Operation to Cure Victim of Accident
Lourene Witt, 16 years old, who was alleged to have been injured in a street car accident more than a year ago and who was awarded $2,000 by a jury in a common law suit, is expected to recover her health through an operation, according to testimony before Judge E. C. Robinson by Dr. W. W. Lewis.

Judge Robinson ordered that the fee of her attorneys, Dunn White & Aiken, fixed at $1,000 by the original agreement, should be reduced to $500. The case showed that Witt had carried the case through two trials and advanced all the money necessary to the litigation. Mrs. Lulu Witt, mother and guardian of the girl, said she was to expend $300 from the daughter's estate for the operation.

Dry Forces Will Fight All Wet Candidates
WILMINGTON, Del., March 27.—"A beer and wine party for President," if elected in the face of the eighteenth amendment would announce to the world that the United States is winking at lawlessness," declared Wayne E. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, here today.

"No one is fooled by calling it a light wine and beer amendment," Wheeler said, "and the retention of the old beer saloon, which was a nuisance to the country and a menace to politics. Every state that tried the experiment regretted it because it was impossible to enforce a prohibition law against liquor on wine and beer bases."

Robbery Attempted While Sailors March

Rain Outside Cast No Gloom Over Real American Boys When Pretty Misses Appear

By AUNT ELSIE.
Dear World.—Did you know that it rained last Friday afternoon? Did you roll right up in a Springtime grouch and feel as gray as the clouds? Probably—most of us did.
But upon the TRIBUNE house roof
there was a roomful that DIDN'T.
Clouds—gracious—rain—? Such things simply didn't exist! For the BOYS of the Aunt Elsie Club were having a party and as sunshine makers they made old Sol look like a fellow candle.

In Oakland town fluttered and twinkled and sung for their lordships. Then after it was over some one said—"Come on!" and began to sing "Smiles!" There was shuffling —everyone bashful at once—a whistling squeal or two through front teeth and THEN—they broke loose. World! Did they sing? DID THEY? Song after song—but over the rain and the clouds—straight through the grayness with a laugh and a shout, your kids, OUR kids, sang.

THE PROGRAM.
Evelyn Gluck—Dance.
Bernice Jahngen—Song.
Evelyn Cavanaugh—Dance.
Evelyn is a new comer on the TRIB-UNE program and a delight.
Evelyn Waters—Recitations and CARTWHEELS. Evelyn is about 1/2

ficient as a merry maker.
David Ayer—A policeman's whistle that the local force would envy.
Marion Stone—Dance.
Dorothy Lossman—Dance.
Florence Mae Tyrrel and Bernice Jahnigen—Song and dances, individually and together.
Elvin Hawley—Piano solo.
Maurice Bellemans—Violin solo.
Elvin, Maurice and David more than upheld the masculine side for honors.

LEGION BUREAU IS BEING COMPLETED

Establishment of an elaborate information bureau that will be able to furnish information on all problems of interest to former service men is being completed in the headquarters of Oakland Post of the American Legion as the result of the co-operation of the post in the campaigns of the bureau of war risk insurance in Washington and the service and information branch of the office of the assistant to the secretary of war.

The bureau will specialize on the subject of war risk insurance and in completing preparations for the service to be undertaken complete data has been gathered on the various forms of government insurance and the office has secured all of the necessary forms for converting and reinstating war risk policies. The service will be available without charge to all former service men, whether affiliated with the American Legion or not.

The bureau will also supply information to the men just out of the shaki on other problems confronting them follow their return to civilian life. The employment bureau established some months ago is being perfected and according to W. T. Hopkins, who is in charge of that service, the branch has succeeded in securing an average of a position a day for service men out of employment. Efforts are now being made to secure part time positions for service men attending the University of California and other institutions.

OAKLAND TO BE WESTERN ROTARY CLUB CAPITAL THIS WEEK

PATRIOTISM

Rotarians from Arizona, Nevada, California and Hawaii will gather here Wednesday and Thursday to attend the fifth annual conference of the twenty-third district. The program as completed provides for two full days of business and pleasure.

Commencing on Wednesday morning there will be the address of welcome by Herman T. Johnson, president of the host club, and from then on there will not be an idle moment. One of the addresses that is causing much anticipation is the one to be given by International President Albert S. Adams.

The keynote of the conference is to be "The Patriotism of Peace," and this will be portrayed in a pageant to be put on by the Stockton Rotary Club.

Among the most important matters of business will be the election of a district governor on the final day of the conference.

The annual bowling tournament and a musical comedy, written and directed by George A. Cummings of Oakland, will be among the chief amusements.

The wives and daughters of the delegates will be especially entertained by the wives of the Oakland members. The plans call for a visit to Mills College, an auto trip to the Durant Aviation Field and a dinner and dance at the Auditorium.

The program for the two days follows:

WEDNESDAY Morning Session
8:30 to 9:45—Registration of delegates and visitors; registration headquarters at Hotel Oakland and Civic Auditorium.
9:45—Invocation, Rev. Josiah Sibley, Rotary Club of San Francisco.
10:00—Pageant, "The Patriotism of Peace," Rotary Club of Stockton, in charge of Mrs. Dewey R. Powell.

New Berkeley Policewomen Will Patrol Streets During Accident Prevention Week

BERKELEY, March 27.—Speeding will have its joys in Berkeley next week—but there'll be a bitter taste afterwards, the college city authorities promise.

Today 400 fair policemen, all of them co-eds of the University of California, were sworn in by Chief of Police August Vollmer as special deputies in an accident prevention campaign to be inaugurated next week.

Miss Margaret Tunning, member of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, will temporarily usurp the office of Chief Vollmer to command the small army of fair "copettes." As her chief aides will be Miss Dorothy Sparks and Miss Margaret Priddle, Sigma Kappa Sorority; Miss Agnes Mackinlay, Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority; Miss Madeline Lenahan, Miss Frances Clark and Miss Bethany Westernberg, all Alpha Chi Omega members.

Berkeley's newest policewomen will patrol the streets of the college city next Saturday for an accident prevention parade planned under the auspices of the Berkeley Den of Lions. They will sell tags and will arrest the autoist who cuts corners and hand out judgment on the spot by timing him a half dozen tags. The

VACHEL LINDSAY TO READ POEMS

BERKELEY, March 27.—Distinguished by the title of America's lone "troubadour," Vachel Lindsay, poet and humorist, who has been singing his way across the continent, will stop in Berkeley next month to chant his poems to an audience at the Greek theater.

Lindsay believes that the primitive singing of poetry should be restored, and to practice what he preaches he has become America's lone troubadour. Like the wandering minstrels of ancient days, Lindsay has strolled through the countryside singing his verse to the chance wayfarer.

At the University of California, Lindsay will appear under the auspices of the music and drama committee headed by Professor Samuel J. Hume and will give a program of his poems at the Greek theater on Thursday, April 15. Lindsay's best known poems are "The Legend Dred" and "The Congo." The latter poem will be one of those on his program. He writes that, "In reciting 'The Congo' I unconsciously introduced a new element of chanting, akin to the Gregorian Chant. I added this to my usual effort to elaborate the tone-color effects, and as a result of the two 'The Congo' became the first recitation of my life to which big conventional gatherings of people would listen. All my sympathetic audiences up to that time had been the fireside sort, with chums, or on the road."

Stores Are Urged to Close for Worship

The observance of Good Friday between 12 noon and 3 p. m. by the closing of stores and theaters in order to allow the employees to attend the religious services, is asked in circular letters being sent out to employers of Oakland and vicinity by the Reverent Observance of Good Friday committee. In cases where places of business cannot be closed it is requested that the employees, who so desire, be allowed time off to worship. An appeal is also being made to the public to refrain from shopping during those hours.

Charges Husband Had Traveling Companion

Charges that her husband, Peter Basso, traveled all over California and also visited New York in company with a "Julia Quaglia" while she believed he was on his way to Italy, are made in a divorce action filed yesterday by Mrs. Catherine Basso of West Berkeley. During the trip, which she charges he made, it is alleged that he had a "riotous and dissolute life."

HUSBAND SLEPT IN GARAGE, IS WIFE'S CHARGE

A new angle in the divorce action brought by Mrs. Marion Schmidt against W. J. Schmidt, wealthy Berkeley contractor, developed yesterday when the wife filed an amended complaint in which she charges her husband insisted on sleeping in the garage one week as a protest against a social affair. She charges he objected to attending a dinner party in San Francisco, and during a dispute over the matter he declared he would live in the garage.

At another time she charges he said: "You can have your social life and this place, and I am going away."

No Good, Sensible Working Bee listens to the Advice of a drone on the subject of Business!

Established 1900.

Through my own initiative I have seen my dental business evolve into a large institution. I have given the people better dentistry at lower figures than anyone else ever imagined could possibly be done, say twenty years ago.

Organization, co-operation, concentration, cash business, first class dental work and no lost motion—these are the elements that have turned the trick. Like the working bee, I have aimed at construction. I have taken jibes, sneers and vilification because of my efforts to educate the people to the need of dentistry and to expose the outrageous practice of the dental trust, in keeping up exorbitant prices, to fleece the people.

Why should I, a conscientious working bee, pay any attention to the cosmopolitan, lazy, parasitic drones. I do not heed them; but go serenely on my way, giving the people the best of service in dentistry at prices one-half what most dentists ask.

FLETCHER IS NEW TARGET ELLIS SAYS

SACRAMENTO, March 27.—William R. Ellis, former secretary of the California Highway commission, who resigned and announced he had done so with the hopes of correcting alleged "maladministration" in that department, has directed the attack to "Jeddo" and announced that future letters will deal with the ability of Chief Engineer A. B. Fletcher.

The first letter charged maladministration and the latest note re-plies to former Commissioner Charles D. Blaney, who attributed the attack to "Jeddo" and announced that future letters will deal with the ability of Chief Engineer A. B. Fletcher.

OUTLINES LETTERS

In conclusion, Ellis writes:

"I am prepared, therefore, to advise you, Governor, that my ensuing letters will come in the following order:

"Letter No. 3.—A. B. Fletcher, The Politician.

"Letter No. 4.—A. B. Fletcher, The Executive.

"Letter No. 5.—A. B. Fletcher, The Engineer.

"Letter No. 6.—Millions Wasted.

"After I have finished Fletcher, I will take up the history of the California Highway commission, and follow the ruts in which the commission has been dragging along these long tormented nine years—follow those ruts till they are lost in the bottomless bog of floundering indecision and trackless confusion.

WIDE FIELD COVERED

"And following letters will deal with how Highway Bond Funds have been 'pork barreled'; how Motor Vehicle Maintenance Funds have been squandered; how Federal Aid Funds have been 'intolerantly and unceremoniously grabbed to dump them into the hopper with the balance of available money to keep up a headlong program of building 'bum' roads that are falling wherever the stream of traffic puts them to the test.

"Then in succeeding letters I shall show that while an automobile may be correctly built on the three-point suspension principle, that it is humanly impossible to organize a three-man commission to manage with efficiency and success, the business of so vast a public enterprise as the building of 6000 miles of State highways that will cost this State likely $200,000,000 before they are completed.

JOHNSON TO USE SYSTEM OF BUFFALO

The New York system of campaign financing as used for the first time by the Buffalo, N. Y., supporters of Hiram Johnson for President, is to be adopted in his home state and throughout the west generally.

The New York Johnson for President clubs have shown California the way, according to the enthusiastic approval here of the Buffalo plan. The spirit that brought about the Buffalo local Johnson campaign plan was developed last Thursday night when it became apparent that the Californian would not be able to reach Buffalo in time for the mammoth business men's luncheon at the Hotel Statler on Friday.

Johnson was in Grand Rapids, Mich. His campaign supporters pointed out that it was his duty to worry him in time to open his New York campaign—train schedules would not permit his reaching there.

A hurried meeting of the members of the Buffalo Rotary Club was held Thursday night and as a result of the meeting a special train was arranged by telegraph at Grand Rapids to carry him at the close of his speech to Jackson, Michigan, where connections were made with the Chicago Flyer for Buffalo, arriving there three hours before the luncheon.

Alighting from the train Senator Johnson laughingly remarked that he had just ridden on the first special train of his entire campaign tour but that it was paid for by his friends.

The Buffalo Johnson boosters early discovered that there was no Johnson campaign slush fund available in New York and they found that his campaign in that state is to be taken care of by community donations.

CONTRAST TO OTHERS

IL. Cavanaugh, Western Johnson-for-President campaign manager, commenting on the New York campaign said:

"The Buffalo plan of financing Senator Johnson's campaign stands out in marked contrast when considered with the Wood and Lowden campaign funds, which are now occupying the attention of the Senate and of the entire Nation."

"Senator Johnson's only campaign fund must come from the people. Senator Johnson would rather have it that way."

After carefully comparing the best shows to bring to Oakland to stage its spring carnival, Rahmes Shrine finally selected the big Clarence A. Wortham shows.

The Wortham shows that stage the Shrine carnival here will present the first "Over the Falls" ride ever on the road. This was the sensation at Coney Island and Venice Beach last summer. There is a large free war exhibit with the shows. This consists of 3000 relics of the world's struggle. There is also a model of the Panama canal, a diving submarine, a circus, two sideshows, and many other features.

In the east, Wortham is called the Carnival King. He is said to be to the carnival field what the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined circuses are in their realm.

Wortham started out in Danville ten years ago with one baggage car. Since then he has amassed more carnival property than any other living man, and today he directs the operation of four big carnival companies.

The one that comes to Oakland the week of April 5 is his special pride and the largest of the quartet. It consists of thirty-five cars, 300 person twenty-five attractions and a valuable value of $250,000.

The winter quarters of the Wortham interests are in San Antonio, Texas, but the carnival that comes here has no winter quarters. It will come here to open its sixtieth consecutive week on the road. It is not run on the principle that "things can be fixed in winter quarters," but it is run by men who fix things on the ground and keep on moving.

PLANTS ARE MOVING AND ENLARGING

Company Manufacturing a Patent Gas Heater Will Leave San Francisco and Locate New Plant in Here

Eastbay Institutions Are Enlarging Their Plants, Moving Into New Quarters and Showing a Business Growth

New industrial plants are constantly coming to the Eastbay district while those already here are increasing their capacity. Not a week passes but the announcement is made of new plants coming to this section, some moving from other cities, others entirely new organizations locating here from the beginning of their existence, while existing ones are adding to their present facilities and equipment.

The latest announcement of a new industry to move this side of the bay is that of the Baird-Ballhaug Company, manufacturers of the Radio gas heaters and furnaces. This company has maintained their factory in San Francisco, but during the week past they have purchased the property on the northern corner of Adams and Twenty-sixth streets and will at once erect a brick and concrete factory which will handle all of their output. The property is more than 100 by 25 in size, and the plant will be sufficient to provide for a growing plant. When this is completed everything will be moved from the other side of the bay except a local delivery.

The Western Heavy Hardware Company, which has been located on Ninth street for many years, has completed the lease of a new corner brick building on Fourth street between Harrison and Alcega streets in the rapidly developing wholesale section, from A. S. Day. The move from the uptown location will be made within a month. This new location is very favorable to a line of business of this kind for there is a spur track from the Western Pacific railroad running direct to the new property.

The California Corrugated Culvert Company has purchased from Henry von Tagen the property and building adjoining their present factory at Alameda and Harrison streets in Berkeley. This property has superior water frontage on the San Francisco Bay and will be used for the enlargement of the plant of the company.

R. R. Com. Orders

Authority to issue and sell 1450 shares of capital stock of the San Jose water works has been asked of the Railroad Commission by the utility. The money is to be used to pay for the construction of the water works in the sum of $145,000. Permission is also asked to issue 250 shares of stock to replace in the company's treasury money spent for the water works.

Authority to renew four notes totaling $50,000, has been asked of the Railroad Commission by the Lake Tahoe Railway and Transportation Company. The notes are to be secured by a guaranty signed by all the stockholders of the Lake Tahoe Railway and Transportation Company.

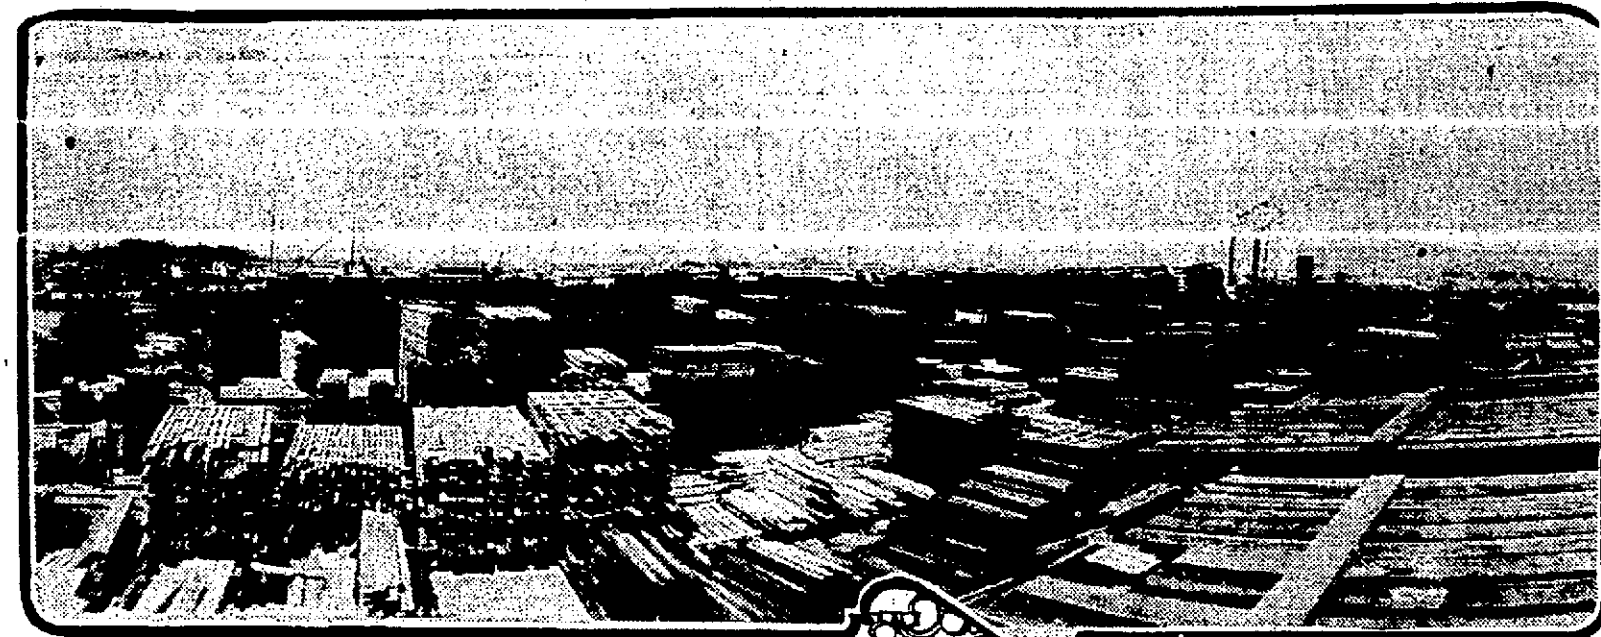

A branch has been authorized by the Railroad Commission to transfer its permit to operate an automobile stage line between Sausalito and Santa Rosa to J. J. P. W. Douglas and William H. Curtis, who have formed a partnership to take over the business established by Erast.

An order issued by the Railroad Commission authorizes the Peninsula Railway Company to abandon a spur track along the western side of Market street, near the northern end of City Hall Park, San Jose, and to construct in its stead a spur track at grade on Market street and the northern side of Carlos street.

The San Benito County Land and Water Company has been authorized by the railroad commission to issue two notes, one for $50,000 and the other for $25,000 to the Bank of Italy. The notes are to refund notes previously issued.

Ocean Going Vessels Now Navigate Tidal Canal in Great Numbers

Wharves and yards of the Pacific Tank & Pipe Company, where one hundred and seventy-four vessels have docked since the tidal canal was opened to ocean-going vessels about a year ago.

Opening of the Tidal Canal to Big Ocean Going Vessels Develops Trade.

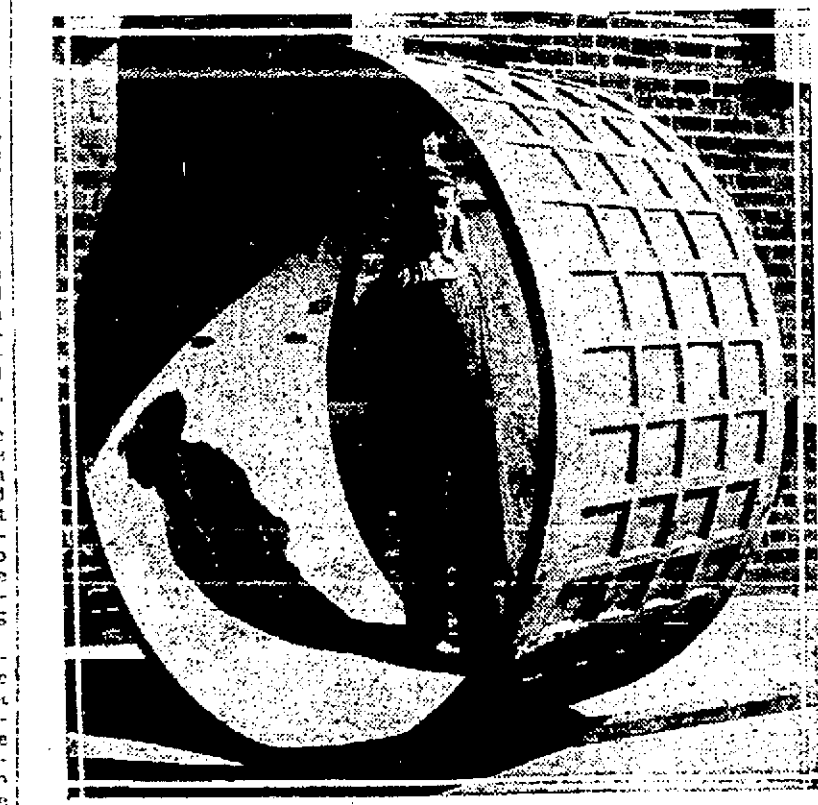

The Pacific Tank and Pipe Company has landed 174 vessels carrying 92,000 tons of cargo at their wharves, at the southern end of the Oakland tidal canal, since the canal was dredged to a depth to carry ocean-going vessels, which work was completed less than a year ago. This is a record for the section of Oakland harbor that is supposed to be closed to navigation except by vessels of light draft. This also illustrates the large amount of work that has been done in this section by both private parties and the federal government, opening up another industrial and shipping center.

The Pacific Tank and Pipe Company has been at work for more than a year preparing wharfage facilities along the tidal canal from High street to the mouth of the canal in Sausalito bay, and while the private company was improving the high land the federal government was dredging the water way so as to make it navigable for ocean-going vessels. The first ocean-going vessel to go up Oakland harbor and through the tidal canal and dock at the wharves of the company was the Chehalis, which made the trip about a year ago. It was thought at that time that this was a great trip, and the landing of the Chehalis was the cause of much excitement. But since this pioneer trip 174 vessels have made the same trip, have gone through the canal and passed the bridges at Park and High streets, and have landed at the wharves beyond. The route has now become an established one.

The Pacific Tank and Pipe Company has doubled its capacity in the past year and now employs 600 men. With its lumber yard and mills it covers a larger area than any other plant in the Eastbay district.

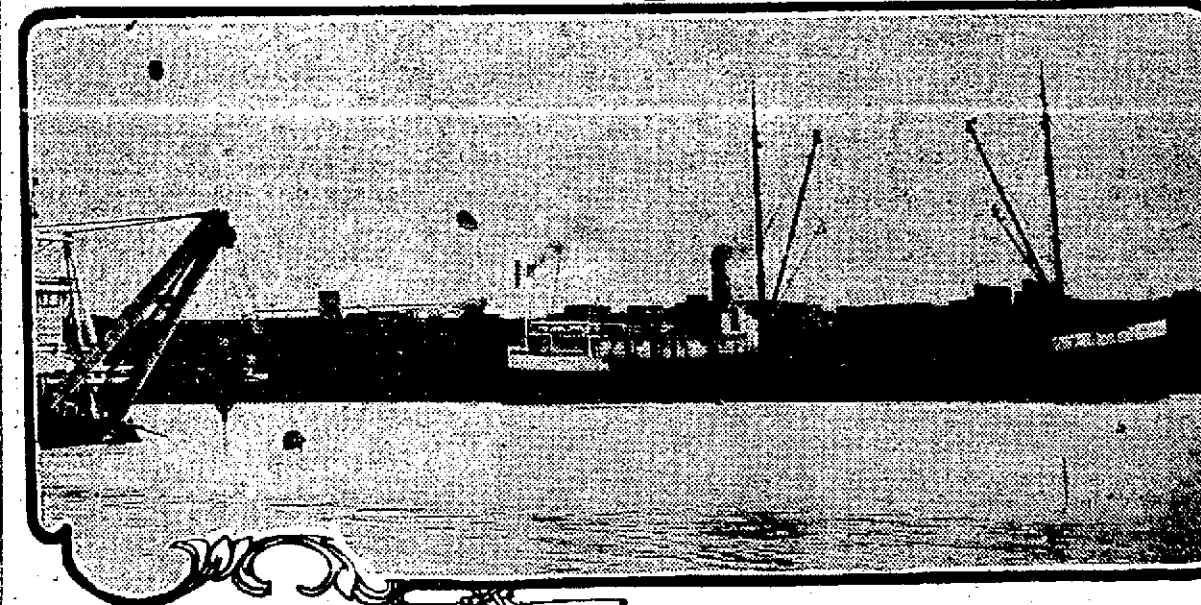

STANDARDIZE APPLES. County Horticultural Commissioner Fred Seubergner spent a portion of last week in Watsonville attending a conference called by Agricultural Director Hecke for the purpose of discussing the latest report of the state standardization committee. Commissioner Seubergner is one of the most active commissioners in the state in enforcing the standardization laws and his experience as to the operation of these laws is sought by fruit growers and packers all over the state.

LARGEST BRASS CASTING EVER MADE IN THE EASTBAY DISTRICT

Great gun bronze liner cast by the Standard Brass Casting Company of Oakland for a federal irrigation plant.

The largest gun bronze casting ever turned out in this section has just been completed by the Standard Brass Casting Company at their works at Third and Jefferson streets, marking a new step in the development of Eastbay industry. The casting is what is known as a gun bronze liner for a needle valve to be used at an impounding dam on a government reclamation project. It weighs 5535 pounds, 4000 pounds of metal were used in making the casting, and it is big enough for a man to stand inside, as the photograph will show. This liner is being used on certain machinery that is being built by the Joshua Hecke Iron Works, who had the Oakland concern make the bronze casting to complete their work.

SUPREME COURT SUSTAINS COM.

Upholding the jurisdiction of the California Railroad Commission over interstate public utility rates, the United States Supreme Court has established a precedent for all utility commissions throughout the country. The case, in which the decision was handed down, that of the Napa Valley Electric Company, was regarded as a test case by all utility commissions.

The decision of the United States Supreme Court today upholds the decision previously rendered in California by Judge Van Fleet, sustaining the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission.

The case was argued before the United States Supreme Court December 9 by Attorney Douglas Brookman for the Commission.

"Blue Sky" Permits

Alameda City Land company has been given permission by Commissioner of Corporations E. C. Bellows to sell 3500 shares of its capital stock at $1.50 per share. These shares were purchased by the company upon sale for delinquent assessment. Preference to purchase the stock is given to those who lost their shares on such a sale. The commissioner released these shares from escrow so that the sales may be made, and a provision of the permit is that the shares shall immediately be returned to escrow upon sale.

Associated Milk Producers, San Francisco, has permission from the commissioner to sell $800 shares of its capital stock at par, $25 per share, for cash. Community Market, Modesto—to issue 500 shares of its capital stock to its three incorporators at par, $10 in exchange for the meat market business heretofore conducted by them.

Garden City Implement & Vehicle Company, San Jose—to sell 300 shares of its capital stock, par value $10 per share, to its present stockholders for cash. The money derived from the sale is to be used in establishing a branch business in Hollister. The company is engaged in selling implements and vehicles, also tractors, etc.

CROSSLEY MOVES TO JEFFERSON ST.

The real estate center of Oakland is spreading out. For years it hung closely to Fourteenth and Broadway, but of late it has been spreading out in all directions. The latest move is the relocation of the Crossley building, which will, on April 1, leave its present location at 1330 Washington street and open his offices on his own property, 1425 Jefferson street. This was originally the old Wells Whitmore home, and Crossley will remodel the old building into real offices and occupy them after April 1. From there he will continue his operations on an enlarged scale.

Toy Company Buys Location in Alameda

The American Furniture and Toy Company, which recently started the manufacturing of American toys, has purchased a location in Alameda, and is to immediately build a plant which will be in operation early this summer. The plant will manufacture both furniture and toys, with furniture as the chief output. The first factory structure will be a two-story building of galvanized iron and will be located on a site 150x135, at Park and Clement avenues. J. D. Eberly of this city, prominent Park street business man, is one of the chief stockholders and backers.

Gross & Miller Take Larger S. F. Offices

The San Francisco offices of Gross & Miller have been moved from the Tulcan building at 277 Pine street to a suite of offices in the Merchants Exchange. John H. Thompson, resident manager, said that the increased business of the local offices compelled the occupancy of larger quarters. The new offices are at 1120 Merchants Exchange building.

CLOSE NORTHERN OFFICE. The Emergency Fleet Corporation will close all of its offices on the Pacific Coast on May 1 except that in San Francisco. This is caused by the fact that practically all of the vessels being built for the Fleet Corporation have been delivered, and only the San Francisco office will be necessary.

THIRTY NATIONS TO PARTICIPATE

James A. Farrell, chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, an organization of seventy-five of the leading American merchants and manufacturers engaged in foreign trade, announces that thirty foreign nations representing Central and South America, Canada, Australia, and the Far East, will have trade advisors at the seventh national foreign trade convention to be held at San Francisco, May 12-13, 1920, for the purpose of supplying first-hand information in regard to the markets of their respective countries.

The countries from which trade advisors are expected are as follows: Canada; Central America—Mexico, Panama, Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua; South America—Colombia, Venezuela, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Brazil, Paraguay, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile.

Australasia—Australia, New Zealand, Tasmann, Straits Settlement, Far East—Dutch East Indies, Indo-China, India, Philippines, Siberia and Siam.

The departure of the council this year in extending an invitation to foreign countries to be represented by special trade advisors is expected to result in a notable attendance of foreign traders from all over the world. Reports already received from chambers of commerce abroad indicate that many foreign merchants will take advantage of this opportunity to meet in person consultation with leaders of American business. American firms having representatives in foreign fields have their foreign representatives time their visits to this country to take advantage of the convention. The foreign trade advisors, O. K. Davis, secretary of the National Foreign Trade Council, today announced that ten trade advisors are being invited to each one of the foreign nations whose commercial representatives have been invited to the convention. These special advisors will be chosen by trade organizations in their respective countries.

"These foreign trade advisors," continued Mr. Davis, "will be thoroughly representative of the international commerce of their respective countries. They will be at San Francisco for the purpose of supplying first-hand information in regard to the markets of their respective countries."

NIGHT WORK ON PLANT OF MILLING CO.

Electricity Has Been Installed Throughout the Grounds and Two or Three Shifts Will Be Worked Constantly

President Woolner Wants to Be Ready to Handle An Enormous Barley Crop That Is Expected This Year

WORK upon the plant of the Great Western Milling company on the shore of the tidal canal in East Oakland, is to be started on a day and night basis beginning Monday next. The works have been wired for electricity, and everything will be ready for two or possibly three shifts beginning Monday. At that time the pouring of concrete for the foundation of the first unit will begin, and in a very short time the walls of the new plant will begin to rear their heads above the ground.

This is very unusual haste, even for Eastbay construction. Work upon very many plants is being pushed as rapidly as an ordinary day shift will permit, but here is no other institution in this section that is so determined upon rushing its work that they are going to work night and day.

The reason for this haste is the unusual barley crop of California. There will be a million tons of barley this year as against a normal pre-war production of about 400,000 tons, and the Great Western Milling company is anxious to be able to handle their portion of this enormous crop. Already offers for both the milling and the storage of a portion of this crop are being received by H. E. Woolner, president of the new Oakland institution.

There is also a reason for the enormous barley crop. Early in the present year when the rainfall was very light and most crops were in danger, farmers planted barley and took a chance, barley being the crop that was likely to stand a dry winter.

The harvest of the winter wheat turned out to be an ideal one for the barley planters, and the Great Western Milling company finds itself in a race to catch business that it wants to be ready to handle.

The construction of the new plant is under the personal supervision of R. P. Durham, vice president and construction manager of the Great Western Milling company, who is in Oakland in charge of the new work.

With the recording of deeds last week out of the largest and most important realty transfers of the year has been consummated where J. E. Mauehan has acquired the entire building now occupied by the Curtin Store, at the corner of Broadway and Third streets, which he is proprietor. The deal is looked upon with surprise by many here for the reason that it was not supposed that such desirable property would be sold for less than $100,000.

When it was learned that the building was to be placed on the market Mauehan immediately entered into negotiations with the owner. The building has been occupied by the Curtin Store for the last eight years. A year and a half ago a branch store was opened in Fresno. The local store has recently been remodeled, placing it in up-to-date condition for the accommodation of the extensive trade that the concern has enjoyed for the past decade.

"I have every confidence in the future prosperity of business in Oakland," said Mauehan today. "With the acquisition of our own building the Curtin Store has been placed upon a firm and lasting foundation in the business affairs of the city."

NEW MANAGER. E. J. A. Watts has been appointed general manager of the Van Ommeren Corporation, operating many vessels between San Francisco and Java under the Dutch flag. Mr. Watts succeeds Clarence D. Dunann of Oakland, who died recently.

Gossip of the Eastbay Business World

The Hotel Oakland has decided to abandon the manufacture of their own electricity, having arranged with the Great Western Power Company to substitute hydroelectric service. Engineer Letson Balliet will be in charge of the installation of the electric machinery to receive the outside power.

The Conover Tire & Rubber Company expects the machinery for its new plant at East Twelfth and First streets to be shipped the first of May. Drawings and blueprints are now in the hands of the plant superintendent for the purpose of receiving bids.

The Newberry Electric Company is installing an electric sign at the new plant of the Western Milling Company, which is in charge of Superintendent De Atley.

Master Mechanic Coleman, of the Parsons Paint Company, is installing additional apparatus in the linoleum department of the Parsons Company's Oakland plant at the foot of Powell street.

The city of Alameda is preparing plans for arrival of a new electric sub-station to be installed at Atlantic and Webster streets, Alameda, where additional marine cables will be connected from the lines of the Western Power Company.

Engineer Richard Osborn is installing the heating system in the F. W. Woolworth Company's stores on Washington street.

W. Fairymann, president of the H. Jones & Co. Ltd., of Australia, arrived last week from Tasmania and is a guest at the Hotel Oakland. Engineers Carter and Griffin are also recent arrivals from the Antipodes and will be in charge of the construction of the plant at Fruitvale.

The Standard Oil Company is installing electric motors in its new building along Canal avenue, Richmond, to the amount of 2450 horsepower. This power will be supplied from the new sub-station of the Great Western which is now under course of construction at Fullman avenue, Richmond.

M. J. Verdery, heating engineer, who specializes on electrical equipment, has leased a home in Berkeley and will make his headquarters there. Mr. Verdery has recently taken over the responsibility of this department with the Oakland and San Francisco offices of the power company.

Engineer Knowles of the Western Pacific railroad was an Oakland visitor this week. Mr. Knowles is looking over the properties of the Western Pacific on this side of the bay.

If E. Lieurance, Pacific Coast manager of the J. C. Penney Company of New York, is expected in Oakland early next month. The Penney company has leased a valuable downtown site for the purpose of erecting one of its new stores in Oakland.

The National Ice Company is installing additional electric power at the Oakland plant at Third and Wood streets, West Oakland. The construction work is under the supervision of General Superintendent Volberg.

The National Metals & Chemical company, at Pittsburg, California, is arranging to duplicate the first electric furnace installed some time last spring. The plant is located under the management of A. Sloss Jr. of the Alaska Commercial building, San Francisco, and gives promise of being one of the most important industries in the Coast county.

Superintendent Archer of the Simonds Manufacturing company is a recent arrival from New York. Mr. Archer is well known in and about Oakland, where he has supervised the installation of a great many pumping outfits for his firm.

Proprietor Louis Zaras of the Pacific Peanut company has moved his plant from 623 Twelfth street to the new location at 411 Webster street. The Kimball Electric Company has installed electric motors in the new address for the operation of newly acquired machinery.

Zaras reports that the old location proved too small for their requirements and that the Pacific Peanut company contemplates a very prosperous season for 1920.

Homey Wiese, general manager of the Vegetable Oil company, a recent arrival from the Pacific coast, has returned for the purpose of supervising the finishing touches of the mechanical installation being made at his company's plant at the foot of Shattuck street, West Berkeley. Consulting Engineer Hickson is laying out the electrical installation, which approximates 1163 horsepower, all to be supplied by Great Western Power. This plant is proposed to be in operation about April 1.

P. G. & E. CO. READY FOR SHORTAGE

Word Received That Great Generator Will Be Shipped So As to Reach Oakland in Time to Meet Coming Pinch

Will Nearly Double Capacity of Present Power Station, and Will Supply All the Demands From This Section

A desperate effort is being made by the Pacific Gas & Electric company to meet the expected shortage of power that is facing all of the hydro-electric this year, and word was received only yesterday that the General Electric company would be able to supply the Oakland plant with one 16,000 horsepower steam electric turbine to arrive here by July 1. All of the hydro-electric companies of California, the Pacific Gas & Electric company being no exception, have been trying to get the necessary equipment to meet the threatened shortage of water power this year, and it has been doubtful whether even steam equipment would be secured.

The announcement was received yesterday that the great piece of machinery could be shipped so that it would arrive in Oakland about July 1, which was cheering to both management and consumers, for that would permit the installation of the generator so that it can be in operation by the time that the shortage of power is beginning to be felt.

The Pacific Gas & Electric company is preparing to receive the receipt of this machinery with a force of men that will work night and day installing it so that it will be ready for operation just about the time that real pinch sets in this fall. This will mean almost a doubling of the capacity of the generating plant at the foot of Grove street, and will meet the necessities of the immediate future.

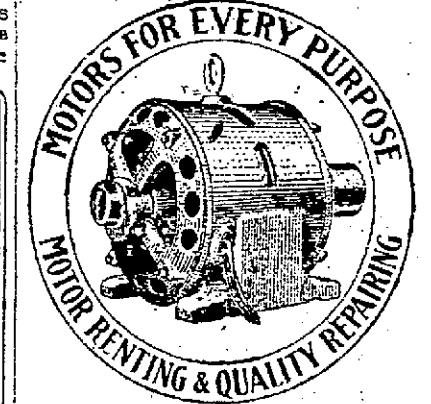

The Pacific Gas & Electric company is spending $750,000 in this district to meet the expected power shortage that is facing the state this fall.

Two more Oakland society girls who have been led to accept film careers in Southern California. At left is MISS CLARA FARZEE and at right MISS IRENE ALDWYN, both of whom have been engaged by the Historical Film Corporation of America

Two More Society Girls of Oakland Take Up Movies.

Close upon the announcement that Miss Helen Mehrmann, Oakland society girl, had departed for Los Angeles to enter the movies as one of the permanent members of a cast, has come the call to two more Oakland society girls to report at once to film companies in the southland.

Miss Irene Aldwyn of 1007 Harvard road, and a niece of Mrs. H. T. McKnight, is to star in "The Prodigal Son," soon to be made. Miss Aldwyn is already well known to the screen fans and has been appearing here of recent days in "The Confession." In this play she portrayed the part of Panchette. Miss Aldwyn has risen to the position of a star in only four weeks, having gone direct into the movies after leaving school.

Miss Clara Farzee of 372 Balleve avenue is to leave within a few days to join the Historical Film Corporation of America, having been given a contract to supervise the costume and drapings to be used in Biblical plays soon to be produced. Miss Farzee has appeared in pictures that have been shown here and before she entered the movies was a member of a stock company.

LIKES "MOVIE" LIFE

Like Miss Mehrmann, Miss Aldwyn and Mrs. Walter Leimert, well known Oakland society woman, who formerly starred in the movies, Miss Farzee is greatly attracted to her art. "I like the life of a movie actress," she says, "is just like any other girl and while she may always appear on the screen as living in a world of wealth and in the midst of luxury, down in her heart, if she is unmarried, she is longing for someone who will love her and for a home of her own, even if it be a tiny cottage. In her series she pictures a home and children."

"There are exceptions, of course, as there are among all other classes, but as a rule you will find that a movie actress in her dreams does not live as she does on the screen," said Miss Farzee. "In her reveries she is thinking of her ideal, if she has not already found him, be he rich or poor, who will love her for her own self and give her a home to which children will eventually come."

SORREN TO BE HUMAN

"If the man she loves is poor, she is ready to cast her lot with him. I know many of the well known married actresses who get up early in the morning and do the housework and after a busy day spent at the studio they return to get dinner and complete the day's housework."

"Just like any other girl, an actress wants some one to love her and the reason that more do not marry is that the men discount them because they are actresses. The ferent than those of other girls, but the general public thinks so."

"And you also hear that married actresses do not care for children. That is wrong. Perhaps in their hurry to make a name on the screen they do not appear to want a family, but down in their hearts they want children—the ties that bind."

Jury Finds Girl Was Kicked to Death

STEBENVILLE, O., March 27.—"Kicked to death" was the verdict today of Coroner T. H. Kierk, upon completion of an investigation into the murder of 11-year-old Frances South, whose body was found at Adena, near here.

Meanwhile, juries continued scouring the county for trace of the murderers.

Indications of a terrible struggle the girl made for her life were found near her body. Footprints showed she was attacked by more than one man. The imprint of a heel was plainly visible on the girl's forehead. That blow fractured her skull, Kierk believed.

Highlands' Building Program Is Triumph To Start Second Series

The sales record of the Leimert Company in Lakeshore Highlands for the first quarter in 1920, just closing, tells of the success of the company's building program of "Every Five Days a New Home Starts" in Lakeshore Highlands.

Only three homes—just built or almost completed—remain of all those started during the erection of the first series of 1920.

The Walter H. Leimert Co. is starting immediately on a second series of homes so that the "Every Five Days a New Home Starts" program will go forward without interruption.

The three homes of the first series which have not yet been sold are typical of the kind of houses being built by the Leimert Company and explain to some extent the success of the big program.

The following descriptions suggest the beauty of the exterior design of these houses; the convenience of the interior arrangement and the excellence of the materials which are going into the Leimert buildings:

HOUSE NO. 1—Splendid 8-room, 2-story cement house with concrete steps and porch. Oak floors throughout, oak stairs and railing, tiled bathroom with set-in tub and shower and all the latest built-in features. Maid's room and separate bath, finished basement with billiard room and fireplace. Located a short distance from the entrance to Lakeshore Highlands. Built-in garage.

HOUSE NO. 6—On Rosemount Road, one-half block from Key Route line, overlooking a beautiful glen. Six-room, two-story cement house with enclosed sleeping porch, the very best of construction and finish. Close-grain oak flooring throughout, artistic wall coverings, newest designs in electric fixtures, built-in features, garage, tiled bathroom, etc. A most delightful home.

HOUSE NO. 7—Two-story cement house of seven rooms and breakfast room, tiled bathroom, built-in garage with concrete floor. Hardwood floors upstairs and down, and many built-in features. In one of the finest parts of Lakeshore Highlands with fine view.

The homes of the second series, plans for which are now being completed, will be of the same high type of design and construction as the first series and will sell at popular prices.

Homes of the second series will be from $7,500 up

Make immediate arrangements for reserving one of these new homes—if one of the three remaining from the first series are not suited to your needs.

All of the success of the "Every Five Days a New Home Starts" program cannot be attributed just to the houses being built. Much is due to the excellence of the tract itself.

Lakeshore Highlands has tremendous advantages over all residence districts on either side of the bay. Its close-in location—only ten minutes from Oakland and thirty-six minutes to San Francisco—delightful environment; complete development; wonderful view; permanent restrictions, and the moderate prices for lots are all contributing to making this residence park the most popular of any tract ever placed on the market.

From San Francisco take the Lakeshore train at the Key Route mole, and get off at Lakeshore Avenue. From Oakland take the Lakeshore Avenue carline or drive out Lakeshore Avenue to the main entrance to Lakeshore Highlands—at Lakeshore Avenue and Mandana Boulevard. Automobiles are at your service if you telephone the office.

NEGLECTED COUGHS AND COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

Lady in Brooklyn, N. Y., Narrowly Escapes Death

If people would only learn the folly of neglecting a cough or cold, much suffering could be averted and the development of many fatal diseases prevented.

The experience of Mrs. R. S. Pedersen, 125 Fulton Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., more emphatically emphasizes the necessity of having the proper medicine on hand for such emergencies. She writes:

"One winter I had a severe cold. I doctored myself for several weeks with various pills. Finally, I was forced to go to bed with heavy cold in chest and head. I had a good attack of La Grippe with large lumps in my neck. My father persuaded me to take Pe-ru-na, and I was out of bed in two weeks. I continued the remedy for several weeks and feel better than ever. Pe-ru-na has also relieved me of pains in the back and sides. I always recommend Pe-ru-na and my father is a constant user."

Pe-ru-na, being a tonic laxative, regulates the digestion, enriches the blood, tones up the nerves and carries its soothing, healing influence to the irritated, congested, mucous membranes in all parts of the body. It is very beneficial after protracted illness or an attack of grip or Spanish influenza to restore strength and vigor to the wasted body.

Do not fool with a cold or any other catarrhal disease. It is dangerous. Get the right remedy in the first place, the remedy that for fifty years has been known as a successful treatment for colds.

Your dear old granddaddy Pe-ru-na in both tablet and liquid form.—Advertisement.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the heart and stomach, are occasionally clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness, and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then get fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulates them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

Women of Alameda County and Their Work

Congress of Mothers Plans Program for Second District Convention, Mrs. Tardy States

The program for the annual convention, Second District, California Congress of Mothers, is all but ready for the printer. Whatever changes may be made in the announcements for the active two-day sessions of the important conference of mothers and teachers will be but minor and not materially affect the tentative outline which comes from Mrs. H. C. Tardy of Oakland, district president and chairman of program. California has from the beginning more than a score of years ago been a leader in the National Congress of Mothers. Ten or a dozen years ago Oakland struggled with the new movement and gave birth to one of the most important of the city's organizations, the local federation which numbers nearly 1500 members. Berkeley has a magnificent body of parent-teacher associations, Alameda claims its share of interesting mothers' clubs. San Leandro will shortly organize its three associations into a small federation. San Francisco has a proud record to boast. So the story goes down the peninsula along the shore and into the valleys which stretch as far as Santa Rosa which is the bounds of the second district.

San Mateo Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations will hostess the April 5-9 convention, with the Howard Avenue school the general headquarters. While the entire district will be represented on the programs, Oakland and Berkeley are given special honor. Among those who are announced for addresses are Mrs. Robert O. Moody, Berkeley; Dr. H. B. Wilson, Berkeley; Mrs. J. George Short, Oakland; Virgil Dixon, Oakland.

MRS. J. W. COMSTOCK TO LEAD SALUTE TO FLAG

The morning salutes to the flag will be led by Mrs. James Warren Comstock, chairman of the patriotic department, Oakland Federation of Women's Club; round table conferences will be featured at the noon hour. Mrs. A. L. Whitman, Oakland, will lead the presidents' and officers' councils. Mrs. L. C. Grasser, Oakland, assisted by Mrs. Georgia Speiker, Oakland, will lead the membership and extension discussions. Mrs. E. E. de Rome, Oakland, with Mrs. P. Carr will assist Mrs. L. P. Boyce in directing the conference of the publicity, speakers' bureau and finance which have been grouped together.

Mrs. Tardy will call the convention together promptly at 10 a. m. Reports of the district president, Roy Cloud, San Mateo county superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Charles Godfrey, president of the San Mateo Federation of Mothers' Clubs. Reports of the district president, the Americanization and Educational Conferences, will complete the morning session.

MRS. MOODY WILL SPEAK ON OBLIGATIONS OF GIRL TO HOME

"Obligations of the Growing Girl to the Home" is the theme for Mrs. Moody's address in the afternoon. The following federation presidents will report: San Mateo, Mrs. Godfrey, San Francisco, Mrs. S. I. Simmons; Oakland, Mrs. Edward Morgan Jones; Berkeley, Mrs. J. J. Koughan. Resolutions will be presented at this time.

George Douglas of San Francisco and H. B. Wilson, Berkeley, will be the speakers at the Thursday evening meeting, which will be held in the Union High School. Miss E. Haley, president of the Grade Teachers' Council, will welcome the convention. A reception will be given in honor of the officers and delegates by the San Mateo pedagogues.

Adoption of resolutions will be the important feature of the Friday morning session. Dr. Jesse A. Russell, president of California Congress of Mothers, will make her official address early Friday afternoon. "Scientific Methods as Applied to the Guidance of Children" will be discussed by Virgil Dixon of Oakland. Mrs. J. George Short will present the "Value of the Parent-Teacher Associations to Boards of Education."

Annual elections in the Oakland Club are never without a lively interest. Just at present there is a keen contest on as Wednesday, April 7, will mark the filing of the nominating ballots by the members with the announcement of the official candidates. The presidency is conceded to Mrs. Charles L. Taber, Miss Theresa Rousseau having refused to consider re-election for the second term, which tradition would have permitted. Mrs. Frederick E. Adams, a member of the board of directors, and Mrs. A. B. Glasier, widely known as a war worker, some weeks ago announced themselves as candidates for the office of first vice-president, with Mrs. A. T. MacDonald and Mrs. F. H. Greene opposed for the second and third vice-presidencies. There is a movement on foot among the mutual friends of Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Glasier to give both women places on the ticket. This would introduce Mrs. MacDonald into the contest for vice-president.

The line-up for other officers is: Third vice-president, Mrs. F. H. Greene; recording secretary, Mrs. Seagrave; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John C. Chestnut; assistant secretary, Mrs. H. D. Wharton; treasurer, Mrs. E. E. de Rome. Every member of the Oakland Club has the right to nominate ten directors. The annual election will take place in May, when those who have acquired the highest number of ballots at the April primaries will be voted upon.

Community property laws generally but community property law in particular, which is held up by referendum, has engaged the attention of feminine bodies this week. Before the end of the club year there will not be left a woman's organization which does not at least know what a wife's right in property accumulated during marriage is. A determined band of speakers is going forth armed with more facts than oratory to tell their sister wives what their legal status is. If a woman thinks that it is right that she be not permitted to will her share of community property to her children, or does not agree that her husband shall not have the same privilege, then the leaders in the fight on behalf of community property amendments will have no more to say. If a wife does not wish to claim the right to will with her husband's consent any of her share in community property or is not willing, after giving her consent, that she shall do the same, there is little reason to suppose that much eloquence will cause her to change her mind.

The colored women of the city at the invitation of the Alameda County Colored Women's Civic Center, on Monday considered community property laws with Mrs. A. E. Carter and Miss Martha James the speakers. The same afternoon Oakland Technical High Parent-Teacher Association listened to an explanation of the present laws and their proposed amendments as presented by Mrs. Frank Law. Not a day since but has brought its club program with community property featured.

When Mrs. Charles L. Donohoe was elected a delegate-at-large from this district to the National Democratic Convention, to be held in June, local women recorded a victory in their active participation with men in the affairs of the nation. Mrs. Donohoe and Mrs. Edgar L. Ormsby will both have seats in the San Francisco convention.

Non-Partisan Party Is Topic Of Discussion

The possibilities of a non-partisan party in California and presidential primaries is the large subject which Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young will discuss on Friday before the members of the Fruitvale Woman's Club. A. C. Agnew, a well-known attorney, will present a review of current events. The club meets at the residence of Mrs. W. E. Gibson in Fruitvale avenue.

AUBURN READY TO RECEIVE GUESTS

The finishing touches are being put to the arrangements for the three-day program which will mark the eighteenth annual convention of the northern district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, in Auburn, Placer county, April 8-10. Americanization will be the general theme which the conference will emphasize.

Mrs. Raglan Tuttle, formerly of Oakland and president of the Auburn, Placer county, club, is active in promoting the work of the local board which will be hostess to the club women of Amador, Butte, Colusa, El Dorado, Glenn, Lassen, Modoc, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, Sacramento, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Sutter, Tehama, Trinity, Yolo and Yuba counties. Mrs. T. W. Wilson is chairman of the local board.

A major tour through the fruit-growing districts which will be in full bloom with Newcastle the objective point, is being planned as one of the diversions of the convention. Tea will be served at "Overdone" the beautiful home of Mrs. W. J. Wilson Jr., overlooking Sacramento and Placer valleys.

All lines will be down tomorrow when a representative group of feminine leaders assemble at Hotel Oakland to discuss what Alameda county may do to show to the women who come West in June as delegates or as the wives, sisters and mothers of delegates to the National Democratic Convention what the boasted California hospitality really means. It has been acclaimed, that outside the doors of the convention halls, political and partisan lines shall not be known when it comes to greeting the distinguished women who perhaps for the first time journey to the Pacific coast. The Democratic women have declared this themselves and have invited women of all other political faiths to join them in arranging for the brilliant entertainment which, whether out of doors or within, shall make the strangers within the cities realize that it is good to be here.

It is conceded that many women will accompany husbands who will have far greater interest in seeing the sights than in bothering about who the next Democratic candidate for President will be. These feminine folk must be entertained charmingly and delightfully. Alameda county has been promised at least one day of the convention period. It is quite time, the local women have decided, that they get together, to discuss their hospitable plans. Mrs. Carrie Hoyt is president of the Alameda County Women's Democratic Club, which claims the co-operation of all the women in welcoming the June visitors.

Collegiate Alumnae Receive

Dr. David Prescott Barrows, president of the University of California, and Mrs. Barrows; Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College; Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Stanford Jr. University, and Mrs. Wilbur, were guests of honor at the reception of the Collegiate Alumnae, yesterday at which Dr. William Allan Neilson, president of Smith College, was the principal speaker. The annual function which was arranged in courtesy to the senior women in the University of California, Mills and Stanford took place in the Century clubhouse across the bay.

Mrs. Frederick Faulkner was general director of the brilliant affair. In the receiving line assisting Mrs. E. J. Mott were the association directors, and the members who have joined the branch during the past year. Miss Elizabeth Kellam was in charge of the tables.

The April meeting of the association will take place at Stanford University, when the college women will be the guests of Mrs. Wilbur.

Some interesting work is being done by the Housing Betterment Committee of which Mrs. Jesse H. Steinhart is chairman, and which meets on Saturday next with Miss Helen Kendrick at Cloyne Court. Dr. Edward Mead will be the speaker of the day. Particular attention will be given to the plans for farm settlement in California.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL MEETING IN SOUTH

Feminine interest will center in Los Angeles this week where the convention of the Women's Legislative Council of California will be held on Wednesday. Ebell clubhouse will lend the stage to the important meeting at which representatives of 100,000 organized women will be seated. The particular business of the day will be putting into shape the mass of legislative proposals for the referendum vote which will determine the platform of the Council before the 1921 session of the State legislature.

Mrs. Albert A. Carter of this city, former president of the Council and acting president of the California Civic League; Mrs. Aaron Schloss of Berkeley, president of California Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Julia George of San Francisco, will be among those who, armed with proxies, will represent Northern California at the Wednesday session.

Lovers of literature and art, particularly the lovers of Ina Coolbrith, the "poet Laureate of California," are meeting today in the blue room of the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, to listen to Mrs. Mary V. Tingley Lawrence speak on "Early California Literary Outcroppings." A special message will reach the group from Miss Coolbrith herself. The Ina Coolbrith Circle originated when a group of men and women met regularly on the fourth Sunday of each month at the home of the Western singer in Russian Hill. It was not so formally named until after Miss Coolbrith's departure for the East, when the friends transferred their meeting place to the Donahue Library.

Today marks the inaugural meeting at the St. Francis, the quarters having been put at the disposal of those who are keeping alive the traditions of California by the management.

Artists Man-in-the-Street Shows Keen Interest in Prints

By LAURA BRIDE POWERS

EACH week that the Rembrandt collection of etchings and drawings remains with us at the Palace of Fine Arts, the man-in-the-street becomes more and more interested in the Master, and the broader and deeper is his interest. What at first was here and there an inclination to "do the Rembrandts," there is now a genuine concentration and a consequent flood of pleasure in the revelations that only familiarity with the prints can give. It is utterly futile to hope to get anything but a mere glimpse of the great humanist in one visit, unless it be that one is under capable guidance. A number of artists have been sufficiently interested in the public appreciation of the collection to take friends through it, bringing out the mental and aesthetic shifts of vision of the brilliant Dutchman in the various "states" of his plates, a thing that puzzles many an intelligent layman. And herein lies one of the greatest fascinations of the exhibition—this comparative relationship of the first "state" of a plate with the second or third or, in some instances, with the eighth. Then again the apocryphal second and subsequent states are interesting, as are those of the "improvers," who look in on the original and add or add to what they thought should be out or in the pictures.

Then, too, when we realize that these amazing things that J. Pierpont Morgan assembled for the decoration and refreshment of American art lovers were mostly produced by the great realist when the public, after years of adulation, turned from him to the "pretty" painters who were painting around him. Then it was that he fell back upon his needle and plate and earned his beer and skittles by them. Perhaps the urge of necessity in so great a genius quickened his perceptions and emotions—surely they ripened his sympathies. There's no artistic record of its having embittered him, for to the last there is often a touch of humor, even in his portraits of angels. Look at the faces of the angels inhabiting the etherial realms in "The Death of the Virgin," one of the noblest concepts in the collection. But then, these Dutchmen were hopeless non-conformists.

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Palace of Fine Arts, of which Mrs. Joseph Pife is president, are enjoying the privilege of giving on Tuesdays and Thursdays, under the same conditions, the regular decent charge of 50 cents per person.

The exhibition will remain but three weeks longer. Attention is called to Miss Treat's talks on the Oriental collection. Terms, 25 cents per person for groups of ten. Subjects: Prints, including Japanese wood engravings and color prints, rise and decline of Ukiyo, and some of the popular and best known masters; brocades and other textiles; lamps.

As to these amazing lamps, there's something about them quite apart from their artistic interest that arrests the attention of the reflective. What, pray, is more revealing of the inner life of a people than the lamps that light them through the labyrinth of life? They open up vistas of character—personal and national—that are more eloquent than any other domestic possession of men. This splendid collection is loaned by Mrs. Allen Rex, wife of Dr. Lewis Allen, both of whom are, or were, Oakland folk. They are now in Boston on the eve of an intensive tour of Europe, the last lap of a trot around the globe.

Carnegie Institute Show Opens Soon

From the Carnegie Institute, where our good friend, Robert E. Harsheis, who was the instrument through whom the Oakland Art Association and the Oakland Art Gallery were created and started on their way to put Oakland town upon the artistic map of the country, comes this announcement:

"Director John W. Beatty of the Department of Arts, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, announces that the international jury of award for the Nineteenth International Exhibition which opens on April 28, has been elected.

"Among the eminent men elected this year to serve as members of the jury are Julius Olsson from England, Andre Dauchez from France, who has received medals from international exhibitions in many countries, including the gold medal at the Carnegie Institute; and eight men from America who are nationally famous. Emil Carlsen is an American of Danish birth who is recognized as one of the able contemporary painters. Bruce Crane, whose 'November Hills' now in the Permanent Collection was awarded the third medal in 1909, like Carlsen, comes to Pittsburgh for the first time. Charles H. Davis has already served eight times on the jury and is represented in the Permanent Collection. Charles Hawthorne, Edward W. Redfield, W. L. Lathrop, Gardner Simons and Edmund C. Tarbell have served on previous juries. To go back to Emil Carlsen, let it be remembered that he is a San Francisco product, whose first honors were won among us.

"During twenty years eminent painters from Europe and America have assembled annually to judge the paintings and make awards. These annual visits have always been of the very highest artistic and social interest, since they have brought together very distinguished men.

"Among the famous men who have visited Pittsburgh on these occasions it will be recalled that Winslow Homer was here as a member of the first jury and again in 1901. Other distinguished painters who have served as jurors are Sir Alfred East, John Henry Twachtman, John W. Alexander, William M. Chase, Frank Duveneck, Albert Neuhaus, Jove Swann, Alden Weir, Thomas Eakins and Fritz Thaulow.

"The jury will meet in Pittsburgh on April 8 to select the paintings and award the honors. A gold medal, a silver medal and a bronze medal, carrying with them respectively prizes of fifteen hundred, one thousand, and five hundred dollars, will be awarded.

How many Californians will be represented?

Let us hope a group of uplooking men and women will have the courage to break into the big competition—they have the quality. Last year Armin Hansen and one or two more of our local men went in, and won positions of honor. That's the only way that Californians can make themselves known to the wider audiences—and shall we not state the truth and say more, the appreciative audiences?—of the East. Not enough art lovers come West to make the acquaintance of our best producers, and unhappily many who do come, fall into the clutches of some of the dealers who are conscienceless about setting out pot-boilers before the eyes of the art-lovers. This is one of the best California painters, and a fine example of his work." Naturally if the visitor has the slightest inclination to investigate what California art has to offer, he is stopped before he begins. And the tragic part of it all is there seems no way to hold up the practice, and it goes on and on.

Sometimes I think that organization among the painters and sculptors—those of them who are artists—might accomplish something. The hotel men have developed a plan diverting trade to where it should go by the simple expedient of sending out on the trains from the East well-appearing, good-speaking men and women to get acquainted with the oncoming visitors and to drop the necessary suggestion at the proper time. And hotel men say it works admirably.

Why couldn't some scouting be done to steer the visitors into our studios or into galleries that do not handle junk?

The artists, who by the way are called upon continually to do something for something or somebody, and who, being artists, never say "no," have had an interesting show and sale at the St. Francis for the benefit of the Memorial Library at Glen Ellen, to be erected by the Woman's Improvement club of the snug little town.

Thank God for the spirit that artists manifest toward life. Poor they may be in pocket, but how rich are their experiences. And how poor in contrast are thousands round about them who have only money and things.

Among the artists who responded to the call of Finn Frolich, the sculptor, close friend of Jack London, for their mite are Phillips Lewis, William H. Clapp, Elizabeth Strong, Goddard Gale, William S. Rice, Mrs. Arthur Raymond Perry, Mrs. J. V. Cannon, Mrs. S. V. Culp and Dr. Glen Ellen, to be erected by the Woman's Improvement club of the snug little town.

Thank God for the spirit that artists manifest toward life. Poor they may be in pocket, but how rich are their experiences. And how poor in contrast are thousands round about them who have only money and things.

Uncle Wiggly Stories

by HOWARD G. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE BIG BLOW

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly! You aren't going out this morning, are you?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper of the bunny rabbit gentleman, one day, as he was just starting away from his hollow stump bungalow.

"Not going out this morning?" spoke Mr. Longears, looking at Nurse Jane with a funny twinkle of his pink nose. "Why shouldn't I go out today?"

"Because it's the last day of March," replied Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, "and you know March is the month when the big winds blow. Now, we haven't had very high winds so far this month, but this is the last day, and now the wind is sure to blow very specially and extra hard, knowing it will be his last chance. So you'd better not go out or you might get blown away."

"Oh, I guess not!" laughed Uncle Wiggly. "Anyhow, I'll tie my tail silk hat on extra tight with a piece of shoe string and then it can't blow away."

"Oh, I'm sure something will happen if you go out," cried Nurse Jane anxiously like and fussy.

"Well, that will be an adventure!" cried Uncle Wiggly in a gay and jolly voice, and away he started, leaning on his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch.

Over the fields and through the woods hopped the bunny, wondering what sort of an adventure he would have when, all of a sudden, the bad old Pipseswah, and the worse Skeezicks, who had been hiding among the trees, saw the bunny rabbit.

"Oh, ho!" cried the Pipseswah, this is our chance to catch the rubber chap, Mr. Skeezicks.

"Why have we a better chance today, than at any other time?" the Skeezicks wanted to know.

"Because I have just thought of a fine trick by which we can catch Uncle Wiggly," went on the Pipseswah. "You know this is the last day of March, when the wind is sure to blow very hard. Now we'll wait until the wind blows and then we'll grab him. We've tried many ways of catching him, but he always gets away."

"Well, maybe that will be a good way," agreed the Skeezicks. "Let's wait for the wind to blow Uncle Wiggly upside down. We'll follow along behind him, and when the March wind blows he'll grab him. We've tried many ways of catching him, but he always gets away."

"He won't get away this time!" boasted the Pipseswah.

So they followed along behind Uncle Wiggly over the fields and through the woods but, somehow or other, the strong March wind did not blow. There was only a summer breeze.

When he was going to turn upside down, asked the Skeezicks of the Pipseswah. "I'm getting tired of waiting."

"Oh, it will happen soon now," answered the Pipseswah. "I call him for now. I think I feel a breeze."

But it was only a gentle spring one, such as come before April showers. The March wind did not seem to want to blow itself out, as it sometimes does.

"I'll tell you what we must do," said the Pipseswah at last.

"What?" asked the Skeezicks.

"We must get some big palm leaf fans and make a March wind of our own," cried the bad animal.

"Hurray!" cried the Skeezicks.

"That's what we'll do. We'll wave the fans so hard that they'll make a big blow and Uncle Wiggly will be blown upside down and we can catch him then!"

So the Pipseswah and the Skeezicks hopped off and found some big palm leaf fans in a coccanut grove. Back they came and, hiding behind Uncle Wiggly, they waved the fans up and down and sideways and through the middle, and they made a very strong breeze.

"Oh, ho!" The March wind is blowing!" cried Uncle Wiggly. "I had better hide in this hollow stump until it gets tired of breezing. Then I'll come out!"

So he hid in a hollow stump, which he happened to see.

"Oh, we must blow him out of that!" cried the Skeezicks.

So he and the Pipseswah waved their fans as hard as they could, but they couldn't blow hard enough to blow Uncle Wiggly out of the stump, and they couldn't blow the stump over, either.

And then, all of a sudden, the March wind, himself, seeing what the two bad animals were doing, cried: "Hal! Now I'll show you what a big blow is like!"

So the March wind puffed out his cheeks, and he blew and he blew and he blew, and he blew the Pipseswah over backward, and the Skeezicks was blown over sideways, but Uncle Wiggly, safe in the hollow stump, wasn't blown at all. Then the March wind blew the two bad animals far away, so they couldn't get Uncle Wiggly that day.

And then the March wind blew very softly, and said: "Come on out, Uncle Wiggly. It's all right."

News of the Theaters

FULTON

"Penrod," Booth Tarkington's new story, which has been declared the greatest tale of boy life ever created, is to be the attraction of the Fulton theater during the coming week.

It will provide a wonderful opportunity for the lad, who is only years old and who already has distinguished himself frequently. "Penrod" will not be the only young actor in the cast. There will be half a dozen or more. Charles Matouf, of the well-known actor, Hugh Hopper, is to play "Penrod." It is to be "Penrod," Kenneth White, "Hermion," and Sylvia Schmitz, "Charlene Jones," who actually admires the intrepid hero.

Because "Penrod" was a boy scout and the Oakland Boy Scouts have evinced so much interest, they are to have a Boy Scout night, Wednesday night, when they will be admitted at half price, which same arrangement will prevail at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Maude Fulton's own latest play, "Tomorrow," never before produced anywhere, is announced for the week following, with Maude Fulton beginning her six weeks' season.

FRANKLIN

"Mary Ellen Comes to Town" is the title under which the picture "Little Dorothy Gish" comes to Oakland in her newest picture this week. She is at the Franklin. Her usual vivacity is used to good advantage in her part as Mary Ellen when she tries to put a little pep in a town which is a little dead. She looks for a stage career and gets as far as third-class in the big city and winds up by appointing the big flashlight glare in the eyes of a ring of shady crooks.

The latest "Hank Mann" comedy, "The Paperhanger," needs no apology for its place on the bill nor does a headlinar cartoon, tragedy and the Franklin Klippings feature.

KINEMA

What stuttering comedy can be made "good stuff" even in the movies is shown by the work of Charles Ray in his new picture, "Alarm Clock," which on which Oakland will have its first opportunity to pass judgment this afternoon at the Kinema.

And is a beautiful truck salesman for whom the song "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning" was written. The "stuttering" gets to monkeying with his car and he wakes up and lands in the Big Order, if you may say so. George Ade's capitalization, "Vampires," and Morell present a dancing program and "Uncle Sam" is the comedy offering.

AMERICAN

Tom Mix becomes a member of the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police and "excuses" for pulling the kind of stunts that have already brought him fame in the pictures in which he appears at the American.

The picture, "The Cyclone," on the same bill is another big feature in the "Luck of General Laid." Bessie Parrish, Miss Bessie Parrish's new play is one in which a woman, separated from her husband by circumstances, battles her way to a happy life. It is a big, vital story, charmingly acted and brilliantly written. John Whitney, Lewis orchestra and Duke at the organ furnish the musical program.

T. & D.

Maillon Hamilton, co-star with Maillon Stewart in many of her big productions, comes to the T. & D. today as the star of her own feature, "The Third Generation." Supporting Hamilton will be Betty Blithe, another star who may blaze her name as a screen celebrity.

"The Third Generation" offers a most intense dramatic plot showing the blood stains that may be carried through hereditary and furnishing the story of a situation in which three men draw lots to determine which one shall commit suicide in order that the other two may profit by his death.

"The Amazing Woman," starring Pauline and will be the second feature. Wednesday, Lew Cody will be seen in "The Beloved Cheater" and Maillon Hamilton appears in "The Country Cousin."

"Parsifal" Music Planned To Precede "Stabat Mater"

Berkeley Has an Orchestra of Its Own

By ROY HARRISON DAVENPORT

MOST notable among recent Good Friday revivals of Rossini's "Stabat Mater," will be that of next Friday when it will be sung there for the tenth annual time under the auspices of the Berkeley Choral Society and the direction of Paul Steindorff, choragus of the University of California. The presence of Miss Mabel Rigelman in the chief soprano role helps guarantee the importance of the event.

Yesterday Mr. Steindorff announced that the concert first part of the program would consist of just two numbers, the "Good Friday Spell" music from the third act of "Parsifal," and a romance, op. 26, Johann Svendsen, by Mrs. Mildred Wright. Eva Gruning, er Anderson, C. R. Morse and O. G. Erickson will be the other singers.

The concluding rehearsal of the chorus of 200 voices which will support the soloists will be held Tuesday night in Unity hall, Bancroft way, at Dana street, Berkeley. This chorus is made up of the Berkeley Choral Society, the San Francisco Choral Society and the Wednesday Morning Choral, as well as of selected individual singers. The last orchestra rehearsal will be Thursday evening.

Berkeley Players Form Orchestra.

Berkeley is to have its own citizens' orchestra; in fact, already has such an orchestra and developed to such a state that it will offer its maiden program to the public at the Berkeley high school auditorium the evening of April 8. The orchestra, which has Anton H. Embes, director of music in the Berkeley schools as its conductor, will be maintained by an associate membership which are to be announced later, and admission to the concerts will be by complimentary tickets issued to the active and associate membership.

The program for the first concert will include "Overture to 'Maria,' suite from 'Carmen' (No. 1), 'Dance Arabesque' and 'Dance Russe' from the 'Nutcracker Suite,' 'march from Haydn's Military Symphony, 'Marsch der 'Last Dream of the Virgin' (string orchestra), and several other numbers.

Dramatic Soprano To Give Recital.

An interesting concert announcement is that of Mrs. Leonore Gordon Foy, dramatic soprano, who will be heard at the Hotel Claremont on Wednesday evening April 7 under the direction of Miss Z. W. Potter. Mrs. Foy has appeared at the Opera Comique in Paris and the Manhattan Opera House, New York, in leading roles, and will render a program in keeping with her knowledge and mastery of classical songs.

Mrs. LEONORE GORDON FOY (above), who will give recital at Berkeley, and Mrs. EVA GRUNINGER ANDERSON, who will sing contralto role in the "Stabat Mater."

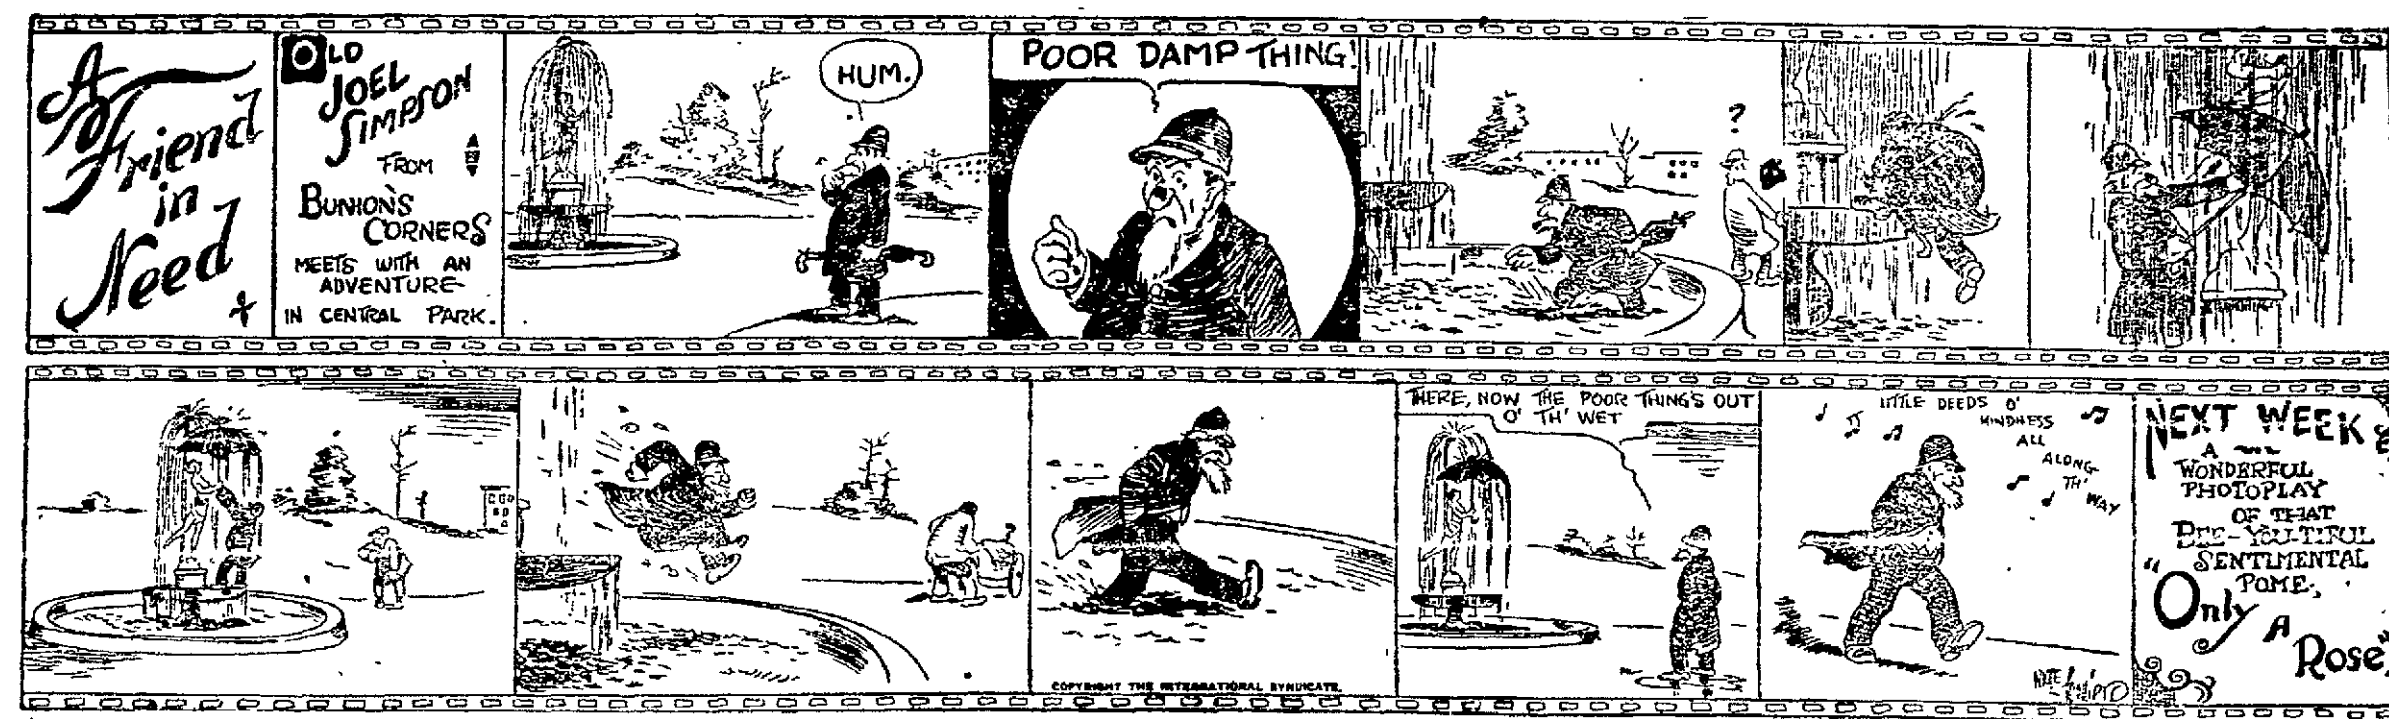

Frederick Maurer who accompanies Mrs. Foy, is represented on the program by one of his own compositions, the "Carol."

U. C. Concert Is Re-Dated April 10.

The festival concert which was scheduled by the Greek theater for Saturday, March 20, was postponed on account of inclement weather to Saturday, April 10, at which time conditions will be more favorable for this gala event.

The Greek theater has announced that all tickets purchased for the original concert will be honored on the subsequent date. The program to be given at this time will be the same as announced heretofore. The concert will be given by the California Orchestral Society, a symphony orchestra of seventy players under Orpheus Club To Give Concert.

Augmented through the return of former members and through the addition of many new voices, the Oakland Orpheus Club promises an old-time Orpheus concert April 13. The program will be built around one cantata and two heavy chorus numbers. The cantata is "The Birth of Love" by J. H. Brewer, and is featured throughout by striking harmonic effects. A tenor solo is included, together with passages in unison for the basses and a duet which the first and second tenor parts will sing. "Hymn to Music" by Lachner, and "The Strength of the Hills" by W. Rhys-Herbert will flank the cantata, and are being carefully prepared.

Easter Program Planned at Hights.

AN FRANCISCO, March 27.

—The California Liberator, organ of the Anti-Saloon League, discusses Franklin Hichborn's circular letter urging the "drys" to vote for Kent because of his support of prohibition in 1916. At that time Hichborn was the superintendent of the league's publicity department, and as such was the editor of the Liberator. Consequently it engages in the controversy with knowledge and seaminess. Mr. Kent's assistance to the dry movement appears to have consisted in sending to Mr. Hichborn from Washington (at that time he was a member of Congress) certain data which was used against the wine interests of California. The comment on this is that "the united dry forces of California, which made the great campaign of 1916, never learned that they were under obligation to Mr. Kent till four years later," when the hitherto unheralded statement is announced to California prohibitionists in an effort to promote Mr. Kent's candidacy for Senator. On the other hand, goes on the comment, it is well known that Kent voted against the Hobson bill, which provided for the submission of a prohibition amendment, and was the first great dry measure to receive a majority vote in Congress. It is surprising that a point should have been attempted for Kent on his dry record. This consideration of the subject is strictly confined to a rather narrow record. A more interesting one could be had upon a general basis that is founded on common knowledge.

Ten Years' Search for a Site

An action brought in the Superior Court recalls the initial tragedy of the great fire of 1906. The first shock on that terrible day in April toppled the tall chimney of the California hotel upon the firehouse adjacent, in the second story of which Chief Dennis T. Sullivan lived. He was asleep and the mass of masonry crushed upon his bed with fatal effect. Sullivan was a very efficient and popular official, and it was considered that had his life been spared, not as great devastation would have ensued. He had made a study of fighting fires in large cities, having given particular attention to the process of blowing up buildings when other methods had failed. He made an especial trip to Baltimore to gather data on a considerable conflagration which had occurred not a great while before San Francisco's experience. So popular was Chief Sullivan, and so tragic was his death, that a movement was started to perpetuate his memory in a monument. This was more than ten years ago, and the public had fairly lost sight of the project till this suit was brought by a member of the fire department who had subscribed $50 to the fund. Nothing having been done, he sued for the return of his money. It is disclosed that there is now $20,000 in the Sullivan monument fund, on deposit with the Mission Savings Bank. The treasurer explains that the reason it has not been applied to the purpose for which it was collected is that a suitable site for the monument could not be obtained, or settled upon. It turns out that the man who brought the suit doesn't seek the return of his money, but found it to be the only means of getting action on the memorial. Ten years of futile search for a site for a monument indicates a scarcity of real estate in the city that is a surprise.

Maeterlinck a Boxer

Perhaps forty-nine out of fifty who went to hear—and see—Maeterlinck considered him only as the author of the "Blue Bird." This percentage may be low, but if so considered it may be extended to include "Monna Vanna" and "The Life of the Bee." Certainly, after reading one of his books one gets the idea of a soulful personality, a philosopher who dwells apart, one given to dreams. The ladies were most taken with him. That he can write such lovely things; that he can discuss in such a soulful way the mystic problems that have been up since rational discussion began and is not settled yet, would naturally prove a greater attraction to the feminine mind than the male. I overheard an interesting confab regard the great Belgian that impels these observations. One of the confabers had just heard of the author's more material traits. She could understand how he could be a mystic and possess the other traits suggested by his writings; but she could not understand how he could be a boxer—could find it possible to indulge in the practices of those horrid persons who engage in combat with their fists—nor how he can content himself with driving an automobile, and even tinkering it when something goes wrong. Verily, there is danger to the great when they descend to the commonplaces of life.

"Pinafore" Redivivus

The announcement that "Pinafore" is to be revived here causes a general hark-back, and those who get it right will figure that the original farce of the successful satire began forty-two years ago. But comparatively few even then will remember that Alice Oates was the first to produce it in San Francisco. It made a great hit in England because the satire was directed at the nationally well-known characteristics of an English institution. As reproduced by Alice Oates the public here did not at first catch on. After it was taken up by local juveniles—Frank Unger, Miss Wheeler (Mrs. McCormick, afterwards) and others—it became all the rage. It was played under all sorts of conditions, Sir Joseph Porter coming over the side of a real ship and with all the naval accessories, as well as with stage illusions, and it was fairly played into the ground. It is possible that the psychological time has arrived for its revival. We have a secretary of the navy who, in the hands of an acute press agent, might well figure in some of the attitudes that Sir Joseph did to a past generation. The rulers of our navy in that far time were not provocative of satire; but there has been much said and printed of late to lead to the belief that the American people are much better prepared to appreciate the satire embodied in "Pinafore" than they were when it was first sprung.

Old-Time Campaigning

Somebody has sent me a cabinet photograph of the vintage of 1876, which not only induces a hark back, but causes thought as to the change that time has wrought in the political way of doing. It shows the headquarters of the Hayes Invincibles, an organization which put forth its exertions in that historic year in behalf of the Republican nominee for President. The headquarters were in Horticultural Hall, in Stockton street, between Sutter and Post. What a galaxy of familiar names are marshaled as officers—W. H. L. Barnes, Horace Davis, Alex. G. Abell, Marcus D. Boruck, W. W. Dodge, Eugene Sullivan, Charles Lux, Fulton Berry, George T. Bromley, Irving M. Scott, Cornelius O'Connor, and others, with Samuel C. Harding to marshal the processions, and Jacob Steppacher to keep things straight as secretary! I wonder if one of the forty officials in one way or another connected with that organization is still here to read the reference to it? Presidential years used to be prolific of many enjoyments. It was in presidential years that orators particularly blossomed. The versifier with a knack of knocking out catchy verses for the glee club was in demand. The man who found enjoyment in a cocked hat and sash and thus arrayed, galloping up and down the parade lines, found his opportunity. The torches, the brass banding, the fireworks, the buzzards, the enthusiasm engendered in every way, is something to look back upon with pleasure. But such type of getting men in line for their political duty came to be decried. Arose a class that taught us that it was all wrong. We were reformed. Nowadays a presidential campaign is a sad and somber proceeding. It is not our province to say that the old plan was the best, but we can't help believing that it had its enjoyments.

The Trail of R. L. S.

Nellie Van de Griff Sanchez, in her story of the life of her sister, Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, gives interesting glimpses of local color. It is recalled that the Osbournes took a house in East Oakland and resided there for about a year. That was in 1869. Mrs. Osbourne was then "a young and slender woman, wearing her hair in two long braids down her back." Though she cared little for society in the general sense, she contrived to gather about her a small intimate circle of clever and agreeable people. Among them were Judge Timothy Beardon, well known attorney and litterateur; Virgil Williams, director of the San Francisco School of Design; Mrs. William; Yelland, Bush and other artists of more than local repute; Oscar Weil, musician, and others. Mrs. Osbourne and her daughter, Isolde, who became the wife of Jo Strong, the artist, studied under Virgil Williams. In 1875 Mrs. Osbourne, whose husband had deserted her, went to France with her three children. At Grez she met Robert Louis Stevenson. Later she returned to this country. Stevenson, following, and after securing a divorce from Osbourne she and the novelist were married in this city, May 19, 1880. The Stevensons made their home in Oakland, in a little cottage at Eleventh avenue and East Eighteenth street, where the first chapters of "Prince Otto" were written. "Chief among the amusements with which we tried to brighten the extreme quietude of our lives in the Oakland house was reading aloud," says Mrs. Sanchez. "We obtained books from the Mercantile Library of San Francisco, among which I remember the works of Francis Parkman, who was a great favorite with Mr. Stevenson." "Mr. Stevenson was a citizen of the world in his capacity to understand the points of view of other men, of whatever race, creed or color, and it was this catholicity of spirit that made it possible for him to sit on the benches of Portsmouth Square, in San Francisco, and learn something of real life from the flotsam and jetsam cast up there by fate." Stevenson liked the far western flavor of San Francisco, with its added tang of the Orient and the feeling of adventure blowing in on its salt sea breezes. Mrs. Sanchez remembers many walks with him up Telegraph Hill. In accounts of his San Francisco days there is much about restaurants where he took his meals. "The one that I particularly remember," says Mrs. Sanchez, "was a place kept by Frank Garcia, familiarly known as 'Frank's.' This place, being moderately expensive, was probably frequented only on special occasions, when fortune was in one of her smiling moods. Food was good and cheap and in good variety in those days, and venison steak was as often served up to us at Frank's as beef; while canvasback ducks had not yet flown out of the poor man's sight. So we had many a savory meal there, generally served by a waiter named Monroe, with whom Mr. Stevenson now and then exchanged a jest. I remember one day when Monroe, remarking on the depression of spirits from which Louis suffered during the temporary absence of the women of his family, said he had 'half a mind to serve him a piece of calico on a plate!'"

The Artist Colony of Grez

Through reading the story of the Osbournes and Stevensons is recalled a character who must have gone to his reward at least a quarter of a century ago. He was interesting through his reminiscences as a member of the artist colony at Grez at the time R. L. S. and Mrs. Osbourne lived there. His name was Holdredge. The legend was that in his earlier years he gave such artistic promise that he was financed for a season of study abroad by a San Francisco patron of art—a class, by the way, which seemed to be larger forty years ago than it is today. Notwithstanding Holdredge's natural endowments he fell by the wayside, and after returning here, presumably after it had been made apparent that he would attain no distinction in art by remaining there, he devoted the few years that remained of a shattered life to painting pictures for immediate delivery, the proceeds for which would be applied at once to quenching a never dying thirst. When anyone evinced the slightest willingness to buy one of Holdredge's pictures, he would retire to the tank house, or wherever he lodged, execute it and reappear in an hour with it under his arm, to deliver and collect. Holdredge claimed to have been on more or less intimate terms with R. L. S., and to have been fully acquainted with the details of his infatuation for Mrs. Osbourne. The artist colony of Grez was ultra-bohemian, according to Holdredge, and some of the stories he told were heavily discounted because of the mental state he was often in when he went reminiscing.

A Financial Napoleon's Will

R. G. Hanford's will, offered for probate last Saturday, was drawn a little over a year ago, when it had been well established by the inability of those holding judgments to realize "clearly that his estate had small substance" of the bequeathed lavishly. Perhaps he counted on his fortunes being recouped in the immediate future, for he was truly a financial wizard. He had made two fortunes, to see them vanish, and it is not certain that he had not made good headway toward another. It was rumored at the time of his death that he had a big contingent interest in a steam heating project for New York City. Considering the experiences that that city went through last winter, any general plan calculated to increase the city's warmth should be a big go. The interesting story concerning Hanford's will, or at least the probating of it, has not been told. It is that its probating has been placed in the hands of Metson & Drev. Why this is interesting is because this firm holds a judgment against the deceased for $25,000, obtained on a claim for attorney's fees. The fact was pointed out when the firm was solicited to attend to the probate business, but had already been considered and was waived and the law firm urged to take up the case.

The First Bishop of California

A document of historical interest has turned up in this city. It is a papal bull—the original—appointing the first Catholic Bishop of California. It was issued by Pope Gregory XVI, at St. Peter's, Rome, in the year 1840, "5th kalends of May" (about the 25th of April), in the tenth year of his pontificate. It is a very long drawn out document, reciting that the church of California, in North America, under the jurisdiction of Mexico, "is devoid of the solicitude of a pastor," and that by careful study "we have maintained, after due deliberation, to appoint for this church in California the chief pastor, and such deliberation we have had most diligently with our venerable fathers and cardinals of the Ecclesiastical See of Rome; finally, to thee, born from Catholic and honorable parents out of legitimate wedlock, in the diocese of Guadalajara, 34 years of age, and before priest and lector of holy theology," and with much admonition and behoof, Francis Garcia Diego, "Friar of the Order of Friars," is consecrated the first Bishop of California. At the time this bull was issued the missions had all been secularized. That at Santa Barbara is the only one that retains a semblance of its former estate. Its broad acres have been sequestered, and its thousands of acolytes have disappeared; but the main mission buildings remain and have been kept in repair. This mission was the home of Francis Garcia Diego, and he is buried in its chapel, with the record of his priestly honors engraved on his tomb. The bull is a formidable document in itself, evincing vast pains and considerable labor in its preparation. It is written in a confusing script on sheep parchment, is bound by a thick cord and sealed by leaden seals, which gives the document an official air, but goes no farther in protecting it than preventing the cords being taken off without cutting or tearing the document. It is said that parchment, cord and leaden seals were all prepared within the Vatican by special processes. Also it is said that in that day such edicts were sent by special messenger, who was kept under surveillance by another, to the end that if mishap befell him, the document would not be lost nor delayed. How such a document turns up here at this time—though it may, not improperly, belong here as part of legitimate Californiana—I have not been able to fathom. Evidently it found its way out of church archives in the City of Mexico, where it had lain for eighty years, through some unusual process, perhaps one of the revolutions which in recent times have swept that country.

California's Automobiles

G. E. Daniels of Oakland, who recently resigned from the State motor license bureau to take up his duties as market director, succeeding Harris Weinstock, thinks there will be half a million motor vehicles in use at the end of the year. Since February 1 there had been collected the sum of $3,223,111.96, which is represented to be more than was collected for the first quarter of 1919 and which is exclusive of some $250,000 collected at Los Angeles. It should be understood that the "motor year" begins with February. From all sources it is believed that not less than four million dollars have been collected since the motor year began. It is interesting to know where this money goes. Last year ten per cent went for administration, 45 to the State Engineer's department and 45 was apportioned to different counties for construction and repairs. Under the head of administration is to be figured the expense of maintaining the motor license bureau, the department of accident avoidance, the legal department and the office and executive forces. The licenses issued average 3500 a day.

A Leader Revisits Us

Whatever headway has been made by the visiting labor leaders in settling the strike in the metal trades, some social friendships have been renewed and some former acquaintanceships lived over again, as well as experiences of a quarter of a century ago recalled. It was at least as long ago as that that J. J. Valentine, now president of the Iron Molders' International, was the head of the San Francisco Molders' Union. And it will be remembered that in molder circles there were things doing here in that day that required considerable stamina. Valentine had the quality required in labor leadership, and was sent to the national convocation to represent the San Francisco union. He displayed qualities there that led to his being elected international president, which position he has held ever since, and which led to his removal from California. His friends and acquaintances here like to say that he is one of the foremost of national labor leaders, and they have given him a reception that indicates the friendliness felt for him by his former associates.

Economy Not Wanted

San Francisco's board of supervisors was never a place where economy suggestions found a cordial reception. Consequently no surprise was occasioned when Auditor Thomas Boyle's request for an automobile for use as a "pay car" was turned down with cold emphasis. Boyle's idea was to use the automobile to pay off the thousands of employees in the several departments of the city and county government. It was founded in good reason and on sound precedents in the development of efficiency in private business establishments as well as in some of the more progressive municipal administrations of the country. By delivering the paychecks to the city's employees on the job the necessity of having the men lay down their tools and come to the auditor's office on the city's time would be avoided. Under the present system the men lose on an average of two hours each pay day. As there are many of them and several pay days a year the total avoidable loss is estimated to amount to over $100,000 a year. But the supervisors gave the money-saving project the proverbial axe. They were expected to do this, so no one is disappointed.

Maggie Moore Comes Back

The announcement in the Melbourne papers of the return to the stage of Maggie Moore will recall some earlier dramatic history. Maggie Moore was born in San Francisco, and won her way from the humbler levels into high popular favor, very much as Lotta did. Her first popularity was through appearances of a vaudeville character; but she excelled in sustained parts, which attracted the attention of J. C. Williamson, a very excellent comedian, with whom she appeared in "Struck Oil," and whom she married. "Struck Oil" was written around the furore and stories evolved from the oil discoveries in Pennsylvania, in their day as celebrated as the discoveries in Texas and Louisiana are today. A character of the time was "Coal Oil Johnny," a veritable personage, by the way, exemplifying the good natured spendthrift, and after his accidental fortune was gone, the perfectly satisfied prodigal. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson went to Australia forty-six years ago, and Williamson became a managerial magnate, acquiring great wealth and fairly controlling the greater theatrical enterprises of the colony.

The Poor Landlord!

Really, a tender-hearted person might pity the poor landlord without any reserved derision. The unlucky consumer, being hit all along the line without being able to hit back—often without even a sure knowledge of where the blow comes from—is inclined to take it all out on the landlord. Here at last is a definite mark. He can be pilloried, held up as an awful example of the profiteer. And so, besides being held up to execration he is made the objective of the organized wrath of rent payers, and occasionally is refused his rent money, and even gets threatened for damages. I have just had a conversation with a landlord who, in his other capacities, I always regarded as quite a decent chap. He was telling me what may be the landlord's story—about increased taxes, increased cost of conservation, increased expense in repairs, increased cost of inspection—everything costs more. He says that 50 percent added to the landlord's expense would not cover the increase. It is singular, according to his representation, that immediately what used to be considered legitimate costs began to increase, new costs began to appear in the form of inspections, restrictions, etc. The plumbing has to be inspected with greater frequency, and things amiss are discovered where they were not suspected; "and when you get a plumber in the house, good night!" Without presuming to come to the defense of the landlord at all I could join in a chorus and pity him. I am under no obligation to him, however, any more than I have a desire to "soak" him.

Kiting of Real Estate Values

There is of course a per contra in rent profiteering. A system has been explained to me that the public may not know about. Sharps examine the records and find where a lease of a lodging or apartment house is about to expire. They seek the proprietor and get the price at which he is willing to sell. Say it is $30,000. They then drum up an investor and show him that here is a property that pays 10 per cent on $10,000—the rents having been increased to that extent. The investor may not have made the increase, or at least may not have known that it was part of a scheme to induce him to buy. The tenants, however, abate none of their fury because of his innocence. There are represented to be many places to which values of property are kited to furnish basis for the raising of rents. It exemplifies the fact that the upward trend of the cost of living gives sharps their opportunity, and there is no doubt that it is in considerable measure responsible for the outcry against a class of profiteers that must necessarily include the square landlord.

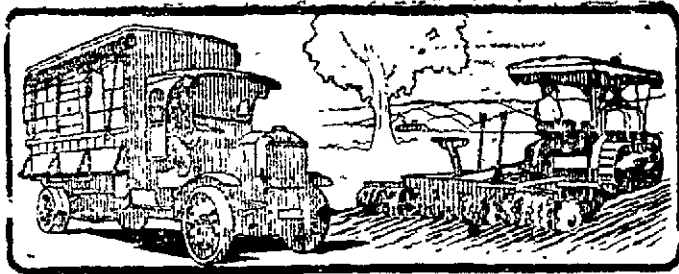

Reason for An Increase

Three weeks ago I gave the news of a concerted raise in hotel rates. The action was not exactly explicable, coming in just the way it did. Of course, a raise in the price of anything does not produce excitement in these times; but as to hotel rates, there was no peak that seemed to urge such action. The tourist season was past its rush, and the patronage of hotels had not otherwise crowded the accommodations. This is a story that is going around in this connection: When the effort was being made to induce the Democratic hosts to hold their national convention in San Francisco, all the advantages of the city as a converging point for such a convocation was urged, and many promises were made. One of these is exacted from every city which gets a national political convention. It is that hotel rates shall not be advanced beyond those normally prevailing; that rates shall not be put up for the occasion. Thus it would appear that rates established in March can be truthfully claimed to be normally prevailing in June, and there you have an explanation of the raise.

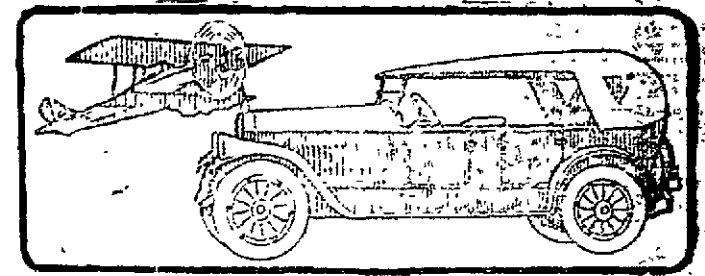

Holdup of Gallagher's Salary

The clash between the auditor and treasurer over Gallagher's salary as Sealer of Weights and Measures is altogether unusual. There is almost no precedent for the treasurer refusing to pay a claim to which the auditor has given his O. K. The ostensible grounds for the treasurer withholding the money is the irregularity alleged as to the appointment. The office of sealer, it is claimed, comes within the category of civil service, and the vacancy should have been filled by advancement of a man in the service. A plan of sidestepping any such provision of the charter was devised, and was supposed to be working all right, when the treasurer dropped this money wrench in the machinery. It is wondered if the real cause of the treasurer's action does not lie further back than a strict construction of the charter, governing the succession in the weights and measures bureau. It is remembered that some months ago one of the newspapers published inner facts of a certain fine of action on the part of the municipal board, which were believed to have been prompted by the treasurer and auditor. They were haled before that body, and on their appearance upon the carpet were taken in hand by Gallagher.

Jack London's Ideal Valley Is Easily Reached By Automobile Plans Are Announced for Annual Tribune Tour to Yosemite Valley; Early Date Has Been Set

14 CARS ARE ENTERED IN YEARLY RUN

By JIM HOULIHAN.
The 1920 touring season in Northern California will be officially ushered in by the Annual TRIBUNE Tour to Camp Curry in Yosemite Valley. The dates selected, May 8, 9 and 10, are the earliest in the valley's history that motorists, bent on a sociability outing have invaded California's famed wonderland, and they are assured by Sierra Nevada weather prophets, familiar with climatic conditions that the heavy snows which now blanket the mountain tops and bury the roads under a solid covering of white will have melted in time ample enough to make traveling a matter of genuine pleasure.

The lure of the mountains already permeates the veins of every red blooded tourist, the hankering to again invade the higher altitudes is making many motorists restless until the time arrives when once again the radiator is nosed eastward bound for nature's wonderlands in the Sierras.

Tentative plans have been in the making for the past two weeks and while this is the first definite announcement concerning the yearly run, enough information has reached

Broken Piston Ring Is Easy to Remove

Piston rings seldom break, but when one does it is not difficult to insert a new ring if the job is tackled in the right way. Remove the connecting rod cap and pull the piston out from below. The rings may be slipped on or off the piston by inserting thin strips of sheet metal under them to prevent their dropping into the grooves until they are in their proper places. Pieces of old hack-saw blades are good for this purpose.

AIR EXHIBITS COMING TO S. F. SHOW

When the Second Annual Aeronautical Show in New York closed its doors March 17, many of the exhibits packed their exhibits, hauled them to the railroad depots and loaded them on the cars bound west to San Francisco for the National Aeronautical Show in the Civic Auditorium, April 21 to 25. These exhibits will be supplemented by others which the manufacturers will have had a greater time to prepare.

Several of the manufacturers have informed the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association, which has sanctioned the San Francisco Show, that if there were an adequate system of landing fields across the country they would fly their planes to San Francisco. All of the planes are capable of the flight.

It has been brought out at conference of government officials and civilians interested in aeronautics that second only to the design and construction of the planes is the provision by the government, States and municipalities of an adequate system of landing fields.

During the war, when hundreds and thousands of young Americans were in the air service, fields were established all over the country and were a marked help to cross-country flying. Since the cessation of hostilities and the complete "junking" of its air program, both military and the airplane program by Congress, civilian these fields have been abandoned and now the United States is lagging far behind the European nations in its air program.

Kerosene Will Clean Sticky Valve Stems
As a general thing the valve stems need no lubrication. If they stick because of carbon deposits they may be cleaned by injecting kerosene into the air valve of the carburetor while the engine is running. Some of the kerosene will pass down the valve stem and soften and wash off the carbon. A mixture of one-half kerosene and one-half lubricating oil may be squirted on the valve stems.

AUTOISTS TO VISIT VALLEY OF THE MOON

By EMIL REINHARDT.
The Valley of the Moon, to the average motorist, what does it mean? There's only one way to enjoy what Jack London termed "one of the finest spots to breathe the fresh air, good Nature has given us," and that is to visit this section yourself.

Each year, tens of thousands of motorists seeking spots where they can rest free to enjoy days or weekends amongst trees where cool streams wind their way.

In order to give a thorough knowledge to the busy section motorist, a TRIBUNE Map party is a new series Chalmers touring car, driven by William Hanchett, sales manager of the Lou H. Rose Company, spent the day in these regions scanning every possible nook and corner for points of interest.

California is known the world over for its summer resorts and mineral springs. If you will follow this map closely you will find its takes in results that are well known.

SCENERY ALONG ROUTE.
An early start from Oakland will give one ample time to enjoy every scenic point along the route. If you wish to keep exact with the map, set the odometer back to zero at The TRIBUNE building before starting on the trip.

The TRIBUNE Pathfinders left the TRIBUNE building, went out on San Pablo Avenue to Cutting Boulevard in Richmond, over this boulevard to Point Richmond and then over a narrow strip to the Richmond-San Rafael ferry.

The title on the ferry is not at all uninteresting. After arriving on the Marin side your trip starts with a splendid view of San Pablo Bay. The highway from Point San Quentin on is very good, until after you pass through San Rafael and Ignacio, where the Black Point cut-off starts.

REDUCE MILEAGE.
If you have ever made this trip

JACK LONDON BLAZED WAY TO VALLEY

You will agree with the writer that Black Point cut-off is not the best existing road for travel, but in order to save a lot of extra mileage this route should be taken.

The old detour along this is in much better condition than it was last year, some work having been done. The road gradually improves after you cross the bridge over the Redwood creek and from Shellville to Sonoma, gravel has been hardened.

SEVEN MILES OF HIGHWAY WILL BE IMMEDIATELY BUILT OVER THE UNPAVED STRETCH ON THE LOWER road to San Jose, affording the motorist two completely paved roads when driving to that point. The Pacheco Auto Company last week took a Jordan and mapped the two routes for The TRIBUNE. The photo on the lower left shows where the lower road branches off to Mt. Eden just below San Leandro; upper right, where they again meet at Warm Springs.

Enthusiasm High Among Motorists Tribune Tour Entries Ready for Trip

The cars of motor car dealers to cause fourteen of them to request permission to enter cars. This number will likely be doubled during the coming week and the list of those allowed to participate will probably close April 15.

Numerous entertainment features are receiving consideration. The Tribune will add to the general good time of two hundred or more taking part in the outing will be adopted as a part of the tentative scheme to film the motorists at the most scenic points in the valley and along the mountain route on the journey into the park.

VETERANS ENTER RUN Two of the oldest men in the automobile business on the coast—Charles Howard of the Buick and Chester N. Weaver, Studebaker—are listed among the first entrants. Weaver has participated in every run held within the last eight years, with the exception of one, when he was called East to the Studebaker factory on urgent business matters.

Charles Griffith, with the Auer-Pulman Co., will drive the Official Chairman Car, while one of Al. G. Fauskner's Marmon's will carry the press representatives.

The Pilot car for the trip will be a Buick, driven by Freddie Gross, veteran pilot. Ray Holloway with the McFarland and L. D. Allen with the Cole Aero Eight, are also among the early entrants.

MEET LOS ANGELES TOURISTS Co-incidental with the arrival of the local dealers in the Valley the motor car merchants of Los Angeles will reach there on their Annual Economy Run, so that the automobile trade of both Northern and Southern California should be pretty well represented in the Yosemite at that time.

A novel feature is that the tour is to be a "blind run." At the start, each entrant will be given a sealed envelope containing his running time, which is not to be opened until he is checked in at the Valley. Those making the run closest to the time set in their "sealed orders" will be awarded appropriate prizes to be put up by The TRIBUNE.

As has already been mentioned, the trip will extend over a period of three days—May 8, 9 and 10. Leaving Oakland early on Saturday morning May 8 the dealers will proceed to the Yosemite via Merced and Mariposa. Merced should be reached in time for a late lunch and the party will probably arrive in the Yosemite between 10 and 11 o'clock the same night.

DANCE AT CURRY'S A dance will be held at Camp Curry on the first night and the winners of the run will be awarded their prizes. Otto Wallisch, well-known Olympic club athlete, has been appointed chairman of the entertainment committee. Anyone knowing Wallisch will readily realize that the entertainment will not lag.

Sunday, the second day, will be devoted to hikes to the many points of interest that has made the Valley famous. Foster Curry the general host of Camp Curry is preparing to make things unusually interesting for his guests this year. Few motorists there are in California who do not know Curry and the splendid accommodations afforded them at the camp bearing his name. With the signing of the nineteen-year government lease on the camp properties a few days ago, Curry is planning to make the popular hostelry even better and greater than it has been in the past.

START HOME MAY 10TH Motorists leaving May 10, will find the "Sociabilists" hitting the trail for home. The trail in this case being the road through Big Oak Flat, providing that route is then open to motor travel.

Dealers desiring to enter the run may forward their applications for entrance to the automobile editor of any of the San Francisco papers or to Jim Houlihan, of The Oakland TRIBUNE.

Highways leading out of Detroit are guarded by troops of the Michigan state constabulary for the purpose of apprehending automobile thieves and recovering stolen motor cars.

Local motorists take a keen interest in the fact that the Board of Supervisors has awarded the contract for the construction of seven miles of highway on that portion of the "lower" road to San Jose that will remain unpaved.

This seven mile stretch extends from the junction of the Mt. Eden road and East Fourteenth street, through Mt. Eden and San Lorenzo to the Alameda township line. The paving of the road there assures the motorist of two completely paved highways to Warm Springs, and should go far toward relieving the congestion on the present route through Hayward, Niles and the Mission. The cost of this work amounts to $208,400.

Louis Pacheco, Oakland Jordan dealer, last week mapped the two roads for The TRIBUNE.

"Contrary to report," claims Pacheco, "this work will not shorten the distance to San Jose by seven miles. As a matter of fact, the difference in mileage over the two routes, from the point where they part at the Mt. Eden junction until they again convene at Warm Springs, is exactly six-tenths of a mile. But besides relieving the Mission road of much traffic, the lower route, when completed, will have other advantages.

There are fewer curves, plenty of long straightaways and the quality of the road itself will be superior to the Mission road. It is doubtful if a better highway could be found in California than the paved stretch from Alameda to Warm Springs. From Alameda to Irvington, a distance of nine miles, the road runs as straight as an arrow without the slightest curve.

There is very little travel at present over the lower road because the unpaved stretch of seven miles is really in pretty bad shape, although at one place in the swampy lands below Mt. Eden, repairs have evidently been attempted for there is fresh gravel strewn along the road for nearly a mile.

GUARD DETROIT'S ROADS. Highways leading out of Detroit are guarded by troops of the Michigan state constabulary for the purpose of apprehending automobile thieves and recovering stolen motor cars.

'OLD LOWER' ROAD REPAIR CONTRACTED

Local motorists take a keen interest in the fact that the Board of Supervisors has awarded the contract for the construction of seven miles of highway on that portion of the "lower" road to San Jose that will remain unpaved.

This seven mile stretch extends from the junction of the Mt. Eden road and East Fourteenth street, through Mt. Eden and San Lorenzo to the Alameda township line. The paving of the road there assures the motorist of two completely paved highways to Warm Springs, and should go far toward relieving the congestion on the present route through Hayward, Niles and the Mission. The cost of this work amounts to $208,400.

Louis Pacheco, Oakland Jordan dealer, last week mapped the two roads for The TRIBUNE.

"Contrary to report," claims Pacheco, "this work will not shorten the distance to San Jose by seven miles. As a matter of fact, the difference in mileage over the two routes, from the point where they part at the Mt. Eden junction until they again convene at Warm Springs, is exactly six-tenths of a mile. But besides relieving the Mission road of much traffic, the lower route, when completed, will have other advantages.

There are fewer curves, plenty of long straightaways and the quality of the road itself will be superior to the Mission road. It is doubtful if a better highway could be found in California than the paved stretch from Alameda to Warm Springs. From Alameda to Irvington, a distance of nine miles, the road runs as straight as an arrow without the slightest curve.

There is very little travel at present over the lower road because the unpaved stretch of seven miles is really in pretty bad shape, although at one place in the swampy lands below Mt. Eden, repairs have evidently been attempted for there is fresh gravel strewn along the road for nearly a mile.

GUARD DETROIT'S ROADS. Highways leading out of Detroit are guarded by troops of the Michigan state constabulary for the purpose of apprehending automobile thieves and recovering stolen motor cars.

NASH COMPANY PLANS EXTENSIONS

Demand for products of The Nash Motors Company is reflected in additions to the plant at Kenosha, Wis., during the past year. It is in this factory that the six-cylinder cars and trucks are built, the new plant in Milwaukee, now under construction being planned for the exclusive production of the Four.

In addition to new buildings that have been added to the Kenosha plant in the past twelve months, thousands of dollars worth of additional machinery also has been installed.

ies and in the growth of the automobile industry, the Pacific Coast will be especially benefited on account of its magnificent system of highways and all year around touring climate. The automobile has done almost as much to develop the country as have the railroads. During my short stay here, I was certainly surprised to see the tremendous development in motor truck and automobile stage transportation since my visit a year ago. California certainly is at the top in the matter of efficient transportation and without a doubt many other states will model their systems after those in use here."

Sturdiness

Apply it to everything from radiator to tail-light. Buick sturdiness is accomplished not by excessive weight, but by a careful selection of materials, plus excellent engineering design. The complete car is so well balanced that motor and road vibration is brought to a minimum—this decreases depreciation and increases one's comfort. Buick's scheduled production of 150,000 cars—sixes exclusively—for the 1920 season is the best evidence in the world that Buick power—economy and sturdiness are proven facts.

Pound for pound the steels in a MAXWELL equal those in any car tendency in cars today is to reduce weight, to cut out unnecessary pounds, to take those extra burdens off the power of an engine.

In a Maxwell there is hardly a superfluous pound. Like a great cross country runner, it carries no handicap in weight.

It is made of fine steels, and these steels have that magic combination that metallurgists strive for—light weight and extra strength.

These steels are made to order for Maxwell. They are treated in great furnaces, and they are strong beyond belief. Pound for pound, they equal the steels in any car built. But they more than repay for their high cost. They wear. They stand terrific abuse. They defy time. But their greatest task is to lighten the burden of the Maxwell engine, enable it to perform brilliantly, and make gasoline deliver extended mileage.

Thus you will understand that rise of Maxwell the world over, that ever growing friendship, that ever increasing demand.

Today nearly 400,000 in use. In 1920, 100,000 more. Still this will fill but 60% of the world's requirements for this remarkable car.

ACCESSORY SHOW OPENS ON TUESDAY

With the opening of the first annual Pacific Coast Automotive Equipment Exposition next Tuesday at the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco the West will have its initial opportunity to glimpse the extent of the automotive accessory business in America.

The show should bring together more than 5000 dealers and jobbers from all parts of the coast and at the same time attract motorists who are intent upon keeping abreast of developments in the industry.

Latest outputs from Eastern factories will be on display. The installation of the exhibits is nearing completion and everything will be in readiness for inspection when the doors open, according to Manager Bryan. The show will close April 4.

From an artistic standpoint the exposition will be noteworthy its decorative scheme representing a large expenditure. The scenic background, constructed under the direction of Henry Vovinkel will depict a California outdoor scene of warmth and beauty. Lights of many colors will be shed from a mammoth structure suspended from the center of the dome in the main show room and from huge floral baskets erected from the floor.

Chief among the attractions will be a "model garage." This exhibit alone is planned to cover 7500 square feet of show space. It will be constructed in the Larkin street wing of the auditorium and will occupy the entire hall.

Everything in the shape of modern equipment will be installed in the garage. Only the most improved and modern materials and accessories will be used. The equipment is being passed upon by a special committee composed of F. R. Quigley, director of exhibits; Robert H. Marland, secretary of the California Automobile Trade Association; and representatives of the leading California jobbers.

The exhibit will have all the appearance of a substantial garage building, with display windows, tire changing conveniences repair facilities and a machine shop. A full force of mechanics will be on hand to keep the garage in operation. Ten automobiles will be used to give the exhibit the appearance of reality. These cars will be employed to demonstrate storage facilities, repair work and tire upkeep.

Under the direction of George Parker, tire expert, a fully equipped tire repair and vulcanizing plant will be placed in operation. Motorists will be instructed in the best methods of obtaining tire economy. A large corps of assistants will carry on the demonstrations.

Although the exposition is the first of its nature to be produced on the Pacific Coast it is heralded as an event of national importance.

GOOD TIRES CALLED FOR IN RACING

Interest in a big automobile race naturally centers around the high-powered cars and their drivers. But there is another important factor in keeping it in front as a sport and as a means of further developing the automobile. This is the tire equipment. Without good, dependable tires there could be no automobile racing.

It is obvious that to withstand the severe exactions of the race track tires must have in their composition the best of materials and workmanship. When automobile racing was young, tires were quite short-lived. In fact, in the early days, the trouble was the hags of the racing driver's existence. But all this is changed now. Tires can be expected to render good service on the race track as well as in regular automobile use.

At first, automobile races were necessarily short because of the uncertain tire performance. But tire engineers profited from experience and after much experimenting gradually increased the resisting power of tires at high speeds.

QUALITY OF RACING TIRES. A question often asked in the grandstand is, "Are racing tires any different from regular tires?" The public is well informed that racing cars are constructed especially for racing, and that stock cars cannot be expected to make anything like the same speed as racing cars—in fact, are not wanted by any reasonable motorist to attain any such speeds. So it is but natural that this question be asked about tires.

As far as materials and construction are concerned, the cord tires used in racing are no different from those used on passenger cars. There are, of course, some points of variance, owing to the terrific speed which they must withstand on the speedways, but never encounter in ordinary use.

The main point of difference is the tread. Tires suitable for use on a board track are constructed with a thinner tread than regular automobile tires wear. On account of the terrific centrifugal force attained by a tire going at a speed of 100 miles an hour, the thick tread on a regular automobile tire would work loose from the carcass and be thrown from it. So racing tires for board tracks have thin treads. And here a difficult problem has been worked out. This has been to devise a tread, not so thick as to render the tire too "lively" and yet thick enough to give satisfactory wear.

AUTO COMPANY BUILDS HOMES NEAR FACTORY

The development of an independent community adjacent to its plant has been started by the Lafayette Motors Company which is located at Mars Hill, four and one-half miles from the center of Indianapolis. The Lafayette Homes Building Company has been incorporated with a capitalization of $1,000,000, and has started work upon the construction of 200 modern homes to assist in housing the skilled labor required in the production of the new Lafayette car.

THICKER TREADS NEEDED. On a board track, the track thicker treads are used, for their surfaces grind off the tread rubber faster than a board track does. In fact, some of the tires used in the last Indianapolis race were regular automobile tires.

To take care of the tire needs of the racing drivers, the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company of California, a very efficient team of tire experts who see that all tire requirements are supplied on the two western tracks, located at Los Angeles and Tucson. Cord tires are used in racing more extensively than any other make of tire, and for four years every important race run in this country has been won on them. They now hold all automobile speed records from one to six hundred miles. A few days before each race the Goodyear men ascertain the tire needs of the racers and obtain from them the tire wheels upon which to mount their tires.

EXPERTS ATTEND AFFAIRS. Long before the starting hour the proper tire equipment is on the cars and enough spares mounted to take care of any emergency needs during the race. Many of the racable men pay scarcely any attention to their tire needs, leaving all these matters to the tire men.

The business end of these racing activities involves an ample supply of tires and tubes and the collection of the account, as all tires are sold to the drivers, and not given away.

In the big race which marked the dedication of the new Los Angeles speedway on February 23, where new speed records were set up for the Pacific coast, three cars finished the entire 250 miles without changing any of the Goodyear tires with which they were equipped, and the car of Jimmy Murphy, who won the race, completed 200 laps of the 1 1/4 mile track for a distance of 250 miles without a single stop.

REMOVING VALVE STEMS. Valve stem guides are best removed by driving them out from the top, using a hard wood block or a piece of soft metal, avoiding possible injury to the guide.

GOODYEAR BLIMP AT AERO SHOW

That the friends of aviation in the West are measuring up fully to the opportunities presented to make a direct appeal to the people, is indicated in the announcement of the First Aeronautical Show of the Pacific Coast, to be held in the auditorium at San Francisco, April 21 to 23.

Encouraged by the unprecedented interest in the Aero Shows held recently in Chicago and New York, they have secured official sanction for the San Francisco show from the Merchants and Manufacturers Association under whose auspices the eastern shows were made. Held in a section of the country where aviation is free from many of the climatic disadvantages of the east, the western show should rank favorably in interest and attendance with the two exhibitions that for several years have been recognized in the east.

At the recent Chicago and New York shows the Goodyear "Pony Blimp" was one of the sensations. This is a small dirigible designed for pleasure flying—a sort of roadster of the air, or "Rabout." It is but 32 feet long, has accommodations for two passengers and under favorable conditions will attain a speed of 40 miles an hour. The propulsive force is a 40-horsepower motor. The pony blimp's advantage lies in its inexpensive and easy operation. The Goodyear Tire & Rubber company of California, at Los Angeles, is announcing that this pony blimp will constitute a part of the Goodyear exhibit at the San Francisco show.

Rubber Tube to Mend Break in Fuel Line

A break in the fuel line may be temporarily mended by a number of simple expedients. A bit of rubber tubing slipped over the broken section will do the trick. Other possible emergency repairs may be made with a raw potato, a cork, a generous application of soap or shellacked cloth and spools.

Two Great Chandlers Right Out In Front

HERE are two Chandler Six models which the big and constantly expanding Chandler factory production has never been able to build in volume that could supply the demand of discriminating motor car purchasers. They are the Chandler Six Touring Car and Dispatch Car, the former a big, handsome, roomy, comfortable, real seven-passenger car; and the latter a trim, smaller car, suggestive in its appearance of all the good things of outdoor life. The Dispatch Car has a touch of snappy style in its clean lines, and is strikingly finished in the beautiful Chandler Rainbow Blue. It seats four persons in restful comfort.

Both the Chandler Six Touring and Dispatch Cars are mounted on the same standard Chandler chassis, developed, through seven years of manufacture, to a surpassing point of excellence and famous for its really marvelous motor. AUTO AGENT ANNOUNCES SELECTION

Close upon the heels of the announcement last week of Charles Griffiths, Pacific coast distributor of the American Balanced Six, that he had acquired the distribution of the new Ferris car in Northern California, Nevada and the Hawaiian Islands, came the statement that Roger Marran had been appointed manager of the Griffiths interests.

Marran is very well known in automobile circles on both sides of the bay. With the reputation of being a shrewd business ability, he has had a wealth of experience in the automobile industry that should prove invaluable in his new berth.

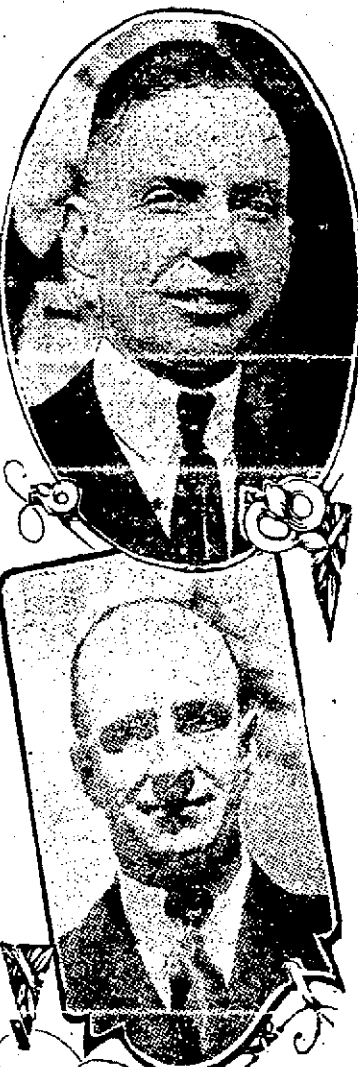

Marran began his automobile career over fourteen years ago with the Pierce-Arrow factory and has been identified with distributors and dealers of high grade motor cars ever since. During the last three years he has built up a wide friendship with Marran owners, being associated with Al G. Faulkner, Marran distributor in California, and still more recently as sales manager for the A. W. Rawling company in Oakland.

With the strides made by Griffiths in handling the American Six on the coast, and the still further expansion of his business with the acquisition of the new Ferris car, he found it necessary to devote a great deal more of his time to the increasing dealer organization. This, of course, meant prolonged absences from Oakland headquarters and the need of some one to take charge of his affairs.

After carefully looking over the field of "possibles" Griffiths finally chose Marran. Evidently matters were agreeable to the latter, for Griffiths were quick to draw up and Marran is now acting in his official capacity as manager of the Charles Griffiths company.

Griffiths is a strong Oakland booster, and with the exception of the Scripps-Booth company of California is the only automobile distributor making Oakland a distributing point. Because of its ideal shipping facilities and central location, he contends that a few years hence will find this city the hub of the automobile business on the Pacific coast.

DRIVING LINE WOULD SAVE ROAD SPILLS

There is a movement on foot in many parts of the country to have a line drawn down the middle of highways so that drivers will be able to more easily keep the right side of the road and so prevent automobile accidents.

There has been considerable discussion of late and many road engineers of the country and safety experts agree that this "driving line" is soon to become a necessity—at least, on those roads that are heavily traveled.

"I notice that in traveling over the roads of the State that it is easier to keep to the right of the road when a line is drawn down the middle of the highway," according to Ben Hammond, head of the Franklin Motor Car Company.

Here is the story as told by a well-known engineer, and it sounds good to the motoring enthusiast.

Each driver by keeping his eye on this line can tell (a) that he is keeping on his own side of the road and (b) that the machine approaching is doing the same.

While accidents would be fewer, if an accident did occur, the blame could be easily placed.

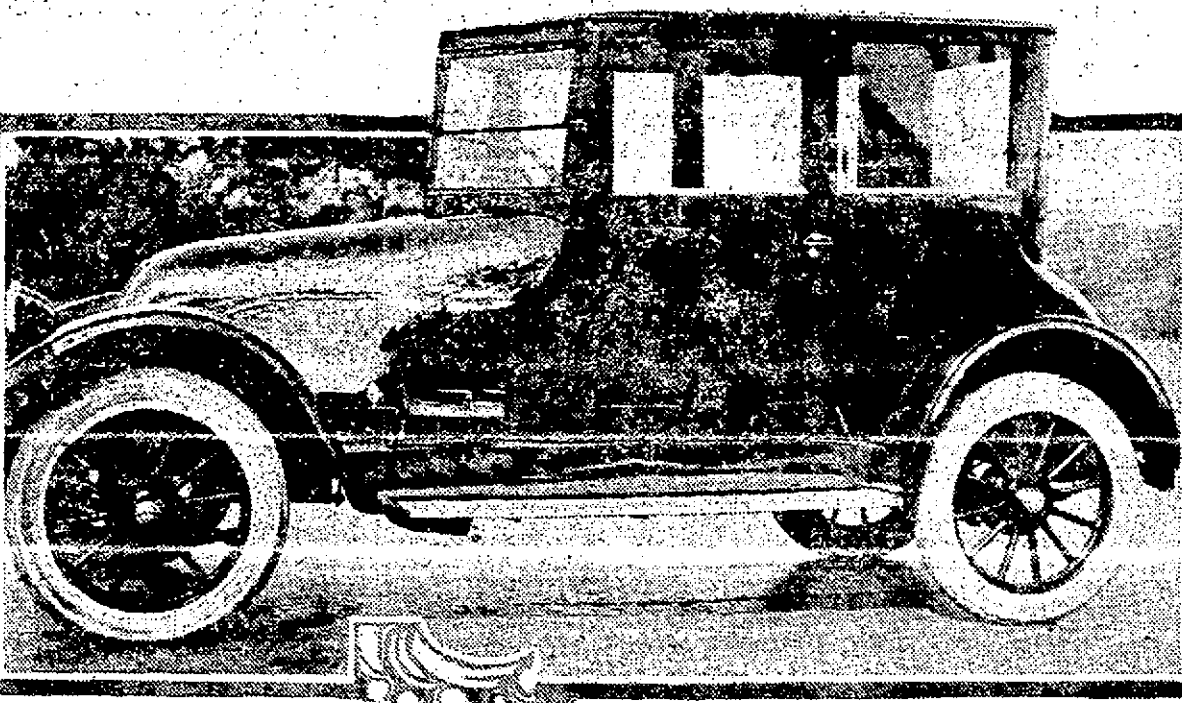

It would inspire confidence in both drivers of approaching machines, since each would know his own road and be sure of room for passing.

The above reasons obtain whether machines are passing in the same or opposite directions.

As it is now, in determining one's position he is forced to attempt the impossible, that of keeping his eye on the right side of the road and approaching machine at the same time. Oftentimes it is impossible to see the edge of the road, particularly if it is a concrete road. It may be covered with earth or it may be rendered of such a color by the rain that it cannot be seen. This is all the more difficult in night driving.

With the growing popularity of motor vehicles, street car fares have been increased in 460 cities throughout the country.

WE HAVE HERE THE LATEST FRANKLIN BROUGHAM, RECEIVED IN OAKLAND A few days ago by the Franklin Motor Car Company. One noticeable feature is the extremely wide single door. Several other interesting changes have been added.

OLD AUTO WITH TRAILER IN TEST

Tackling a trip of 6000 miles in a car of the 1915 series, with ten people riding and a trailer weighing 2000 pounds behind, would make many motorists hesitate, but John McKay, a New York contractor, never flinched. He had driven this car for several years and knew what it was capable of, so he loaded his family and a bunch of his household goods and started for the Pacific coast.

The car is a Chalmers which has traveled many a mile in the year it has been in service, all over the country.

The minimum wage for male employees in the largest rubber tire company in Akron, O., is $6 a day.

Shifting Cam Shaft Will Produce Knock

A camshaft moving endwise will produce a knock similar to a light connecting rod knock. As the engine speed is increased the camshaft is held in one position by the additional power required to drive it and the knock usually ceases. The camshaft gear plate may be removed and pressure exerted on the end of the shaft, holding it back against the front flange of the camshaft bearing, thereby determining if end play is producing the knock.

No less than seventeen different American makes of motor vehicles are seen throughout South Africa.

Best Packing for Water Pump Glands

The best packing for use in the water pump glands is either wicking, lead and graphite or waterproof asbestos. If asbestos, loose twisted rope packing is used, soak thoroughly in cylinder oil and cover with fine flake graphite and coil the packing around the shaft in the direction of rotation of the gland nut when tightening it. If packing is too large squeeze it in a vise, cut to size with sharp or heavy scissors. The gland nuts should not be tightened more than necessary to prevent leakage of the water. This should be done without the aid of a wrench.

CANADA SECOND AS MANUFACTURER

Canada is now the second nation in the world in the manufacture of automobiles, the number of cars owned and the number of owned per capita. The United States first and Great Britain third.

Figures taken from a government report show that the automotive industry in Canada employs 15,000 workers and represents an investment of $50,000,000. The total sales of cars last year amounted to $100,000,000 and the pay roll exceeded $15,000,000. During 1919, 94,000 automobiles were manufactured in Canada, and it is believed this total will be increased 35 per cent in 1920. Latest registration records show that about 550,000 motor vehicles are in operation throughout the dominion. One in every twenty-three persons in Canada owns a motor car.

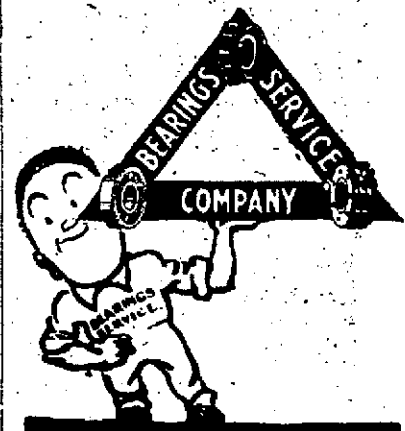

S. F. Automobile Man Receives Promotion

T. A. Lane, well known in automobile circles, has been appointed sales manager for the Pacific Knight Motor Sales company. Lane entered the automobile business in 1907 with the E. R. Thomas Motor Car company of Buffalo. Later in 1908 he became associated with the Packard factory of Detroit until August 1919, when he came to San Francisco for the Packard company.

Deficient Intake Will Cause Backfire

A barking or slight popping back through the carburetor may usually be accepted as a sign of inefficient intake valve tappet clearance. When the intake does not close the burning charge escapes through the valve and ignites the incoming charge in the manifold. Loss of compression causes loss of power and the gas blown back deranges the carburetion momentarily.

GASOLINE MAY ADVANCE. With the advance of from 4 to 9 cents a gallon before the end of summer, it is predicted that gasoline may go to 40 cents by the end of 1920.

This is the trademark of the nation-wide service organization for Timken, Hyatt and New Departure bearings. It signifies genuine, new bearings—official service.

ENGINEERS CUT COSTS FOR AUTOS

The motor car builders are fighting the battles for the motorists. With gasoline and tires having advanced, the engineers at the factories are using all their ingenuity to offset this motorizing increase by making fuel and casings travel further. At the Buick factory, for instance, a large experimental force is at work all the time under the direction of experts testing out fuels. More than two years ago these engineers solved the starting troubles by installing a "choking" device which operates on the flash with such efficiency that one turn of the motor usually is sufficient to start even on the coldest mornings.

But the experts are going further in determining just what happens inside the cylinders at the instant of explosion. Several devices have been arranged so that the flash may be followed through its various stages. These experimenters can determine by the color of the flame whether the explosion is "clean" or partly a "fozzle."

The popular belief is that gasoline explodes like dynamite, in one shot. But this, the motor experts declare, is erroneous. The gasoline mixture burns more like black powder, the sudden expansion of heat giving the power. The less pockets or side spaces there are, the more heat energy is exerted on the head of the piston.

"That is why the Buick valve-in-head motor has been so powerful," explains R. F. Thompson, general manager of the Howard Automobile Company. "The explosion chamber has no side pockets to allow an escape of power from the head of the piston. It is the same principle as a gun. All of the force of the powder is directly behind the bullet. It is a tribute to the Buick designers that they could see twenty years ago the correctness of this valve-in-head principle. The adherence to this basic construction has had much to do with the leadership of the Buick today."

Nationwide Tour Is to Test Auto Truck

To be tested by sixty-five different cities, the first nationwide tour ever inaugurated to make history for motor trucks and modern means of transportation will start May 17 and last five days. The campaign is to demonstrate the economy, speed and efficiency of shipping by truck.

CONGESTION PROBLEM OF ALL CITIES

Traffic congestion in business districts is not peculiar to our big cities of the west. The great cities of the world are struggling with the problem. Some have already solved it to a great extent by the elimination of street cars from one or more of the main thoroughfares and the substitution of modern motor busses.

Advice just received from the east by Watt L. Moreland, manager of the Moreland Motor Truck company, tell of the organization of a big movement backed by the Broadway association and some of the largest, nationally known business houses in New York to bring about this removal and substitution on Broadway, New York.

Eighty per cent of the membership of the Broadway association, voting on a referendum pertaining to this matter, favored "the removal of the street car tracks and the substitution of a modern bus system." In consequence a special fund has been raised to secure special counsel to handle the legal and legislative procedure and to hire a force to secure and prepare data to assist in conducting a vigorous campaign to bring this plan about.

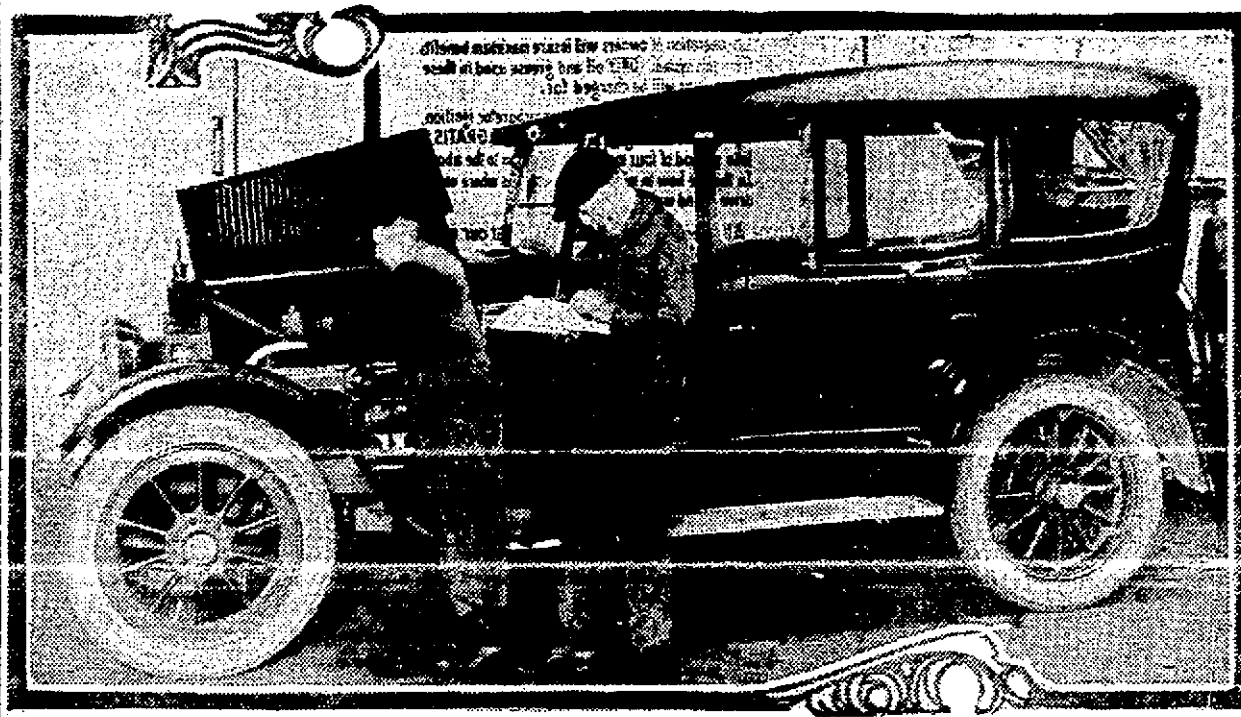

SITUATION ON BROADWAY
Broadway, in its narrower districts, is 34 feet wide. The street car lines occupy seventeen feet of this space, measured from the extreme outside of cars.

While Broadway is the only street on Manhattan island running from its lower end to Kingsbridge, a distance of about twenty miles, and therefore the logical through highway for automobile traffic, it is not so used because of the congestion caused by the street cars and tracks. Motor traffic has, therefore, been using Fifth avenue with the result that that street has to carry a traffic greater than any other in the world. If conditions on Broadway can be improved as desired, much of the traffic now on Fifth avenue will be diverted to Broadway, and traffic conditions on both streets greatly improved.

In a statement issued by the managing director of the Broadway association, he says: "Nearly all cities in the United States and on the continent refuse to allow street car tracks to be laid on their finest streets."

American cities accommodate under car because it is not confined to the sidewalk, it also would cover, sixty passengers and can be rails and stops at the curb, and successfully operated on Broadway, while it prevents many accidents by move uninterrupted in the lanes. It is more mobile than the street following the passengers to alight directly on the sidewalk, it also would permit all other vehicular traffic to move uninterrupted in the lanes now provided.

CAUSE OF FAN SLIPPING.
Slipping of the fan belt may be caused by several things. The belt may be oily, greasy or too loose; the fan may be tight on its bearings, possibly from lack of lubrication, or the pulley may be loose on the shaft.
In the district of Glasgow, Scotland, there is a registration of 1,200 motor vehicles.

United States Royal Cords' Three Important Points

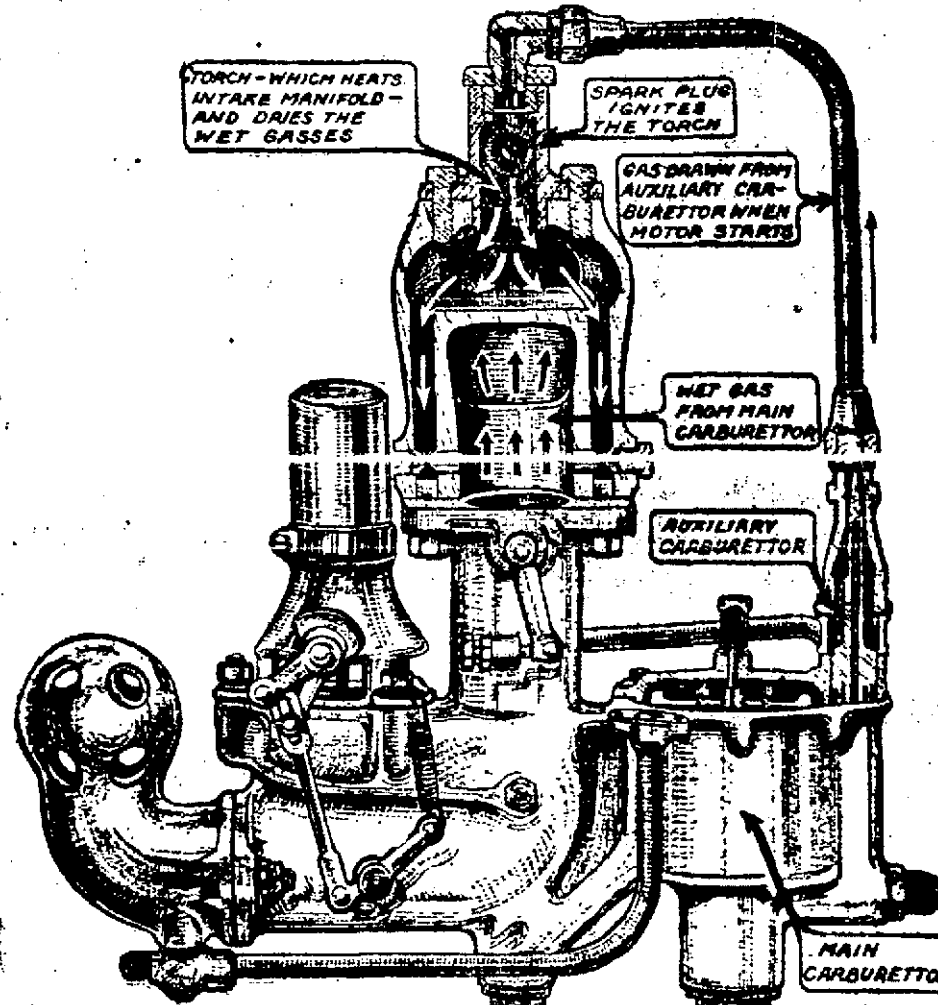

1. If you want service and real value for your money, buy your tires at Arbuthnot's tire shop. You can always get them here because we have them shipped to us, direct from the factory.
2. People who drive expensive cars don't want tire trouble. Therefore we recommend United States Royal cord tires. Not only for the extra mileage you get from the original tread, but you have the greatest tire on the market for retreading. Our retreads are just as good as they look and it takes an expert tire man to tell them from new tires.
3. Now on the other hand, if you use fabric tires in small sizes, we have the greatest value in Alameda county, as long as they last, and can save you a lot of money on your next tire purchase. We also make liberal allowances on your old casings for new ones.

The Announcement of a Motor Miracle Now the PACKARD FUELIZER Finally Solves the Low-Grade Fuel Problem

THE PACKARD FUELIZER marks the greatest advance in motor design since the introduction of the TWIN-SIX. It is the only new idea that has been applied to automobile motors for the past ten years.

WHAT IT IS

It is an integral part of the motor—not an extra attachment.

The fuelizer heats the mixture from the carburetor so that the fuel enters the cylinders as an absolutely dry gas rather than a mixture of air and liquid particles of gasoline.

HOW IT WORKS

This is accomplished by a small automatic torch (drawing fuel from an auxiliary carburetor), which heats a chamber around the carburetor manifold.

The torch is automatically ignited and heat is generated as soon as the motor starts to revolve and continues until it is automatically cut out at higher engine speeds when it is not needed.

WHAT IT DOES

WITH the Packard fuelizer it is practical to operate a car all the year round, in any climate, with the summer adjustment of the carburetor. Full efficiency of the fuel and an absolutely dry gas is obtained in less than sixty seconds after starting.

Even in our California climate, with the constantly lowering gravity of the gasoline, a large amount of raw fuel passes the piston rings and washes out the oil in the cylinders, filling the crank case and oil reservoir with raw fuel and diluting the lubricating oil. This, in time, causes undue wear to bearings, pistons and cylinder walls.

WITH THE FUELIZER THIS IS ABSOLUTELY STOPPED.

Passage of raw fuel into the crank case and the consequent dilution of the lubrication oil is prevented. This increases the life of the motor and reduces the repair costs.

Spark plugs never foul and the deposit of carbon is slight. There is an increase of oil mileage and fuel mileage.

Ten Minutes with this Elegant New Chalmers Tells You the Story

YOU find it starts at once; that it is running with amazing sweetness in a few seconds. You note no vibration. You call for speed and you get results. You tone it down and you detect a willing and perfect servant obeying every wish.

Ten minutes gives you a recast opinion on motor cars. Your admiration for a Chalmers deepens. You search for the cause and you find it in Hot Spot and Ram's-horn. You may or may not know that "gas" is worse this year than last, that it is becoming heavier and heavier and harder and harder to "burn."

Few engines have met this serious condition. The great Chalmers engine has. It takes the low grade "gas," throws it against the Hot Spot, which vaporizes the "gas" into a "cloud," and makes it "fine for fuel."

Ram's-horn, minus sharp corners and abrupt bends, rushes it to the cylinders at a velocity of 100 miles an hour.

Thus the cylinders get a fuel that they can "burn," can "digest," instead of "lumpy" or "rainy" kind of "gas."

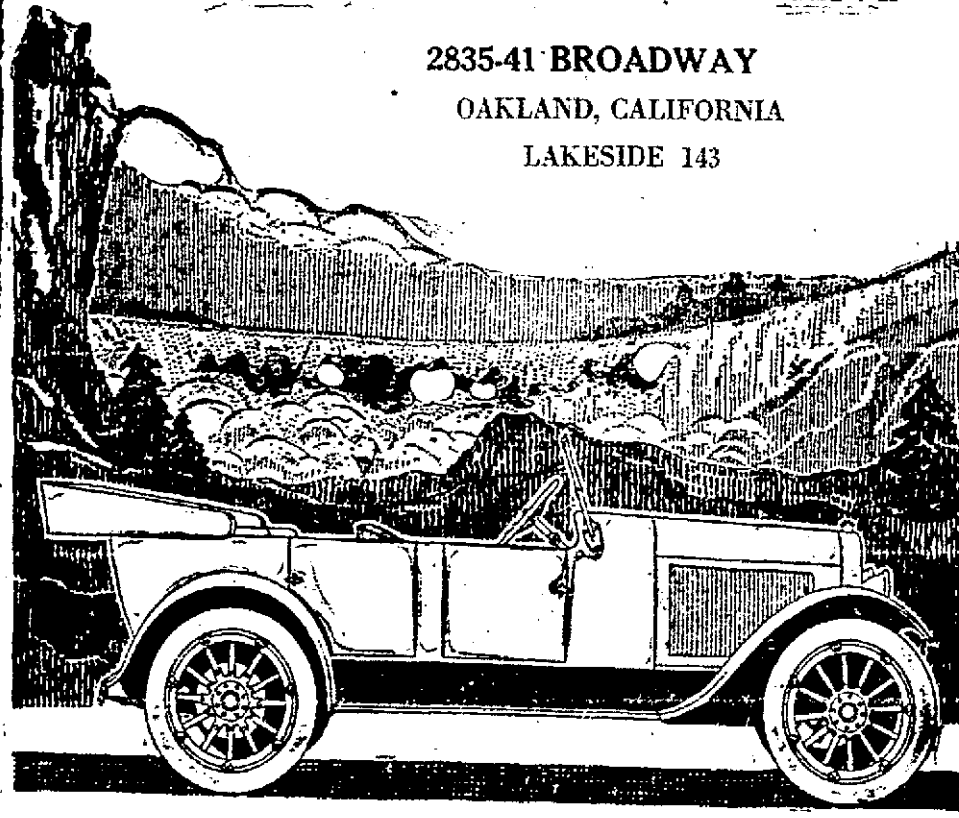

Not only can you note results in a distinguished smoothness of action, but in your repair bills.

For Hot Spot and Ram's-horn provide against thinned out lubrication and consequent burned bearings, scored cylinders, frequent fouling of spark plugs, and wasted "gas" through the exhaust.

Ten minutes will tell; and then you, too, will say Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

LATE RAINS BRING JOY TO NIMRODS

Next Thursday, April the first, the trout season opens in California and the late rains have brought joy to the angler's heart, and many of those who own automobiles will seek their favorite streams and cast their flies and bait for the succulent trout.

The following streams are accessible for the motorist, and their conditions are as follows:

Peacock creek, in the bayshore has plenty of water and the last report is that the water is clear and quite a run of small steelheads have come in.

La Honda creek, as usual, is low at this time of the season, but always is depended on for a nice string the first few weeks of the season.

Marsh creek, back of Diablo, is very low at present and but few fish have been noticed.

Niles creek is about right now and there is a number of trout to be seen in these waters.

Toiyoma and Sonoma creeks are in splendid condition and there should be some nice catches made there on the opening days.

Pedernis creek will, as usual, be the angling spot of many as this creek can always be depended on for a good day's sport at the time of the season.

For those who will take a longer journey, the Red river will well repay them for their time and trouble.

The Navarro, which is one of our choicest streams at all times, can be reached through Booneville.

The San Lorenzo stream is deep and there seems to be lots of fish there, though they run rather small.

The train will have to be the mode of conveyance to the Red river, but that river at Eelden and Camp Rodgers will be good fishing.

If the roads are passable to Branscombe in Mendocino county, there will be a good sport to be had at Wilderness Lodge as W. J. Kieffer writes that that part of the Red river is fairly alive with large fish.

DRIVER CONVERT TO CLOSED AUTO

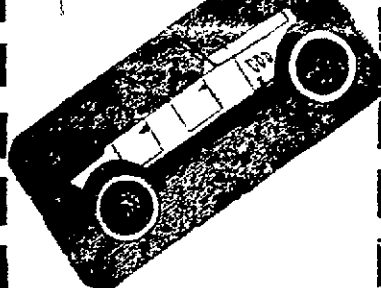

Even the most confirmed fresh air type of motorist can be converted from a crank on touring cars to an enthusiast for closed cars. This fact is proven in the case of Charles Burman, Alameda county agent for Oakland Sensible Six cars, veteran racing pilot and endurance contest driver. For years, that is up to about 1917, Burman couldn't preach about the good qualities of any type car except the touring model. Then he bought a Cadillac, so called in those days. He drove it many miles, liked it fine, then switched once more to the old-time style of driving—open car, top and windshield down—sort of "pneumonia special."

Came a second conversion, dating back only a week ago, when, for lack of the open-face five passenger make he was forced to sit behind the wheel of an Oakland Sedan. He motored some hundred miles or more, one of those days when a seat in front of the fireplace is found more inviting. But in the trip he had his "show case" entirely protected from the discomforts of the winds and before checking in on the homeward trip he switched his motoring affections once more, this time he declares for keeps, to the Sedan, or Coupe, or Landaulet, or any design save that of the ordinarily accepted "touring" type.

Blow Torch Can Be Used For Soldering

An ordinary blow torch equipped with a burner end tipped with copper can be used very nicely for soldering. The point is easily maintained at the proper heat. The end of the burner should be threaded on the outside and a hole is drilled in the copper tip and correspondingly threaded. Small holes are drilled in the copper in the same way to make openings for the flame to come through.

"OH, BOY! WILL APRIL FIRST EVER GET HERE?" THAT'S A WAIL EVERY TROUT snarer in California is shouting. The far off stream with its limits of trout will be the mecca Thursday of thousands of motorists. The scenes below were posed for The TRIBUNE by a party of Cleveland Six motorists and show how many motor car owners will indulge in the sport on opening day.

Advertising Protects Auto Buyer Many Claims Must Be Supported

The average car owner takes it for granted that national advertising on the part of a large manufacturer is designed primarily to sell his goods. In part he is correct in this assumption, but there is another phase of national advertising which probably does not occur to the mind of the American motorist. In buying a nationally advertised product the customer is protected by this advertising because the public is familiar with the name under which the product is marketed. If the product does not stand up in the service of the customer this familiarity is far from being an invitation to buy the goods, but is a warning not to buy them.

The national advertiser spends thousands of dollars yearly in reminding the public that his goods are for sale. He realizes only too well that his product must live up to his advertising in every respect or he cannot afford to cut the quality of his goods. His trademark is too valuable to jeopardize in this way. He realizes that advertising is a two-edged sword which when used properly and backed up by quality products will carve out for him a large volume of business.

Gasoline May Thin Oil in Crankcase

If the oil in the crankcase is found to be exceptionally thin or light in body it may be that the mixture is too rich, the excess gasoline being forced down past the piston rings and into the crankcase, where it mixes with the oil, destroying its lubricating qualities. Incidentally it washes the oil off the cylinder walls. This is most likely to happen when the engine is started when the temperature is low. The oil level should be carefully watched, as a great enough quantity of gasoline may leak into the crankcase to more than offset the amount of oil used by the engine. The fluidity of the oil should be determined to learn its condition.

RATTLES USUALLY TELL AGE OF CAR

Rattles, squeaks and creaks are usually taken as an indication of age in a car. Another thing that some people judge by is the way the engine starts and the way the headlights show up.

"If you want to make your car stay young," claims Ernest E. Petter, Willard service station manager, "it's up to you to keep bolts tight, machinery well oiled and your battery in first-class condition. Regular care will not only keep the machine in condition to give you good service, but will make it command a higher selling price."

Best Method For Scraping in Bearings

In scraping in bearings the first consideration is the proper mesh of the timing gears. The front bearing controls the position of the crank shaft and its gear, consequently it should be fitted and scraped in first, the other and bearing lined up with it at the same time. Then the middle bearings are fitted in line.

Reorganization of Sales Force Found Necessary

FOUR EXECUTIVES OF the Hall Motor Car Co., a fast-growing Oakland motor car concern.

When the Eastbay dealership in the Patterson Six was taken by the Hall Motor Car Co., a reorganization of its forces was necessitated by the consequent changes and the enlargement of its plans. In pursuance of the policy of conducting the business decided on by the members of the firm, R. E. Hall, who formerly had charge both of the repair shop and the service department, has assumed the management of the sales department while retaining the superintendency of service.

The shop has been placed in charge of Carl Herskind, who entered upon the discharge of his new duties last Monday. Until that time and for several months previously he had been in charge of new car service for the H. O. Harrison company, having been employed in the repair shop of the same company for about two years prior to taking charge of such branch of its work.

Under this reorganization K. P. Orth becomes financial man of the concern and G. M. Flint is made floor man.

No motion is so expressive of Premier's wonderful smoothness of travel as the grace and ease of winged flight.

Premier's aluminum motor is a marvel of unfettered power—miles travel beneath you with uncanny ease—they fairly melt away. No sense of fatigue overcomes you as century marks of distance register on the speedometer dial.

MILES OF SMILES

The JORDAN Silhouette

IN obtaining perfect balance the Jordan reached the pinnacle of motor desirability.

That sense of full and unlimited power so noticeable in a Jordan is due as much to balance as to its dependable power unit. All of the comfort in riding, much of the beauty of clean, snappy lines in design are the result of balance.

This depends on the length and quality of springs—the thorough distribution of weight—the correct arrangement of the steering apparatus.

Jordan bodies are hammock-swung between axles, with long springs—of chrome vanadium steel.

WAR CAUSES CHANGES IN MOTOR CARS

Individual commercial enterprise in Europe was lost sight of during the war. Development of very kind had to be determined by the relation it would bear to military necessity. The entire automotive industry was devoted solely to perfecting war transports. Not a car or truck was made for sale to a private consumer. Consequently, as pointed out by R. H. Morris, manager of the Mack-International Motor Truck Corporation, all energies, efforts and resources were devoted to the production of vehicles that would withstand the hard usage to which they would be subjected.

"The International Motor Company recently obtained specifications of the leading motor trucks that are to be put on the market in 1920," said Morris. "The dominant features in the construction of English, French and Italian trucks of three-ton capacity and over is the use of the chain as the final drive. Experience gained during the war undoubtedly is responsible for European producers favoring the chain drive to such a marked degree.

"In England, the following makers have adopted the chain drive for domestic production: Albion, Caledon, Churchill, Clive, Cominer, Duffield, Hatter, Halford, Harrier, Lacre, Pagefield, Seabrook. Among Italian producers we find the Fiat, Isotta Fraschini using the chain drive for their trucks. In addition to these manufacturers who were in business before the war the Bugatti, another Italian truck that was distinctly a wartime product uses the same drive. The French builders who are doing the same thing are: Rochet-Schneider, Berliet, Biazet, Renault, Peugeot, Panhard, De Dion and Baracq. The Clement-Bayard, Lyon, Bollee and Dietrich, built for the war, also employed the chain as the final drive.

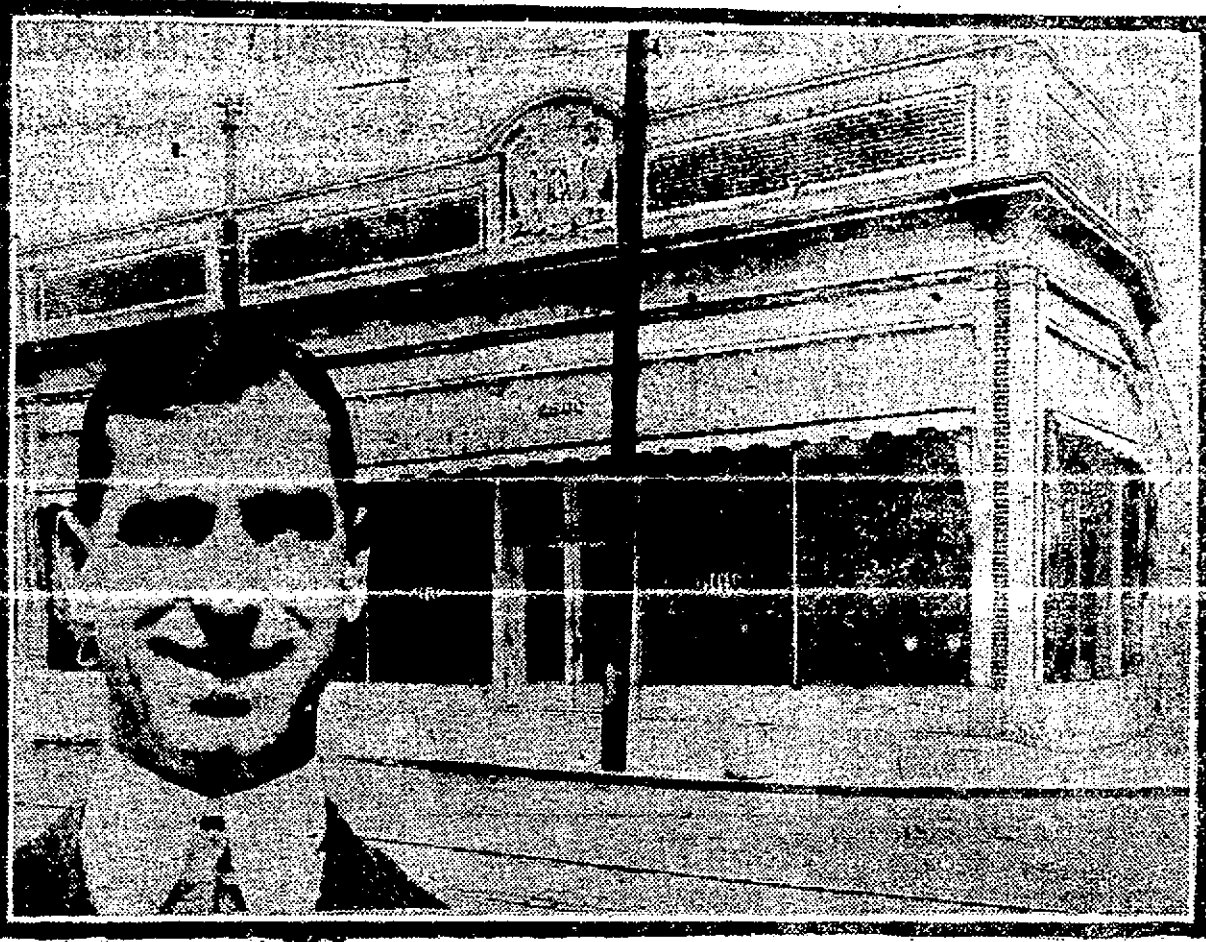

FUSSY TAXI DRIVERS. Taxi drivers in Rio de Janeiro take so much pride in their cars that it is not unusual to see them stop in the middle of prominent boulevards and polish the brass trimmings.

ord during the past year for a high standard of efficiency in every field of business, and have reduced the cost of transportation, and operation for the business man to its lowest figure.

Nearly 40 percent of the automobile tires manufactured are junked before they deliver the maximum mileage built into them.

In many of the prominent cities in Japan, all automobiles must be equipped with "splash fenders" on muddy days.

THE PIONEER MOTOR COMPANY'S HOME ON BROADWAY, WHERE PEERLESS CARS and Republic Trucks are now sold. The insert is of JOSEPH LEAHY, branch manager in the eastbay district for this big motor car firm.

POLISHING CARS NOT POPULAR SPORT IN RAIN

"Give me just a little continued sunshine," Felix Bickford asks, "and I will be the busiest automobile polisher in Northern California. Owners are beginning to find out about the merits of my Super Glass polish and the only element which can prevent me from having a regular sized crew at work will be that jinx—rainy weather. But I suppose that I shouldn't kick about a little rain falling. If old Jupiter wasn't good to the farmers, the farmers couldn't be good to the automobile dealer and if the man who sells cars wasn't doing it, nice business I wouldn't have so many cars to polish."

Which line of reasoning, from Felix, goes to show that you can't always please all of the people all of the time.

American motor cars, trucks and tractors will be included in the exposition to be held at San Juan, Porto Rico, in June.

The forty-eight States in the Union may nearly $100,000,000 annually for motor license fees and taxes.

The nightingale proper is not found in either of the Americas.

DRAYMEN MAKE MONEY WITH TRUCK

"It is only natural that economy should be the primary consideration in dealing with cash expenditures, and the motor truck produces savings of time, which means greater economy," remarks Frank O. Benstrom, Attorney-at-Law, distributor for California. He adds:

"Due consideration should be given to time saving in all branches of industry and especially by contractors, roadbuilders and companies in allied lines. It is true that in a general contracting business, speed of operation is the most important factor. Motorists must be kept down at the job on time and with complete regularity, if a contractor is to make a profit."

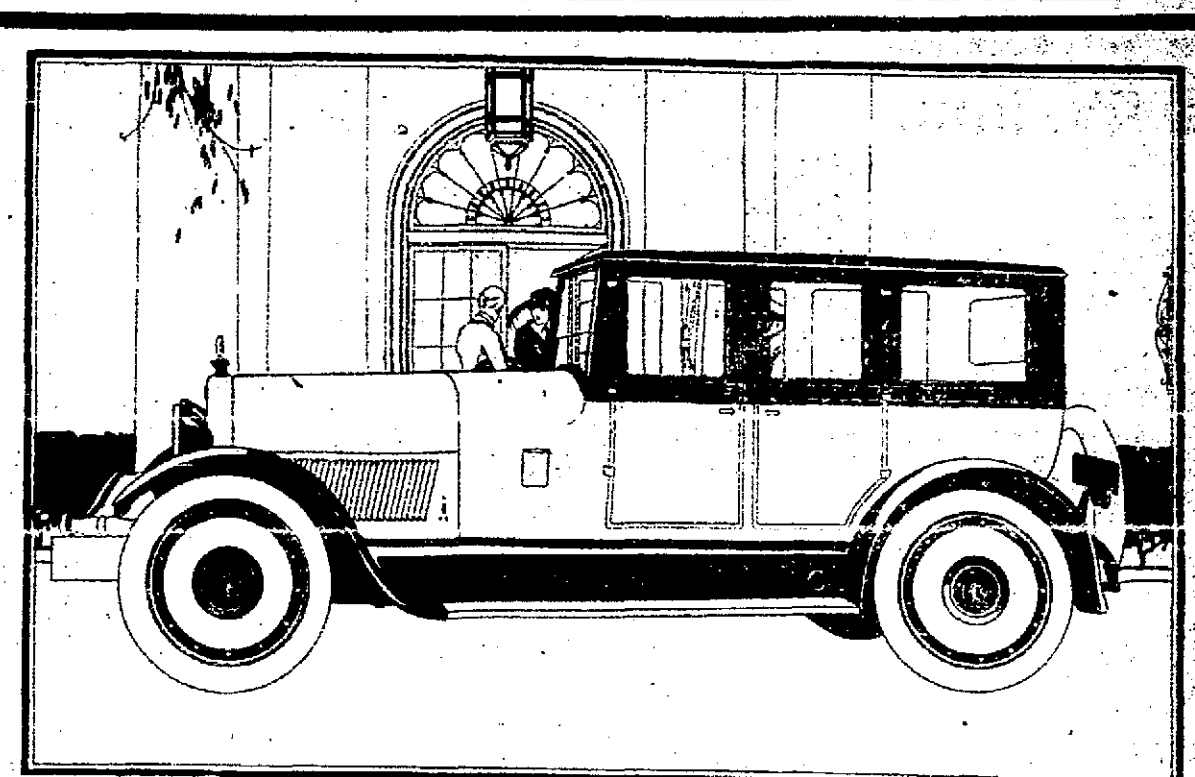

Motor trucks can take heavy loads rapidly from loading to unloading points and thereby keep several different jobs going at the same time. They can also in the course of a day fill in at other tasks. This is impossible with teams, because of the slowness with which horses move under heavy loads.

The motor truck has proven itself the greatest time saver that the busy world has ever known, and each year finds additional uses for the trucks that help enhance their value to the business man. The necessity which has arisen for a means of relieving the present day railroad congestion, and for performing the required duties essential to the contracting field as well as even other lines of business has done more than anything else to emphasize the value and importance of the motor trucks. Motor trucks have set a real record.

courts have ruled that a pedestrian struck by a motor car can sue for the possession of the vehicle. Sales were made of nearly all of the 150 passenger cars displayed at the twelfth annual automobile show in Louisville, Ky.

Statistics show that two-thirds of the automobiles in the Dominion of Canada are owned in rural communities. There are nearly 20,000 public motor vehicles registered in New York City.

CLOSED CAR SOLUTION OF BABY RIDES

Time was when Mr. and Mrs. Myron T. Bracken of 5563 Taft avenue, Oakland, were perfectly contented with an open car. In fact they had successively owned eight open models of different makes, including large, costly machines.

This, however, was before Friend Stone deposited on their doorstep a diminutive bit of humanity swaddled in a crash towel, which immediately became a welcome addition to the family circle. He was christened Robert Oliver Bracken—that's the way the entry made seven and one-half months ago on a record page of the family Bible reads—but he is usually addressed as "Lord Robert" in recognition of the fact that he has become the household boss.

MOTHER TRANSLATES.
Mrs. Myron T. Bracken is no exception to the average run of mothers. She insists that "Lord Robert" in baby vernacular which, by faithful application, she has mastered perfectly, recently laid down the family law to her regarding motor cars, and that a free translation into the English idiom would be about as follows:

"Mother, up to this time you and father have had eight open cars. That was all right until I arrived. Now you must pursue an unselfish policy. You need to make tours to the Yosemite valley, Lake Tahoe, Los Angeles and other places, and now you have ceased touring because the wind is bad for my car. Henceforth, if you wish to go on this touring renewed—there's a little of it coming to me. It can't be done without a closed car."

That settled it—defying a dictum of "Lord Robert" would have been regarded as high treason by both Mama and Papa Bracken. So they sallied forth in search of a closed car that had plenty of speed and power, and was a thing of beauty. Posing the sales room of the P. K. Webster company they perceived the elegantly appointed Roamer sedan finished in Rolls-Royce blue, with black wire wheels, which was exhibited at the Oakland auto show, but which they had not previously seen because Papa Bracken had the "flu" during the show period.

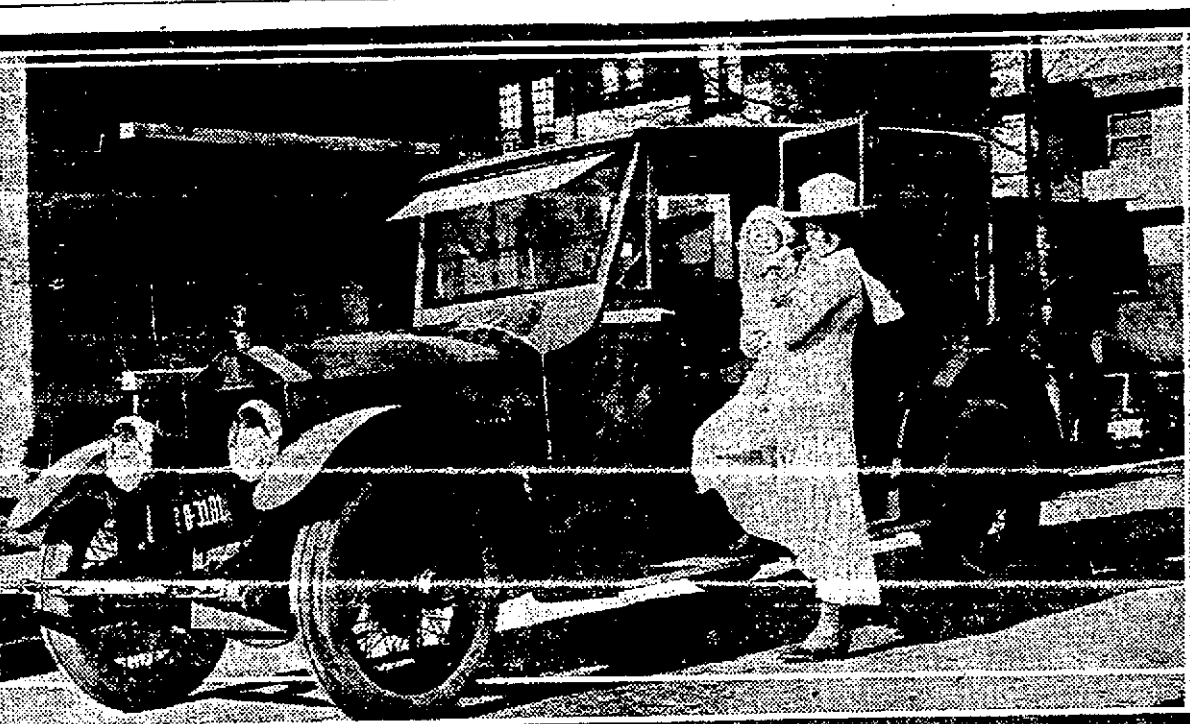

Next day Papa Bracken walked into the office of the P. K. Webster company and got busy with his check book. Now "Lord Robert" is in training with short rides in the Roamer sedan for the spring and summer touring to follow.

Only 12 Percent of Roads Are Surfaced

Despite the fact that the United States has 7,000,000 motor driven vehicles in operation—leading the world in this respect—motorists will be surprised to learn that but 12 per cent of roads in this country are surfaced. Out of an estimated total of 2,475,552 miles of public rural roads, only 299,115 are surfaced or improved.

GOLD HUNT IN AUTOS.
During the recent gold rush near Tucson, Ariz., several thousand men went piling into the mountains in all kinds of automobiles and staked claims that promise to yield rich gold ore.

WITH "LORD ROBERTS," THE SEVEN-MONTHS-OLD FAMILY DICTATOR, MRS. MYRON T. BRACKEN is here shown about to enter her Roamer sedan, the purchase of which, she asserts, was demanded by the juvenile boss she is holding in her arms.

CARS DELIVERED BY OWN POWER

Of late a great many reports have reached San Francisco regarding "drive-aways" from eastern automobile factories where cars are daily sent over roads covered with snow and slush, to distributors located many miles away. These stories have not been exaggerated in the least, according to T. J. Toner, director of sales for the Maxwell-Chalmers Motor Car Company, who was recently here on a business trip.

"There have been more deliveries made this winter in this manner than there were by far during the war and the chances are that deliveries will be made the same way next winter, unless there is a vast increase in the number of freight cars and locomotives that the railroads have on hand now," he said to Lou H. Rose, distributor of Chalmers cars in Northern California.

"Those who saw the finish on the new Chalmers sport type models exhibited at the New York, Chicago and San Francisco shows, commented upon its excellence. Yet this same class of car is driven through snow and rain and over the worst kind of roads, so anxious are distributors to secure them for delivery to purchasers. 'Drive-aways' now known were unheard of before the war and neither the distributor nor the purchaser would have considered receiving a car under such conditions."

Too High Compression Will Ignite Mixture

One of the favorite winter sports of the "hot" crowd is to tinkler with his engine, trying to increase its compression. It will be well for the enthusiast to remember that when the compression is placed too high the mixture will be ignited before the proper part of the cycle, due to the heat engendered by compression added to the heat absorbed from the metal parts.

FADS IN DESIGNS ARE SHORT LIVED

"A vital point for consideration in buying any new car is the second hand value," according to W. E. Stone, manager of the Welsh Motor Car company, local agents of the Columbia Six.

"Equally as important," declares Stone, "is the mechanical construction of the body design. If a car doesn't change its lines every year, naturally each model is distinct and the value of the preceding model is decreased more than they would be were the changes more conservative."

"All fads or whims, whether in clothes or cars, are short lived and the next year the fad buyer is quite disappointed to learn that what, when he bought it was popular, or at least tolerated, is now passe and has proportionately little second hand sale value."

"The designs each year can be beautiful, progressive and absolutely up to date without sacrificing a standard individuality. If you buy a car that has lived up to this standard, you will never overpay people for 'What is it?' but you will hear them name what it is. When anything is standardized its proportionate value increases, no matter how new or how old that article may be."

"Buy a car with a standard design, good mechanically, and you will get the most pleasure, satisfaction and value from all angles."

Many Things Cause Flooded Carburetor

Flooding of the carburetor is caused by several possible troubles. The needle valve may be held open or be leaking. Dirt may have collected on the seat of the valve, preventing its closing. Imperfect or worn needle valve or seat. Mechanism stuck. A too heavy or leaking float, which would sink too deep, holding the needle valve open. Level too high. Loose spray nozzle.

PRODUCTION OF CARS INCREASED

Increased production of Stutz cars begin on the first of the month, according to advices received from the factory by Latham, Davis & Company Inc., distributors.

The addition to the original plant which has been under construction for several months, have been completed with all the necessary machinery installed, and on the first of April the daily output will be doubled. This means that Stutz distributors throughout the United States may count upon the doubling of their regular allotment which will result in relieving the shortage situation that has been experienced for the last two years by the local representatives.

Harold Christensen, manager of Latham, Davis & Company Inc., in speaking of the report from the factory says: "Not only are the people who have been clamoring for Stutz cars going to receive them, but they are also going to get a better product, if such a thing is possible."

Japan Planning to Make Rubber Goods

That the establishment of the city of Los Angeles as a rubber manufacturing center, through the selection of that city as the seat of the factories of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of California, will not terminate the westward advance of rubber manufacturing, if the present plans of the Japanese government materialize, is the declaration of Rev. H. S. MacAyeen, a prominent minister of Akron, Ohio, who recently returned from a visit to the land of Nippon. He states that with an ample supply of crude rubber right at her door and the possibility of raising cotton within her own borders, Japan is anxious to become a factor in the world's production of rubber goods.

"SAVAGE" TIRES & TUBES

MADE BY THE HOUSE OF SPRECKELS

SAVAGE POLICIES

The unlimited resources of the House of Spreckels are back of The Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company, in its purpose to make for the motoring public reliable and dependable goods of proven merit. Not subject to the whims of stockholders, The Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company is able to adhere to the chosen policy of manufacturing products that are made to a standard and not to a price. The result in the final analysis is that the consumer pays less per mile for the performance given by these products.

An undertaking of this nature requires constant research for improvement—necessitating large expenditures of money, effort and time. Few companies are able to give these unsparingly. The Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company is not only able but does it with a result quite apparent in "Savage" Tire products. The methods employed, the selection of raw materials, the skill of the workmen, the constant search for flaws, all reflect the purpose behind the making and are important factors in the manufacture of products bearing the Spreckels "Savage" name.

SAVAGE PRODUCTS

A thorough study of the requirements of the present day motorist resulted in the making of a new departure in tire construction. That new departure is expressed in our D Type Tire. A big, sturdy, flexible, oversize, hand-built casing; made by improved methods, of the best grades of raw materials, and according to our own specifications as found necessary to meet the needs of the motorist of today; the "Savage" D Type Tire, because of its wonderful performance on the road, has been judged by many motorists the best fabric tire on the American market.

Regular "Savage" Tires are made to ordinary standards as far as size is concerned, though in quality they are second only to the "Savage" D Type. "Savage" Plain and Grip Tread types are made in all ordinary and many odd and unusual sizes. "Savage" Ribbed Treads are made in small popular sizes and the oversize 3 1/2 inch (375). The same careful attention is given to details affecting the building of these tires that is given to the "D" Type. Each "Savage" in its class is Built to Excel. "Savage" Grey or Graphite tubes make splendid road companions for any tire.

FUELIZER IS INVENTION OF MERIT

When the invention of the fuelizer was announced to a group of the leading engineers of the United States at a recent meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers it created a sensation, for hardly a man in the audience had not been faced with the difficulty of starting a cold motor with low grade fuel, and the fuelizer promised a solution of the vexing problem.

Col. Jesse G. Vincent, of the Packard factory, of which he is chief engineer and whose association with the design and development of the Liberty motor made his name famous, made the announcement.

With the price of gasoline going up it is a problem for many to get enough fuel and with the quality going down the other problem of making it burn efficiently in a cold motor is perhaps more perplexing. The fuelizer is to be simple. It is a piece of piping, a spark plug and a small enclosed gasoline torch. As soon as the motor begins to revolve under the impulse of the spark the fuelizer draws fuel into the chamber which surrounds the intake manifold and within a few seconds the wet vapor of gasoline and air is dried out into a gas which is ready for complete combustion as soon as it reaches the explosion chambers of the cylinders.

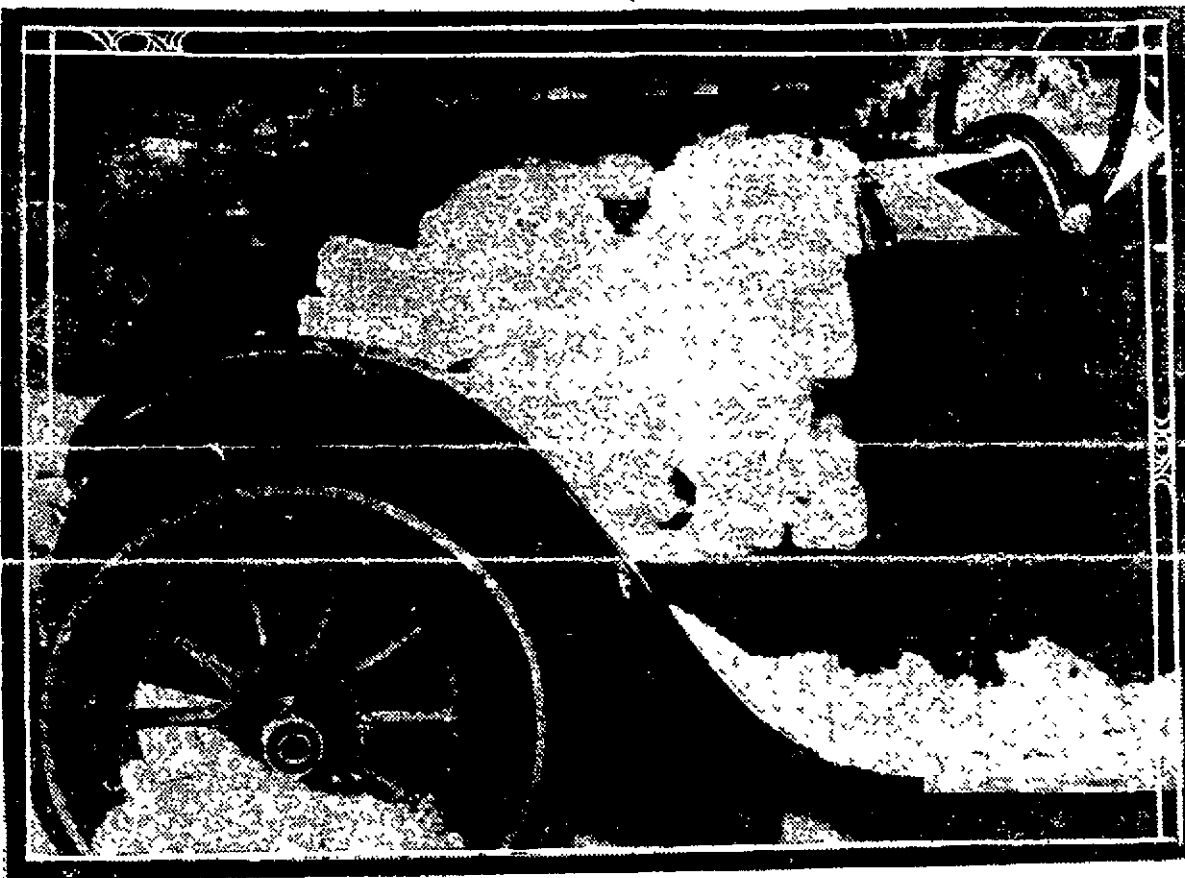

It is automatic in its action also and works only when the engine is not developing enough heat of itself to dry out the fuel and store as soon as it is no longer needed.

Its application to commercial aviation will doubtless make that type of transportation much more safe as it will overcome the danger that arises when an engine refuses to start again after planing down from high elevations. At such times the motor not equipped with a fuelizer, is very cold and the fuel will not properly vaporize much less become a combustible gas but all during those times the power is shut off from an aviation motor the fuelizer is maintaining a high temperature around the intake manifold so that the instant the throttle is opened the fuel is changed into a gas ready for instant ignition in the engine.

Tested under the severe conditions of a motor chilled with snow which completely smothered it the Twin-Six engine started instantly. Complete response to the accelerator was obtained in a few seconds where under such conditions it would be necessary to warm the motor up for several minutes if it had not been equipped with the fuelizer.

As the device is a Packard patent and the facilities for manufacture would be inadequate to supply all of the fuelizers that could be used to advantage, it will remain an exclusive feature of Packard cars for the next year at least.

A PACKARD TWIN SIX MOTOR, FITTED WITH A FUELIZER, WHICH WAS ENTIRELY covered with snow, in a test by Earle C. Anthony officials. The engine was started and the snow around the fuelizer immediately thawed.

ANYTHING YOU'D LIKE to know about rubber? Just ask the pretty girl in the picture—MISS MARIE ROUX, who holds a responsible position with Chanslor & Lyon's Oakland branch. She has charge of their entire stock of tires. Rubber holds no mystery to her as she checks in a shipment of Lee cords.

GIRL EXPERT ABREAST OF TIRE STOCK

"Hello!—Yes, we can give Mr. Jones' garage two dozen 32 X4 1/2 building tread this afternoon—the factory diverted a Seattle shipment Wednesday."

You would think, wouldn't you, that they were the words of an efficient in a tire concern—some man who had tire conditions right on his finger tips?

You might be right about the finger tips but you're wrong about the man—it's a lady—a very pretty young lady, too, who looks as if she had just stepped off a movie screen.

Permit us to introduce Miss Marie Roux, who has charge of the entire stock of tires at Chanslor & Lyon's Oakland branch. There are very few men who can tell Miss Roux anything about tires. She can give you all of the history on them from the time the rubber is tapped by the dark-skinned natives of some country in the Far East until the finished tire is handed to you over the counter, wrapped in manila paper.

Every tire that comes into the Chanslor & Lyon establishment and every tire that goes out figuratively speaking, passes through this unusual young lady's hands. She has complete charge of the tire stock and ordering for the big firm. She is a sort of tire expert and traffic manager combined, and according to Manager Frank Cary, conducts her department as efficiently as any man could.

Miss Roux has been with Chanslor & Lyon ever since they acquired the distribution of Lee Cord tires. All in all, she's a pretty, clever little girl. Don't you think?

TRUCK COMPANY'S PLANT COMPLETE

Coincident with the completion of its big new manufacturing plant at Barbank and its consequent expansion of production capacity, the Moreland Motor Truck Company has completed further plans to better care for the interests of the present and prospective owners of its trucks.

Arrangements have been completed for a long term lease on the property at the corner of South Main and Twenty-fourth streets in Los Angeles. This property has a frontage of 220 feet on South Main street and 165 feet on Twenty-fourth street. Upon this property is to be built a one-story building to house the city sales and service departments of the organization.

Pour Acid Slowly in Battery Solutions

The electrolyte or liquid which covers the plates of the storage battery is composed of twelve parts distilled water and one part sulphuric acid. In mixing the solution be careful to pour your acid into the water very slowly. Never pour the water into the acid, as this will cause explosion.

Shift Cross Links on Your Tire Chains

It is a good idea to shift the cross links of the tire chains occasionally. Move them so that they do not depend on the same link of the main chain all the time.

Use Washing Soda to Dissolve Scale

This is the time of year when it is well to remember the good old method of loosening scale that has formed in the cooling system. Six pounds of washing soda dissolved in five gallons of boiling water is the correct formula. Pour this solution in the cooling system and allow it to remain for a day, then drain and flush the system out with clean water and refill.

MANY AUTOS ARE SENT HONOLULU

Honolulu has already taken seven Stephens Salient Six cars as the result of the inspection of the offerings at the recent Pacific Auto Show, according to Frank McCorkle of Brasch & McCorkle. McCorkle announces that the Royal Hawaiian Garage, one of the largest automobile firms in the islands, with connections in all the isles, has taken over the agency and believes that it will only be a short time until the popular popularity of Stephens matches its stronghold in the States. Representatives of the Royal Hawaiian Garage saw the Stephens exhibit at the show and ordered four for immediate shipment. They had no sooner arrived, having been shipped fortunately on the first boat, than they were taken and another was cabled for three more. It is expected by McCorkle that there will be other rush orders by cable shortly.

TRUCK DOES WORK OF 16 GOOD HORSES

"Sixteen-to-one" is not being revived as a political slogan but it is being used to good effect in the San Joaquin valley to further motorized transportation. Its use came about through the purchase of a motor truck for use in hauling granite from the quarry to the shipping point.

State horses and five men were used by George Wood of Fresno on a granite haul. When he placed a five-ton Sandow truck on the job he had no idea of the extent of the economy to be effected. He would have been raised with a modern saving in addition to the increased efficiency he knew would be forthcoming.

FIVE MEN REPLACED
Imagine his surprise—and pleasure—when, as the motor truck pulled out, he saw the five men who had been working on the job dropped until sixteen horses and five men were replaced by the Sandow and its driver.

It is about thirteen miles from the granite quarry to the shipping plant. The route lies over rough country roads, with an occasional grade to test power and cooling efficiency. For five months now the Sandow has been averaging 55 miles a day over this route.

FULL LOAD CARRIED
Huge blocks of granite are quarried from this Fresno deposit. It doesn't take many blocks to pile up a tonnage, for it is rarely that the truck does not start for the railroad with more than capacity load. From four to eight tons are carried every trip, a striking tribute to the strength and power of the motor truck.

Fresno county, always a fertile field for automobile sales, is rapidly developing as a motor truck center, according to L. D. Allen, the Sandow distributor. The volume of sales shows a steady increase and prospects indicate that 1920 will be a banner year.

Ship by Truck

National Ship by Truck week will be May 17 to 22 inclusive. The principal cities the country over are making plans to tie up to this big celebration by holding truck demonstrations consisting of tours, parades, reliability runs and other events to draw the attention of the American public to the shipping of goods by motor truck.

Oakland truck dealers are not "behind" in this respect, having already made definite plans to hold a truck tour throughout Alameda and Contra Costa counties starting May 17, going through Hayward, Fremont, Niles, Mission San Jose, Fremont, Walnut Creek, Concord, Union City, Pittsburg, Martinez and Richmond and ending with a monster parade through the streets of Oakland. The tour name will be the "Eastbay Ship by Truck Tour" and it is expected that fully seventy-five trucks will participate.

The trip will cover five days, mass meetings and luncheons and demonstrations will be in order throughout the itinerary. Many forceful speakers will accompany the big trucks.

The train will consist of trucks of all classes from the small commercial delivery truck to the big trucks of two and one-half tons. Both solid and pneumatic tire equipment will be on the trucks. It is the purpose of the committee in charge to make the demonstration a big, broad universal tour to tie up with the demonstration going on all over the United States during Ship by Truck Week.

May 17 to 22 will practically mark the first year's anniversary of the Ship by Truck movement—how ship by truck in a year's time has made the story of an idea to make it a reality in the making by thousands of transportation experts and businessmen the country over.

Through the Ship by Truck slogan in this short time practically every community has come to appreciate the utility of the motor truck as a valuable factor in our present day system of transportation. The simple message—Ship by Truck—has had a telling effect. Thousands of shippers turn to the truck as a new agency in transportation. Truck operators have found new business coming their way and are prepared to handle it. Motor truck dealers are busy assisting in the closer co-operation between the truck user and the selling organization; and it has without a doubt done more than any other one thing to bring the shipping public to a realization of what motor truck transportation really means.

GLENN CURTISS LIKES DE LUXE
STYLE TOURING

Many motor camping outfits have been devised, but it is difficult to find one that embodies the features of genuine comfort, and even luxury, of the one used by Glenn H. Curtiss. The Curtiss inventive ingenuity which has done much for aviation, this time turned to land transportation.

When Mr. Curtiss tours he goes in a Cadillac. Behind the car his living quarters are mounted on a motor. The top of the Curtiss camp car is that of a coach, built on a chassis which the motor of outdoors can attach to an automobile and carry with it, anywhere he goes. This miniature Baltimore is easily hitched to an automobile and can be whisked along at a speed of fifty to sixty miles an hour without the owner being conscious of his added burden.

The "motor bungalow" is one of his friends calls it, is a compact vehicle with windows front and rear, doors on either side, strong, but light, construction of wood veneer. It is comfortable and weather-proof, and even in inclement weather furnishes a traveling home which is bound to be the envy of even the most comfortable of homes. It has a kitchen, a pantry, toilet facilities and lockers for clothes and bedding, electric lights, a running water system, seats, table and even carries a coal oil for use of the chauffeur.

COAST LEAGUE SEASON WILL OPEN WEEK FROM TUESDAY

LOCAL ANGLERS ARE READY TO LURE THE TROUT ON OPENING DAY—THURSDAY, APRIL FIRST

OAKS READY FOR THE FIRST GAME WITH LAST YEAR'S CHAMPS

Foreman Howard Will Chop Down the Squad Before End of the Present Week.

By EDDIE MURPHY

Just one week from today and the Oaks' training camp at Emeryville will be broken up by Manager Del Howard and the boys will beat it for the depot where they will board the Owl which will carry them to Los Angeles for the first game of the season, the following Tuesday. At the present time, the Oaks are a bit overstocked with players, but maybe by tonight the squad will be considerably cut down and only those who will make the trip south will be in camp the remainder of the week. Manager Howard has promised to do some more pruning to his Oak tree after the two games today with the Calgary club in the morning and the Mare Island Naval Reserve in the afternoon. For the past three weeks the Oaks have been in training at Emeryville, so Howard ought to have his mind pretty well fixed on who he will apply the pruning shears to tonight.

Double-Header at the Local Grounds

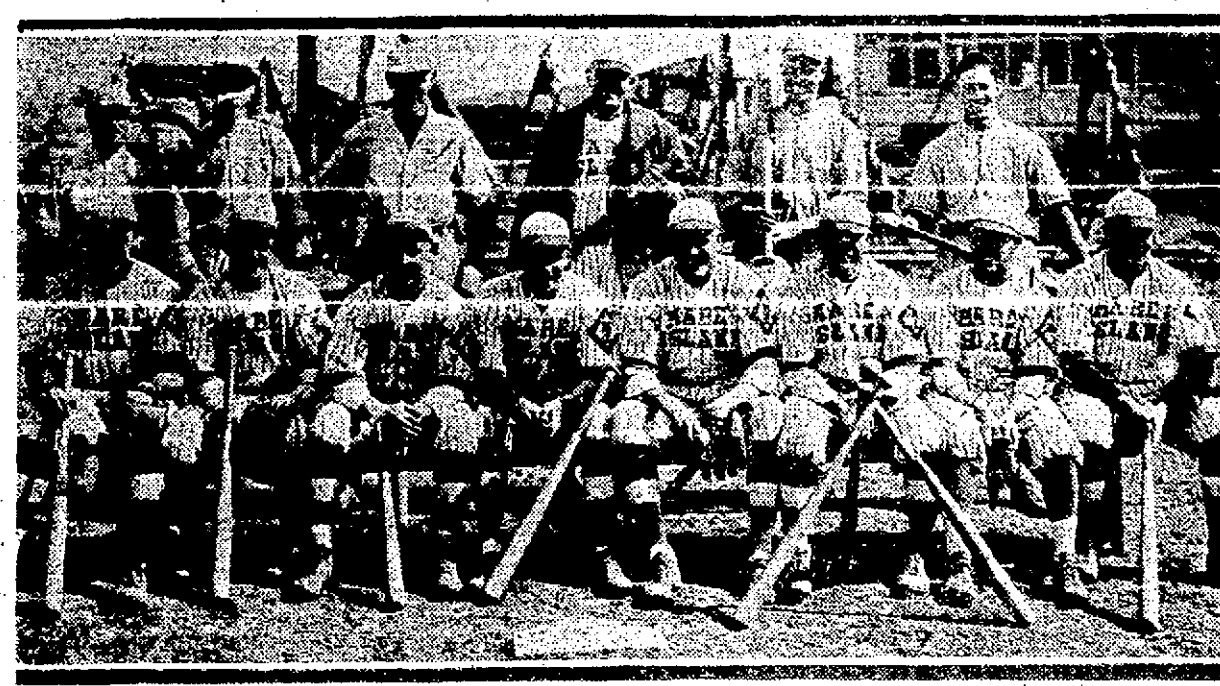

There figures to be a lot of action at the local park today with a double-header being played and all the players now in the Oakland camp fighting for their jobs. The morning game will start at 10 o'clock and will give the Oaks a real hard test, as Joe Devine promises to have a strong combination of pitchers and a few good hitters in the lineup.

When these two games are over, every player now in the Oakland camp will have to show his stuff in one of the two games. They will all be wondering who will be the pitcher of the day and who will be the star of the game. The race between Claude Mitchell and Henry Ginkard is still pretty open, and it would be no surprise to hear Howard say he will take both kids on the Los Angeles trip with him.

Louie Guisto Was Signed at Fourteen

When the New York club signed Louie Guisto several years ago and the Oaks signed him last year, he was only fifteen years of age, and the Oaks signed him last year, he was only fifteen years of age, and the Oaks signed him last year, he was only fifteen years of age.

Mare Island's Crack Baseball Team

The Naval Training Camp team, headed by Captain Ben Bartholow and the Cantonment band, will invade Oakland this afternoon for a game with the Oaks at the Emeryville lot. The Mare Islanders gave the Salt Lake club a hard battle. Rudy Schinkler will pitch for the sailors.

Oaks Put In Busy Day By Winning Two

The Oaks reaped double revenge at the local ball park yesterday afternoon by defeating the All-Army team of the Presidio in the first game of a double-header, by a 4 to 0 score, and then coming back and handling the Chamber of Commerce 9 to 5.

Both those teams defeated the Oakland Yankigans more than a week ago. The first game of the All-Army team never had a chance against the pitching of Pat Breen and George Ledyard. In the first inning, the first five innings and at times had the pitcher looking like a real fighter. He day and made a good impression. He gave the Oaks a real hard test, which is a good recommendation. A. Walker and Bud Ridley meet again in the fourth inning and there will be four other good scraps.

Mitchell Hits in Pinch

One of the best players of the Oakland team was picked from the Oakland high school team and played a number of games at short for the Oaks during their regular season. He was so small that he was nicknamed "Mittie".

When these two games are over, every player now in the Oakland camp will have to show his stuff in one of the two games. They will all be wondering who will be the pitcher of the day and who will be the star of the game. The race between Claude Mitchell and Henry Ginkard is still pretty open, and it would be no surprise to hear Howard say he will take both kids on the Los Angeles trip with him.

SPORTING GOULASH

opening day on the Feather river. Jack Fallon will cast a line over the Berkeley wharf.

The Mills College and U. C. girls displayed fine form in the aquatic regatta on the lake yesterday afternoon.

Manager Del Howard of the Oaks is beginning to talk to himself and is afraid some guy with a pen and ink will write him some day and chip, "Come on, Napoleon, Queen Elizabeth is waiting for you."

Six left-handers on the pitching staff is the reason.

Cal Ewing tried to talk to four left-handers one afternoon two weeks ago and Cal has been in bed ever since.

Can't imagine why Claude Cooper doesn't seem to be much work for a Cooper these days.

Had Ed Petrosky followed Captain Ben Bartholow's instructions the other evening, he would have been a pitcher for the Oaks.

Frankie Denny expects to make a startling announcement tomorrow. He is consulting his Ouija board today.

Bob Castro is going to spend the season opening next Thursday and if you are caught blame yourself. You're been warned.

Two Games for Bush Ball Fans At Local Lots

Lincoln park, Alameda, and the Key Route park, Emeryville, are the places where the bush baseball fans will congregate this afternoon. While the game at Alameda figures to draw a crowd, the one at Emeryville will not be lacking patrons.

As the boosters of the Moose team have been up on the ladder of success, which some have fellow will attempt to catch. The ball will be used to start the game, and the first of the season for the Moose. Manager "Shanty" Hale has signed a number of new players to his team, and the ball game between the Moose and Shastas to keep the fans away from Lincoln park, with teams such as C. L. CONDITIONS FAVORABLE IN MOST OF THE STREAMS

Fishermen Stocking Up on Gear; Record Number Will Be Forth After Finny Ones.

Local anglers are prepared to play a lot of April fool jokes on the trout family next Thursday when the season opens. Reports from every section are optimistic and the fishermen who annually fare forth after the finny ones are going to have better luck than usual. E. J. Kaplan, manager of Spiros, has scouted out all last week's conditions in the various streams, and he states that many limit baskets will be brought in on opening day.

From the last of trout fishing reported sold in the sporting goods stores there is going to be one grand exodus of anglers from the city to the mountains on the opening day.

Places where the waters are generally high and muddy from rains are reported low and clear and lots of fish can be seen which indicates that fishing will be good.

E. J. Kaplan and Milt Moore will journey to the Carmel river for the first day's fishing.

Doc Darling, Bob Burgess and Doc Moskman will spend Sunday on the San Lorenzo river.

Jack Woolley and Ralph Lee will spend the opening week at Beldeau on the Feather river.

Alf Woods, Bert Shaw and Will Rogers will make a try to get to Bucks Ranch.

Arthur Brett and Will Sears will fish the San Lorenzo river.

E. F. Sant and Joe Page will go to Tocaloma canyon.

J. A. Glick and party will fish the Eel river near Branscomb the first week.

Dr. Barber and Dr. Mohney are going out the first day but are keeping their destination secret.

Copy of telegram received from the Feather river. "Belden, Calif. Opening of season 'has better this year than it has for years. Water clear and lots of fish in creeks."

A late report from Wilderness Lodge on the Eel river states that the trout are in better shape than ever, as never before, and many more have been seen than in the past week.

Today's reports from the following streams—Clear and many fish can be seen.

San Lorenzo water in line shape for fishing and seem to be well stocked with fish size trout.

Little Suir—Water low and clear, should be good.

Big Suir—Plenty of water and clear.

Mad river—Lots of water and plenty of fish to be seen.

Marsh creek water low, does not look good for the opening.

Goodyear Solids Are Everything They Should Be, Says B. W. Ariss

"Some time ago we equipped one of our five-ton dump trucks with Goodyear Solid Tires, size 40x12, in the rear. These tires so far have run 14,700 miles and show very little wear.

"Now several of our fleet consisting of twelve five-ton trucks are equipped with these tires, all of which are doing excellent work.

"These tires have proved conclusively that they are everything they should be and we shall always be glad to say a good word for them.

ARISS CONTRACTING COMPANY."

Mr. Ariss finds Goodyear Solids to be extremely satisfactory on his 5-ton dump trucks.

One set of these 40x12 solids have run 14,700 miles under immense, heavy loads, and over the most gruelling road conditions.

But, even against these odds and after this long mileage the tires show no signs of premature wear.

You have probably noticed some of Mr. Ariss' trucks in positions similar or even more severe than the one above.

However, you have probably never realized the immense strain on the tires under these conditions.

These Goodyears have stood up because they are of the right size and type, which is one of the most important things about satisfactory truck tire service.

So, to insure this satisfactory service, the Service Stations below carefully analyze every truck before new equipment is applied.

By this method the Service Stations can accurately determine whether Goodyear Solids, Cushions or Pneumatics would be most economical on your truck. We are always glad to assist you on any truck tire problems.
